Everyone,

The district court just granted us a preliminary injunction in the federal contractor mandate case. I'm not sure why the court only ruled on the request for a preliminary injunction when the parties agreed to convert the preliminary injunction motion into a request for a permanent injunction. But a win is still a win. See attached.

The scope of the injunction appears to apply to all contractors in our respective states. Here's what it the court said: "Defendants are enjoined from enforcing the vaccine mandate for federal contractors and subcontractors in all covered contracts in Missouri, Nebraska, Alaska, Arkansas, Iowa, Montana, New Hampshire, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Wyoming."

Thanks to Michael Talent in Missouri for all his great work on this case.

Attached is the current draft of the supplement draft in the contractor mandate case. It is due today. We'd like to be ready to file in about four hours, around 3:00 Central, although we might delay that slightly depending on what DOJ does (since we have simultaneous filings). So if you could aim to send Michael and me any edits you have by 2:00 Central, that would be great.

Thanks to Michael for the excellent work he has done on this. You'll notice that the intro hasn't been written yet. We will be working on that while most all morning.

Do not click links or open attachments unless you know they are safe.  Matt and Jim, Let me preface this e-mail by saying that a response is not urgent. Mike Schwab of the North Dakota Pharmacists Association reached out to me about speaking at a convention that they are planning to hold in March. He'd like me to discuss Rutledge and Wehbi. Mike also mentioned that Wayne might participate. Because of my role on behalf of the State, I would not agree to participate without your approval and Mark's. And because of the pendency of the litigation, I would only speak factually about the case. I would not make any predictions about how Wehbi affects other statutes. Indeed, my approach, and Howard's, has always been to assume that our adversary is sitting in the room. As a result, we have been very careful about what we've said about Rutledge in the past. Mark and I spoke the other day, and he is comfortable with me giving a presentation along the lines I've just proposed. Howard and I wanted to make sure you agree before I accept any invitation from Mike. Howard and I are also happy to share in advance any PowerPoint presentation we prepare, so that you can vet it beforehand. Again, this is not urgent. When you have a few minutes, please let us know if you are comfortable with my participation at the conference. I will then get back to Mike. Finally, on behalf of Howard and myself, I wanted to express our appreciation for the opportunity to work with you and serve the people of North Dakota. This litigation has had its ups and downs, but we always have had steady support from your office and Mark's. We're grateful for the partnership we have been able to forge. Best wishes and Merry Christmas, Rob Robert T. He'd like me to discuss Rutledge and Wehbi. Mike also mentioned that Wayne might participate. Because of my role on behalf of the State, I would not agree to participate without your approval and Mark's. And because of the pendency of the litigation, I would only speak factually about the case. I would not make any predictions about how Wehbi affects other statutes. Indeed, my approach, and Howard's, has always been to assume that our adversary is sitting in the room. As a result, we have been very careful about what we've said about Rutledge in the past. Mark and I spoke the other day, and he is comfortable with me giving a presentation along the lines I've just proposed. Howard and I wanted to make sure you agree before I accept any invitation from Mike. Howard and I are also happy to share in advance any PowerPoint presentation we prepare, so that you can vet it beforehand. Again, this is not urgent. When you have a few minutes, please let us know if you are comfortable with my participation at the conference. I will then get back to Mike. Finally, on behalf of Howard and myself, I wanted to express our appreciation for the opportunity to work with you and serve the people of North Dakota. This litigation has had its ups and downs, but we always have had steady support from your office and Mark's. We're grateful for the partnership we have been able to forge. Best wishes and Merry Christmas. Rob Robert T. Hi all,

Attached is a slightly updated version of the Fifth Circuit amicus brief for the Nasdaq/SEC Quota Rule challenge. So far Alaska, Arkansas, and Montana have joined.

Basically, the brief makes two points that are probably pretty uncontroversial for this group: (1) explicit race- and sex-based quotas are bad and violate the Constitution and (2) SEC cannot use a highly generalized and circumscribed grant of authority to intrude upon an area traditionally regulated by state law and in service of an agenda of restructuring society in the agency's own social-justice-minded image (while violating the Constitution in the process).

We will be able to accept sign-ons until December 27 at 5pm Eastern. Please let us know if you have any questions or would like to discuss any of this.

Sincerely,
Drew

Hi all,

Attached is our draft amicus brief in support of the challenges to the SEC/Nasdaq Quota Rule. Please let us know any questions or suggestions that you have. Given the outrageousness of SEC's adoption of explicit race- and sex-based quotas for Nasdaq-listed companies, we are hopeful that we can have a broad coalition here.

For greater detail on the challenged rule, we are attaching the opening brief of one of the challengers as well.

We will be able to accept sign-ons until December 27 at 5pm Eastern.

Subject: Amicus Brief Supporting Challenge to NASDAQ Race- and Sex-Based Quotas

Dear Friends,

We wanted to let you know about a multi-state amicus brief we plan on circulating late this week or early next week. The amicus brief would support challenges to SEC approval of a NASDAQ proposed "diversity" requirement. That requirement (discussed in greater detail below) adopts one of the crudest and most odious tool available to the government: race- and sex-based quotas. All companies that fail to satisfy those quotas would be compelled to make statements explaining (i.e., apologizing for) their failure to do so.

Challenges to SEC's approval have been consolidated in the Fifth Circuit. One opening brief challenging the rule has already been filed (attached). Another will be filed on December 20, so our amicus brief will be due December 27.

Because of the holiday season, we wanted to give everyone a heads up that this brief will be coming. We will be able to accept sign-ons until December 27 at 2pm Eastern.

Please feel free to reach out to us with any questions or suggestions.

Sincerely,
Drew

Nasdaq Quota Requirement Overview:

On December 1, 2020, the Nasdaq proposed to adopt a series of rules related to corporate board "diversity." After taking comments, Nasdaq submitted an amended proposal to the SEC in February which had three main components, which apply to every Nasdaq-listed firm (minus some exceptions for small and foreign firms): (1) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who "self-identifies her gender as a woman;" (2) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who self-identifies as "Black or African American, Hispanic or Latinx, Asian, Native American or Alaska Native, Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander, or Two or More Races or Ethnicities" or as "LGBTQ+," which is defined as "lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender or as a member of the queer community;" and (3) to provide statistical information on directors' sex, race, and sexual orientation status. See Securities and Exchange Commission, Order Approving Proposed Rule Changes, as Modified by Amendments No. 1, 86 Fed. Reg. 44,424 (Aug. 6, 2021), <https://www.federalregister.gov/documents/2021/08/12/2021-17179/self-regulatory-organizations-the-nasdaq-stock-market-llc-order-approving-proposed-rule-changes-as>.

On August 6, 2021, the Securities and Exchange Commission – on a 3-2 party-line vote – approved Nasdaq's proposal without modification, finalizing these requirements as Nasdaq rules. In response to objections that this proposal violated the Constitution, the SEC adopted Nasdaq's argument that the rule was not subject to the Constitution because Nasdaq was not a state actor. <https://www.federalregister.gov/d/2021-17179/p-301>.

On August 10, 2021, the Alliance for Fair Board Recruitment (AFBR) filed a Petition for Review of the SEC's action in the Fifth Circuit. Additional petitioner National Center for Public Policy Research (NCPFR) filed in the Third Circuit, and was transferred to the Fifth Circuit on October 28, 2021.

Subject: Re: Amicus Brief Supporting Challenge to NASDAQ Race- and Sex-Based Quotas

Hi all,

Attached is a slightly updated version of the Fifth Circuit amicus brief for the Nasdaq/SEC Quota Rule challenge. So far Alaska, Arkansas, and Montana have joined.

Basically, the brief makes two points that are probably pretty uncontroversial for this group: (1) explicit race- and sex-based quotas are bad and violate the Constitution and (2) SEC cannot use a highly generalized and circumscribed grant of authority to intrude upon an area traditionally regulated by state law and in service of an agenda of restructuring society in the agency's own social-justice-minded image (while violating the Constitution in the process).

We will be able to accept sign-ons until December 27 at 5pm Eastern. Please let us know if you have any questions or would like to discuss any of this.

Sincerely,
Drew

Subject: Re: Amicus Brief Supporting Challenge to NASDAQ Race- and Sex-Based Quotas

Hi all,

Attached is our draft amicus brief in support of the challenges to the SEC/Nasdaq Quota Rule. Please let us know any questions or suggestions that you have. Given the outrageousness of SEC's adoption of explicit race- and sex-based quotas for Nasdaq-listed companies, we are hopeful that we can have a broad coalition here.

For greater detail on the challenged rule, we are attaching the opening brief of one of the challengers as well.

We will be able to accept sign-ons until December 27 at 5pm Eastern.

Sincerely,
Drew

Williams; Anthony.J.Galdieri@doj.nh.gov; John Coghlan; Holmes, Melinda R Subject: Amicus Brief Supporting Challenge to NASDAQ Race- and Sex-Based Quotas Dear Friends, We wanted to let you know about a multi-state amicus brief we plan on circulating late this week or early next week. The amicus brief would support challenges to SEC approval of a NASDAQ proposed "diversity" requirement. That requirement (discussed in greater detail below) adopts one of the crudest and most odious tool available to the government: race- and sex-based quotas. All companies that fail to satisfy those quotas would be compelled to make statements explaining (i.e., apologizing for) their failure to do so. Challenges to SEC's approval have been consolidated in the Fifth Circuit. One opening brief challenging the rule has already been filed (attached). Another will be filed on December 20, so our amicus brief will be due December 27. Because of the holiday season, we wanted to give everyone a heads up that this brief will be coming. We will be able to accept sign-ons until December 27 at 2pm Eastern. Please feel free to reach out to us with any questions or suggestions. Sincerely, Drew Nasdaq Quota Requirement Overview: On December 1, 2020, the Nasdaq proposed to adopt a series of rules related to corporate board "diversity." After taking comments, Nasdaq submitted an amended proposal to the SEC in February which had three main components, which apply to every Nasdaq-listed firm (minus some exceptions for small and foreign firms): (1) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who "self-identifies her gender as a woman;" (2) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who self-identifies as "Black or African American, Hispanic or Latinx, Asian, Native American or Alaska Native, Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander, or Two or More Races or Ethnicities" or as "LGBTQ+," which is defined as "lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender or as a member of the queer community;" and (3) to provide statistical information on directors' sex, race, and sexual orientation status. See Securities and Exchange Commission, Order Approving Proposed Rule Changes, as Modified by Amendments No. 1, 86 Fed. Reg. 44,424 (Aug. 6, 2021), https://www.federalregister.gov/documents/2021/08/12/2021-17179/self-regulatory-organizations-the-nasdaq-stock-market-llc-order-approving-proposed-rule-changes-as. On August 6, 2021, the Securities and Exchange Commission – on a 3-2 party-line vote – approved Nasdaq's proposal without modification, finalizing these requirements as Nasdaq rules. In response to objections that this proposal violated the Constitution, the SEC adopted Nasdaq's argument that the rule was not subject to the Constitution because Nasdaq was not a state actor. https://www.federalregister.gov/d/2021-17179/p-301. On August 10, 2021, the Alliance for Fair Board Recruitment (AFBR) filed a Petition for Review of the SEC's action in the Fifth Circuit. Additional petitioner National Center for Public Policy Research (NCPFR) filed in the Third Circuit, and was transferred to the Fifth Circuit on October 28, 2021. |

Thanks for the opportunity to weigh in, Matt. We were generally not familiar with this particular NASDAQ rule-making, apparently approved by the SEC this past summer, for improved racial and gender diversity on the corporate boards of listed companies. It does not appear to be an issue that has generated discussion among state securities regulators which is understandable, given the limited regulation we would have over stocks traded on the Exchanges.

We wouldn't take a position on whether the Commission exceeded its authority in this case.

Stay warm,
Mike

Mike,
I don't know if you are in the office this week, but I was just checking to see if you are familiar with this issue? And, whether your client has an opinion on the issue. Sorry for the short turn-around on brief.

Hi all,

Attached is a slightly updated version of the Fifth Circuit amicus brief for the Nasdaq/SEC Quota Rule challenge. So far Alaska, Arkansas, and Montana have joined.

Basically, the brief makes two points that are probably pretty uncontroversial for this group: (1) explicit race- and sex-based quotas are bad and violate the Constitution and (2) SEC cannot use a highly generalized and circumscribed grant of authority to intrude upon an area traditionally regulated by state law and in service of an agenda of restructuring society in the agency's own social-justice-minded image (while violating the Constitution in the process).

We will be able to accept sign-ons until December 27 at 5pm Eastern. Please let us know if you have any questions or would like to discuss any of this.

Sincerely,

Drew

After taking comments, Nasdaq submitted an amended proposal to the SEC in February which had three main components, which apply to every Nasdaq-listed firm (minus some exceptions for small and foreign firms): (1) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who "self-identifies her gender as a woman" (2) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who self-identifies as "Black or African American, Hispanic or Latinx, Asian, Native American or Alaska Native, Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander, or Two or More Races or Ethnicities" or as "LGBTQ+," which is defined as "lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender or as a member of the queer community;" and (3) to provide statistical information on directors' sex, race, and sexual orientation status. See Securities and Exchange Commission, Order Approving Proposed Rule Changes, as Modified by Amendments No. 1, 80 Fed. Reg. 44,424 (Aug. 6, 2021), https://www.federalregister.gov/documents/2021/08/12/2021-17129/self-regulatory-organization-the-nasdaq-stock-market-lc-order-approving-proposed-rule-changes-as. On August 6, 2021, the Securities and Exchange Commission – on a 3-2 party-line vote – approved Nasdaq's proposal without modification, finalizing these requirements as Nasdaq rules. In response to objections that this proposal violated the Constitution, the SEC adopted Nasdaq's argument that the rule was not subject to the Constitution because Nasdaq was not a state actor. https://www.federalregister.gov/documents/2021/08/12/2021-17129. On August 10, 2021, the Alliance for Fair Board Recruitment (AFBR) filed a Petition for Review of the SEC's action in the Fifth Circuit. Additional petitioner National Center for Public Policy Research (NCPFR) filed in the Third Circuit, and was transferred to the Fifth Circuit on October 28, 2021. |

Thanks for the opportunity to weigh in, Matt. We were generally not familiar with this particular NASDAQ rule-making, apparently approved by the SEC this past summer, for improved racial and gender diversity on the corporate boards of listed companies. It does not appear to be an issue that has generated discussion among state securities regulators which is understandable, given the limited regulation we would have over stocks traded on the Exchanges.

We wouldn't take a position on whether the Commission exceeded its authority in this case.

Stay warm,
Mike

Subject: Re: Amicus Brief Supporting Challenge to NASDAQ Race- and Sex-Based Quotas

Hi all,

Attached is our draft amicus brief in support of the challenges to the SEC/Nasdaq Quota Rule. Please let us

Given the outrageousness of SEC's adoption of explicit race- and sex-based quotas for Nasdaq-listed companies, we are hopeful that we can have a broad coalition here. For greater detail on the challenged rule, we are attaching the opening brief of one of the challengers as well. We will be able to accept sign-ons until December 27 at 5pm Eastern. Sincerely, Drew <hr/> From: Ensign, Drew Sent: Tuesday, December 14, 2021 7:42:49 AM To: Benjamin Flowers; Dewhurst, David; Chanay, Jeff; Murrell, Elizabeth; Maddox, Victor (KYOAG); Brasington, Charles E (LAW); Judd Stone; Joshua Richardson; Henry Whitaker; Bowdre, Barrett; Mills, Cori M (LAW); Alloway, Jessie M (LAW); Ditton, Nina R (LAW); Royden, Beau; Daniel Bell; James Percival; Jeffrey DeSousa; Drew Waldbeier; Ross Bergethore; jane.kirch@ag.sd.gov; tom.fisher@de.in.gov; Lave, Brant; Meredith, Chad (KYOAG); Kuhn, Matt F (KYOAG); St. John, Joseph; Whitney.Lipscomb@ago.ms.gov; Scott.Stewart@ago.ms.gov; Justin.Matheny@ago.ms.gov; John.Seuter@ago.mo.gov; Campbell, Jim; Daniel.E.Will@doj.nh.gov; Anthony.J.Galdieri@doj.nh.gov; wstenehjem@nd.gov; masagsve@nd.gov; Seibel, Troy; May Mailman; Mansinghani, Mithun; zach.west@ag.ok.gov; Smith, Emory; tkirkland@scag.gov; JCoch@sen.gov; ThomasWright@scag.gov; stevenc.hair@state.sd.us; Paul.Sorensen@state.sd.us; Sarah K. Williams; Anthony.J.Galdieri@doj.nh.gov; John Coghlan; Holmes, Melinda H Subject: Amicus Brief Supporting Challenge to NASDAQ Race- and Sex-Based Quotas Dear Friends, We wanted to let you know about a multi-state amicus brief we plan on circulating late this week or early next week. The amicus brief would support challenges to SEC approval of a NASDAQ proposed "diversity" requirement. That requirement (discussed in greater detail below) adopts one of the crudest and most odious tool available to the government: race- and sex-based quotas. All companies that fail to satisfy those quotas would be compelled to make statements explaining (i.e., apologizing for) their failure to do so. Challenges to SEC's approval have been consolidated in the Fifth Circuit. One opening brief challenging the rule has already been filed (attached). Another will be filed on December 20, so our amicus brief will be due December 27. Because of the holiday season, we wanted to give everyone a heads up that this brief will be coming. We will be able to accept sign-ons until December 27 at 2pm Eastern. Please feel free to reach out to us with any questions or suggestions. Sincerely, Drew Nasdaq Quota Requirement Overview: On December 1, 2020, the Nasdaq proposed to adopt a series of rules related to corporate board "diversity." After taking comments, Nasdaq submitted an amended proposal to the SEC in February which had three main components, which apply to every Nasdaq-listed firm (minus some exceptions for small and foreign firms): (1) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who "self-identifies her gender as a woman;" (2) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who self-identifies as "Black or African American, Hispanic or Latinx, Asian, Native American or Alaska Native, Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander, or Two or More Races or Ethnicities" or as "LGBTQ+," which is defined as "lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender or as a member of the queer community;" and (3) to provide statistical information on directors' sex, race, and sexual orientation status. See Securities and Exchange Commission, Order Approving Proposed Rule Changes, as Modified by Amendments No. 1, 80 Fed. Reg. 44,424 (Aug. 6, 2021), https://www.federalregister.gov/documents/2021/08/12/2021-17129/self-regulatory-organization-the-nasdaq-stock-market-lc-order-approving-proposed-rule-changes-as. On August 6, 2021, the Securities and Exchange Commission – on a 3-2 party-line vote – approved Nasdaq's proposal without modification, finalizing these requirements as Nasdaq rules. In response to objections that this proposal violated the Constitution, the SEC adopted Nasdaq's argument that the rule was not subject to the Constitution because Nasdaq was not a state actor. https://www.federalregister.gov/documents/2021/08/12/2021-17129. On August 10, 2021, the Alliance for Fair Board Recruitment (AFBR) filed a Petition for Review of the SEC's action in the Fifth Circuit. Additional petitioner National Center for Public Policy Research (NCPFR) filed in the Third Circuit, and was transferred to the Fifth Circuit on October 28, 2021. |

Do not click links or open attachments unless you know they are safe.   To: Civil Amicus Contacts From: District of Columbia SG Office The District of Columbia is preparing an amicus brief supporting respondent-appellant North Carolina in Quad Graphics, Inc. v. North Carolina Department of Revenue, No. 407-A-21, in the North Carolina Supreme Court. The relevant question presented is whether the dormant Commerce Clause bars states from asserting and collecting sales taxes on transactions originating from out-of-state and delivered to in-state consumers. We expect the North Carolina AG to argue that Dilworth formalism—which allows use taxes, but not sales taxes on such transactions—is no longer good law. States have a critical interest in protecting their sovereign authority to fairly tax interstate commerce and to preserve the gains they received from the Supreme Court's decision in South Dakota v. Wayfair, 138 S. Ct. 2080 (2018). The District's brief will therefore make two related arguments: First, the brief will argue that reaffirming Dilworth formalism would be inconsistent with the Supreme Court's decision in Wayfair and would reintroduce many of the policy concerns that animated the Court's abrogation of the physical-presence rule. Second, the brief will highlight the particular concerns raised by the lower court's decision in states with destination-based sourcing schemes. The District and at least 39 states have tax-sourcing statutes that identify the location of the "sale" as the place where the goods are delivered. Allowing courts to override such statutes and conclude that there is no transactional nexus absent physical purchase within the taxing state would undermine states' sovereign taxing authority and contradict the fundamental principle that "the modes adopted [by the States] to enforce the taxes levied should be interfered with as little as possible." Dows v. City of Chicago, 78 U.S. 108, 110 (1871). As we craft and refine the brief, it would be helpful to know the following by January 7 (if you happen to have responsive information): <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Does your state have a destination-based sourcing scheme? If so, a citation to the specific provision of the state tax code would be ideal. 2. In the wake of Wayfair: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Is your state assessing and collecting sales taxes on out-of-state companies that deliver goods to in-state consumers? 2. Has your state faced Dilworth-based challenges such as the one at issue here? Please contact caroline.vanzile@dc.gov and norah.rast@dc.gov with your responses. We will circulate a draft brief on or around January 14, in advance of the January 21 join deadline. Many thanks in advance for your help. With appreciation, Caroline S. | Body | Wayne, I want to let you know that the Department of Commerce possesses certain confidential records that are relevant to a lawsuit filed against the Department of Health ("DOH"). Commerce takes the position that the records are confidential, and DOH will need to service Commerce with a subpoena for the records. Therefore, DOH will be serving Commerce with a subpoena for the records. I do not recall that we have had to do this before, so I just want to make sure you are aware of what is happening. Matt |

| Body | I can provide more details tomorrow, but we may use them in a deposition, a dispositive motion, or at trial, to rebut and contradict discovery responses made by Keystone. Long story short, the Department terminated its contract with Keystone Testing, in part because Keystone never provided insurance coverage for errors and omissions. This was a requirement of the contract. Keystone claims in its discovery responses that it was "self-insured", and such self-insurance was adequate for purposes of the contract. We disagree of course, and have solid legal support for our position. Keystone answered in its discovery responses, in relation to its position that it was self-insured, that it could sell/liquidate its equipment in North Dakota to pay for any claim for errors and omissions. One record disclosed by Keystone shows that Commerce made a $300,000 loan to Keystone for equipment to be used in North Dakota. We have verified the existence of this loan with Commerce. The document also indicates that Commerce had a first lien on the equipment purchased with Commerce funds. Based upon these documents, it is my opinion that Keystone's answers regarding the use of the equipment for self-insurance are not accurate. Hi everyone—

DOJ moved to stay in our case in Arizona as well. The judge denied the motion. Attached is our response brief, in case it might be of use to any of you. Also attached is the minute entry denying the motion, in case you want to file as a Notice of Supplemental Authority to show an example of a stay being denied in a contractor mandate case.

James

Friends,

Judge Baker just issued a nationwide injunction in our federal contractor mandate case. We're still reviewing, but wanted to make you aware. Also, I'm adding Georgia's new SG, Stephen Petruny, to this chain.

Best,
 Drew

Hi everyone—

DOJ moved to stay in our case in Arizona as well. The judge denied the motion. Attached is our response brief, in case it might be of use to any of you. Also attached is the minute entry denying the motion, in case you want to file as a Notice of Supplemental Authority to show an example of a stay being denied in a contractor mandate case.

James

Friends,

Judge Baker just issued a nationwide injunction in our federal contractor mandate case. We're still reviewing, but wanted to make you aware. Also, I'm adding Georgia's new SG, Stephen Petruny, to this chain.

Matt,

Following up to get your thoughts on the below as well as the proposed revisions to S.3200 sent in e-mail dated 12/29/2021. Happy to discuss in a call if convenient.

Also, be advised that the McKenzie County Grazing Association has sent the attached letter to Representative Armstrong requesting that the Little Missouri National Grasslands be completely removed from the current bill. Paragraph 3 calls out the section line rights-of-way issue.

Thank You,

James

Matt,

I don't believe we have specifically discussed sections 54-01-12, 54-01-13, 54-01-13.2, 54-01-13.3, but I don't see any glaring issues aside from those we have already discussed. Here is my take, please let me know if you disagree with anything - I would be happy to discuss further.

- Article IX, § 6 of the constitution requires further legislative authority to exchange state- owned original grant lands with federal lands (see highlighted language below).
- This legislative authority appears in N.D.C.C. §§ 15-06-19.1, 54-01-12, and 54-01-13:
 - o § 15- 06- 19.1 grants the Board legislative authority to exchange "[o]riginal grant school or institutional lands and any other lands controlled by the board of university and school lands" with federal lands "of like character and value". I interpret this grant of authority to be quite broad and apply to all lands under the control of the Board (whether granted in the Enabling act or otherwise acquired thereafter, and wherever located).
 - o § 54- 01- 12 grants legislative authority to exchange state- owned non- grant lands located on Indian reservations within the state with federal lands also located on Indian reservations within the state. The language does not indicate that the lands exchanged must be located the same reservation.
 - o § 54- 01- 13 grants legislative authority to exchange state- owned non- grant lands located within the borders of Fort Berthold reservation with federal lands located outside of Fort Berthold reservation.
- S.3200 specifically proposes an exchange of state- owned land located within the Little Missouri National Grassland and within the reservations.
- N.D.C.C. §§ 54- 01- 13.1, 13.2, and 13.3 all appear to apply only to exchanges of land within Theodore Roosevelt National Park. It is my understanding that most (if not all) state- owned land within the Park has already been exchanged.

N.D. Const. art. IX, § 6.

Any of said lands that may be required for townsite purposes, schoolhouse sites, church sites, cemetery sites, sites for other educational or charitable institutions, public parks, airplane landing fields, fairgrounds, public highways, railroad right of way, or other railroad uses and purposes, reservoirs for the storage of water for irrigation, irrigation canals, and ditches, drainage ditches, or for any of the purposes for which private lands may be taken under the right of eminent domain under the constitution and laws of this state, may be sold under the provisions of this article, and shall be paid for in full at the time of sale, or at any time thereafter as herein provided. Any of said lands and any other lands controlled by the board of university and school lands, including state coal mineral interests, may, with the approval of said board, be exchanged for lands and coal mineral interests of the United States, the state of North Dakota or any county or municipality thereof as the legislature may provide, and the lands so acquired shall be subject to the trust to which the lands exchanged therefor were subject, and the state shall reserve all mineral and water power rights in land so transferred, except coal mineral interests approved for exchange by the board of university and school lands under this section.

Such exchange is subject to the approval of the proper department of the federal government, and such lands must be appraised as provided by law in the case of sale of real property owned by the state. The state also may execute and deliver proper conveyances of such land in the manner and form provided by law without the necessity of complying with any statute requiring the giving of notice of exchange or competitive bidding, and may accept in return therefor a proper instrument of conveyance to the state of North Dakota of the land for which such lands are exchanged, and the lands so acquired are subject to the trust to which the lands exchanged therefor were subject. 54-01-12. We represent Birch Burdick in his official capacity, whose position is and always has been "tell me what the law is and I will enforce it." We've been riding the State's coattails in this case, but with the recent depositions it has become more and more expensive for us to participate in the case. I will circulate an updated draft later this week, but I think this draft conveys the substance of the arguments. My overall goal in this brief is to support intervention by authorized agents because I think it is good for the rule of law long term, but also to do no harm to institutional interests of attorneys general. I am open to any edits, large or small, including cutting sections or adding sections. So far, I am the only drafter of this, so all errors are mine, not my team's. Given our printer deadline, if you could get me sign-ons by 11am ET on Tuesday 1/18, I would appreciate it. Sincerely, Beau Roysden Arizona Attorney General's Office 602-315-7545 |

McCarthy, No. 21-940 (U.S.) (draft attached). The new deadline is Monday, January 24, 2022, at 5:00PM EST. The brief is due on January 26, 2022. The questions presented are: (1) whether the Fourth Amendment prohibits the admission of a defendant's refusal of a blood test in an impaired-driving prosecution; and (2) whether the Fourth Amendment prohibits a mandatory minimum sentence based on a defendant's refusal of a blood test in an impaired-driving prosecution. The amicus brief supports only the evidentiary use argument. In this case, the Supreme Court of Kentucky held that the Commonwealth could not criminally penalize McCarthy for his refusal to submit to a blood test, and that the increased mandatory minimum sentence constituted a criminal penalty. The Kentucky Court also held admitting a defendant's refusal to consent to a search as evidence of guilt violates the Fourth Amendment, relying on its prior decisions in non-DUI cases. The Kentucky Court justified applying that precedent to the DUI context because it concluded that the Fourth Amendment question had not been squarely addressed by the Supreme Court, which had previously focused on the Fifth Amendment implications of admitting refusal evidence. Moreover, the Kentucky Court reasoned the prosecution's argument for its admission was undermined by the analysis presented in Birchfield, which held that a warrantless blood draw incident to arrests for drunk driving are normally unreasonable under the Fourth Amendment. By contrast, almost all states allow the admission of evidence that the driver refused a blood draw. A number of you joined the amicus brief we filed in Mitchell v. Wisconsin, No. 18-6210, a case about the scope of implied consent laws; and like that brief, this one discusses the constitutionality of such laws as well as the critical role refusal evidence plays in criminal prosecutions of impaired drivers. Please contact me at jillian.price@coag.gov or Gabriel Olivares at gabriel.olivares@coag.gov to join the brief or to offer any suggestions; we welcome your feedback and look forward to having a strong coalition in support of this important issue. The brief is due January 26, 2022, and the deadline to join is Monday, January 24, 2022, at 5:00PM EST. With appreciation, Jillian J. North Carolina Dep't of Revenue (N.C.) To: Civil Amicus Contacts From: District of Columbia SG Office The District of Columbia is preparing an amicus brief supporting respondent-appellant North Carolina in Quad Graphics, Inc. v. North Carolina Department of Revenue, No. 407-A-21, in the North Carolina Supreme Court. The relevant question presented is whether the dormant Commerce Clause bars states from asserting and collecting sales taxes on transactions originating from out-of-state and delivered to in-state consumers. We expect the North Carolina AG to argue that Dilworth formalism—which allows use taxes, but not sales taxes on such transactions—is no longer good law. States have a critical interest in protecting their sovereign authority to fairly tax interstate commerce and to preserve the gains they received from the Supreme Court's decision in South Dakota v. Wayfair, 138 S. Ct. 2080 (2018). The District's brief will therefore make two related arguments: First, the brief will argue that reaffirming Dilworth formalism would be inconsistent with the Supreme Court's decision in Wayfair and would reintroduce many of the policy concerns that animated the Court's abrogation of the physical-presence rule. Second, the brief will highlight the particular concerns raised by the lower court's decision in states with destination-based sourcing schemes. The District and at least 39 states have tax-sourcing statutes that identify the location of the "sale" as the place where the goods are delivered. Allowing courts to override such statutes and conclude that there is no transactional nexus absent physical purchase within the taxing state would undermine state sovereign taxing authority and contradict the fundamental principle that "the modes adopted [by the States] to enforce the taxes levied should be interfered with as little as possible." Dow v. City of Chicago, 78 U.S. 106, 110 (1871). As we craft and refine the brief, it would be helpful to know the following by January 7 (if you happen to have responsive information): <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Does your state have a destination-based sourcing scheme? If so, a citation to the specific provision of the state tax code would be ideal. 2. In the wake of Wayfair: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Is your state assessing and collecting sales taxes on out-of-state companies that deliver goods to in-state consumers? 2. Has your state faced Dilworth-based challenges such as the one at issue here? Please contact caroline.vanzile@dc.gov and norah.rast@dc.gov with your responses. We will circulate a draft brief on or around January 14, in advance of the January 21 join deadline. Many thanks in advance for your help. With appreciation, Caroline S. Van Zile Principal Deputy Solicitor General Office of the Attorney General for the District of Columbia 400 6th Street, NW, Suite 8100 Washington, D.C. 20001 (917) 971-0361 (cell) (202) 724-6609 (phone) (202) 741-0649 (fax) caroline.vanzile@dc.gov |

N.C.G.S. § 105-164.6(a)(2). A North Carolina Business Court judge held that the dormant Commerce Clause prohibited states from imposing sales taxes on out-of-state goods delivered by common carrier into the state. Under Dilworth, the court concluded, a state sales (as opposed to use) tax "survives scrutiny under the Commerce Clause only where the purchase of tangible personal property—i.e., the transfer of ownership from the seller to buyer—takes place in the taxing state." Quad Graphics, Inc. v. N.C. Dep't of Revenue, No. 30 CV5 7349, 2021 WL 2584262, at *11 (N.C. Super. June 23, 2021). North Carolina has appealed this decision to the North Carolina Supreme Court. Notably, many other states have similar destination-based sourcing schemes. Please contact caroline.vanzile@dc.gov and norah.rast@dc.gov with questions, suggestions, or to join the brief. We would appreciate any edits or comments by EOD Wednesday, January 19. The join deadline is January 21, 2021 at 12:00pm ET. With appreciation, Caroline S. North Carolina Dep't of Revenue (N.C.) To: Civil Amicus Contacts From: District of Columbia SG Office The District of Columbia is preparing an amicus brief supporting respondent-appellant North Carolina in Quad Graphics, Inc. v. North Carolina Department of Revenue, No. 407-A-21, in the North Carolina Supreme Court. The relevant question presented is whether the dormant Commerce Clause bars states from asserting and collecting sales taxes on transactions originating from out-of-state and delivered to in-state consumers. We expect the North Carolina AG to argue that Dilworth formalism—which allows use taxes, but not sales taxes on such transactions—is no longer good law. States have a critical interest in protecting their sovereign authority to fairly tax interstate commerce and to preserve the gains they received from the Supreme Court's decision in South Dakota v. Wayfair, 138 S. Ct. 2080 (2018). The District's brief will therefore make two related arguments: First, the brief will argue that reaffirming Dilworth formalism would be inconsistent with the Supreme Court's decision in Wayfair and would reintroduce many of the policy concerns that animated the Court's abrogation of the physical-presence rule. Second, the brief will highlight the particular concerns raised by the lower court's decision in states with destination-based sourcing schemes. The District and at least 39 states have tax-sourcing statutes that identify the location of the "sale" as the place where the goods are delivered. Allowing courts to override such statutes and conclude that there is no transactional nexus absent physical purchase within the taxing state would undermine state sovereign taxing authority and contradict the fundamental principle that "the modes adopted [by the States] to enforce the taxes levied should be interfered with as little as possible." Dow v. City of Chicago, 78 U.S. 106, 110 (1871). As we craft and refine the brief, it would be helpful to know the following by January 7 (if you happen to have responsive information): <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Does your state have a destination-based sourcing scheme? If so, a citation to the specific provision of the state tax code would be ideal. 2. In the wake of Wayfair: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Is your state assessing and collecting sales taxes on out-of-state companies that deliver goods to in-state consumers? 2. Has your state faced Dilworth-based challenges such as the one at issue here? Please contact caroline.vanzile@dc.gov and norah.rast@dc.gov with your responses. We will circulate a draft brief on or around January 14, in advance of the January 21 join deadline. Many thanks in advance for your help. With appreciation, Caroline S. Van Zile Principal Deputy Solicitor General Office of the Attorney General for the District of Columbia 400 6th Street, NW, Suite 8100 Washington, D.C. 20001 (917) 971-0361 (cell) (202) 724-6609 (phone) (202) 741-0649 (fax) caroline.vanzile@dc.gov |

| Body | Attached is a new amicus request prepared by West Virginia and Arizona. Deadline is 1/19. The issue that Petitioners ask the Court to hear is whether Maryland's ban on "assault weapons" commonly used by law-abiding citizens violates the Second Amendment. More specifically, the Maryland statute bans any semi-automatic centerfire rifle with a detachable magazine that has at least two of (1) a folding stock, (2) a grenade or flare launcher, or (3) a flash suppressor. The ban also specifically applies to a list of 45 enumerated rifle types. In both the district court and the Fourth Circuit, Petitioners conceded that their Second Amendment claim is foreclosed under the en banc Fourth Circuit's decision in Kolbe v. Hogan, 849 F.3d 114 (4th Cir. 2017) (en banc). That decision erroneously holds that any firearm that is "most useful in military service" falls outside the protections of the Second Amendment. | Body | Attached is a new amicus request regarding a brief written by Utah – response is due January 26. I don't have a strong opinion, but Parrell might. Here is a description: Utah plans to file the attached amicus in support of appellant in Epic Games v. Apple pending in the Ninth Circuit. The amicus argues that (1) the district court's holding that "contract" under Section 1 of the Sherman Act does not include "unilateral contracts" violates rules of statutory interpretation, is inconsistent with Supreme Court precedent, and makes bad public policy; and (2) the district court erred in failing to balance the overall competitive effects as part of its rule-of-reason analysis. In addition to generally ensuring effective standards for antitrust enforcement, these arguments are directly relevant to the 39-state multistate Google IAP litigation pending in the Northern District of California. From: Dan Schweitzer <dschweitzer@naag.org> Sent: Thursday, January 20, 2022 6:56 AM To: Dan Schweitzer <dschweitzer@naag.org> Cc: Melissa Holyoak <melissaholyoak@agutah.gov> Subject: Amicus Brief in Epic v. Street View Electronic Communications Litigation (opinion attached). Your AGs previously signed on to the amicus brief that we filed in the Ninth Circuit in August 2020 (also attached). As a reminder, this is a case where the settlement creates a $13 million cash fund, but the entire fund is being sent to class counsel, class representatives, and cy pres recipients. Additionally, the settlement's injunctive relief mirrored relief already obtained by 39 State AGs in 2013. Judge Bade wrote the opinion for the court, affirming the district court's order certifying the class, approving the settlement agreement, and awarding attorneys' fees. But Judge Bade also wrote a separate concurrence expressing general concerns about cy pres awards. The objector has filed a petition for rehearing and rehearing en banc (attached). We intend to file a short amicus brief in support of the petition. Our brief will focus on the importance of this issue, as evidenced by the Supreme Court granting a petition in a similar case a few years ago (in which they ultimately did not reach the merits). We will also include some of the language in our original brief about cy pres in class actions generally. The brief is due January 20th, but because of the quick turnaround, we may not be able to circulate until a day or two before and wanted to give you advance notice of the request to join. If you have any questions in the meantime, please feel free to reach out to me, Keena, or Beau. Best, Kate Sawyer Assistant Solicitor General   Office of the Attorney General Solicitor General's Office 2026 N Central Ave, Phoenix, AZ 85004 Direct: 602-542-8304 Kate.Sawyer@azag.gov  From: Sawyer, Kate Sent: Thursday, August 20, 2020 11:13 AM To: Sawyer, Kate <Kate.Sawyer@azag.gov> Cc: Skinner, OH <OH.Skinner@azag.gov> Subject: Google Street View Amicus Brief - 9th Circuit Colleagues, Attached please find the as-filed Amicus Brief in the Google Street View class action matter in the 9th Circuit, which we filed last evening. As a reminder, this is a case where the settlement created a $13 million fund, but the entire fund is being sent to class counsel, class representatives, and cy pres recipients. Friends,

As a follow-up to the email below about the attached amicus brief in Bianchi v. Frosh, the Court on Friday ordered a response to the petition, which gives us some additional time to file the brief. As a result, we are extending the deadline to join until 5:00 p.m. EST on January 24, 2021. Nine states have already joined and we hope the additional time will result in others joining as well.

Best,

Mike

Frosh - 21-902 - Cert Stage Amicus Friends, Attached is a draft of a cert-stage amicus brief from the perspective of states in Bianchi v. Frosh. The brief is a joint effort between West Virginia and Arizona. The issue that Petitioners ask the Court to hear is whether Maryland's ban on "assault weapons" commonly used by law-abiding citizens violates the Second Amendment. More specifically, the Maryland statute bans any semi-automatic centerfire rifle with a detachable magazine that has at least two of (1) a folding stock, (2) a grenade or flare launcher, or (3) a flash suppressor. The ban also specifically applies to a list of 45 enumerated rifle types. In both the district court and the Fourth Circuit, Petitioners conceded that their Second Amendment claim is foreclosed under the en banc Fourth Circuit's decision in Kolbe v. Hagan, 849 F.3d 114 (4th Cir. 2017) (en banc). That decision erroneously holds that any firearm that is "most useful in military service" falls outside the protections of the Second Amendment. The petition asks the Court to overrule Kolbe and adopt a categorical approach to the Second Amendment. Cooper and Kirk represents the Petitioners and their petition is attached. Given our printer deadline, if you could get us sign-ons by 11am ET on Wednesday 1/19, we would appreciate it. Best, Mike Michael S. Friends,

As a follow-up to the email below about the attached amicus brief in Bianchi v. Frosh, the Court on Friday ordered a response to the petition, which gives us some additional time to file the brief. As a result, we are extending the deadline to join until 5:00 p.m. EST on January 24, 2021. Nine states have already joined and we hope the additional time will result in others joining as well.

Best,

Mike

Frosh - 21-902 - Cert Stage Amicus Friends, Attached is a draft of a cert-stage amicus brief from the perspective of states in Bianchi v. Frosh. The brief is a joint effort between West Virginia and Arizona. The issue that Petitioners ask the Court to hear is whether Maryland's ban on "assault weapons" commonly used by law-abiding citizens violates the Second Amendment. More specifically, the Maryland statute bans any semi-automatic centerfire rifle with a detachable magazine that has at least two of (1) a folding stock, (2) a grenade or flare launcher, or (3) a flash suppressor. The ban also specifically applies to a list of 45 enumerated rifle types. In both the district court and the Fourth Circuit, Petitioners conceded that their Second Amendment claim is foreclosed under the en banc Fourth Circuit's decision in Kolbe v. Hagan, 849 F.3d 114 (4th Cir. 2017) (en banc). That decision erroneously holds that any firearm that is "most useful in military service" falls outside the protections of the Second Amendment. The petition asks the Court to overrule Kolbe and adopt a categorical approach to the Second Amendment. Cooper and Kirk represents the Petitioners and their petition is attached. Given our printer deadline, if you could get us sign-ons by 11am ET on Wednesday 1/19, we would appreciate it. Best, Mike Michael S. It is probably unnecessary for the AG to file an amicus brief regarding this matter, but the issues considered by the court could definitely impact the Attorney General’s administration of the open meetings law, and every single governing body’s relationship with their attorney. Hi all,

Here is a very slightly updated version of the amicus brief supporting the challenges to SEC's/Nasdaq's explicit race- and sex-based quotas, and last call for sign-ons.

Hi all,

Attached is a slightly updated version of the Fifth Circuit amicus brief for the Nasdaq/SEC Quota Rule challenge. So far Alaska, Arkansas, and Montana have joined.

Basically, the brief makes two points that are probably pretty uncontroversial for this group: (1) explicit race- and sex-based quotas are bad and violate the Constitution and (2) SEC cannot use a highly generalized and circumscribed grant of authority to intrude upon an area traditionally regulated by state law and in service of an agenda of restructuring society in the agency's own social justice-minded image (while violating the Constitution in the process).

We will be able to accept sign-ons until December 27 at 5pm Eastern. Please let us know if you have any questions or would like to discuss any of this.

Sincerely,
 Drew

Subject: Amicus Brief Supporting Challenge to NASDAQ Race- and Sex-Based Quotas

Dear Friends,

We wanted to let you know about a multi-state amicus brief we plan on circulating late this week or early next week. The amicus brief would support challenges to SEC approval of a NASDAQ proposed "diversity" requirement. That requirement (discussed in greater detail below) adopts one of the crudest and most odious tool available to the government: race- and sex-based quotas. All companies that fail to satisfy those quotas would be compelled to make statements explaining (i.e., apologizing for) their failure to do so.

Challenges to SEC's approval have been consolidated in the Fifth Circuit. One opening brief challenging the rule has already been filed (attached). Another will be filed on December 20, so our amicus brief will be due December 27.

Because of the holiday season, we wanted to give everyone a heads up that this brief will be coming. We will be able to accept sign-ons until December 27 at 2pm Eastern.

Please feel free to reach out to us with any questions or suggestions.

Sincerely,

Drew

Nasdaq Quota Requirement Overview:

On December 1, 2020, the Nasdaq proposed to adopt a series of rules related to corporate board "diversity." After taking comments, Nasdaq submitted an amended proposal to the SEC in February which had three main components, which apply to every Nasdaq-listed firm (minus some exceptions for small and foreign firms): (1) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who "self-identifies her gender as a woman;" (2) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who self-identifies as "Black or African American, Hispanic or Latino, Asian, Native American or Alaska Native, Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander, or Two or More Races or Ethnicities;" or as "LGBTQ+," which is defined as "lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender or as a member of the queer community;" and (3) to provide statistical information on directors' sex, race, and sexual orientation status. See Securities and Exchange Commission, Order Approving Proposed Rule Changes, as Modified by Amendments No. 1, 86 Fed. Reg. 44,424 (Aug. 6, 2021), <https://www.federalregister.gov/documents/2021/08/12/2021-17179/self-regulatory-organizations-the-nasdaq-stock-market-llc-order-approving-proposed-rule-changes-as>.

On August 6, 2021, the Securities and Exchange Commission – on a 3-2 party-line vote – approved Nasdaq's proposal without modification, finalizing these requirements as Nasdaq rules. In response to objections that this proposal violated the Constitution, the SEC adopted Nasdaq's argument that the rule was not subject to the Constitution because Nasdaq was not a state actor. <https://www.federalregister.gov/d/2021-17179/p-301>.

On August 10, 2021, the Alliance for Fair Board Recruitment (AFBR) filed a Petition for Review of the SEC's action in the Fifth Circuit. Additional petitioner National Center for Public Policy Research (NCPFR) filed in the Third Circuit, and was transferred to the Fifth Circuit on October 28, 2021.

Happy Friday everyone. We've decided to push our amicus filing until next week Tuesday to give everyone more time to join. So please let us know if you'd like to join by Tuesday, January 25 at noon. To recap the brief - voting rights plaintiffs shouldn't be allowed to take insufficient section 2 results allegations and just claim "discriminatory purpose" in order to survive a motion to dismiss. We'd like to make a strong showing in support of Arizona on this one, so let me know if you have any questions or concerns about the brief. Thanks!

Subject: Draft States Amicus Brief - Mi Familia Vota v. Hobbs

Hello all,

I've attached a draft States amicus brief in support of Arizona's motion to dismiss in its most recent voting litigation concerning two laws: (1) requiring missing signatures on mail-in ballots to be provided by election day; and (2) removing voters from the early voting list such that they no longer automatically receive mail-in ballots if they don't vote for two cycles and fail to respond when asked if they wish to remain on the list. Plaintiffs have not brought a section 2 results claim, but only a discriminatory-purpose claim and an undue-burden claim. Our amicus brief focuses on the purpose claim and highlights the need for adequate allegations of invidious purpose, the presumption of legislative good faith, and the discovery burdens that await if the motion to dismiss is denied.

We'd like to file this on Friday, so please let me know if you'd like to join by noon (CT) on Friday, January 21. Thank you!

Beth

NEWS: FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Five years after taking office, Burgum, Sanford reflect on state's historic progress and challenges during 2021

Governor to deliver 2022 State of the State Address on Jan. 19 at NDSU

BISMARCK, N.D. (DEC. 15, 2021) — Gov. Doug Burgum and Lt. Gov. Brent Sanford today marked the fifth anniversary of being sworn into office, reflecting on a year filled with historic progress on infrastructure, workforce, economic development and other priorities, as well as major challenges including extreme drought conditions and the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic.

“As always, North Dakotans have responded to this year’s unprecedented challenges with incredible strength and resiliency,” Burgum said. “Our administration continues to draw inspiration from the hardworking citizens of our great state as we strive to empower people, improve lives and inspire success.”

In his January 2021 State of the State Address, Burgum called for bold action to move the state forward. He worked with the state Legislature to deliver a landmark $680 million bonding package to support infrastructure improvements across the state. The package includes flood control, roads, bridges, water projects and an agricultural products development center — all with using Legacy Fund earnings and without raising taxes. The water project funding includes $435.5 million for the Fargo-Moorhead-West Fargo area flood diversion, $74.5 million for Mouse River Flood Control at Minot and a $50 million revolving loan fund for water projects.

As recommended in Burgum’s Accelerate ND proposal, a special session of the Legislature in November also invested hundreds of millions of dollars of federal funding into infrastructure, including a proposed west-to-east natural gas pipeline to support communities and economic growth; workforce development including career centers where high school students can pursue high-demand careers; economic development programs and energy projects; and health care and behavioral health enhancements.

Burgum proposed and signed into law an income tax relief package that will provide an estimated $211 million in relief to approximately half a million North Dakotans in tax years 2021 and 2022. The governor also signed legislation eliminating the state income tax on Social Security income, making North Dakota the 38th state to eliminate the tax. As a result, approximately 20,000 North Dakotans will save an estimated $14.6 million per biennium.

The administration worked closely with stakeholders to usher in several of the largest economic development project announcements in state history, with a focus on diversifying the economy and adding value to the state’s raw commodities. The projects include ADM’s plans to build a $350 million soybean crush and refinery in Spiritwood, N.D.; plans by Bakken Energy LLC and Mitsubishi Power Americas Inc. to establish a world-class clean hydrogen hub; and Cerilon Inc.’s plans to build a $2.8 billion gas-to-liquids complex in Williams County.

Sanford also spearheaded the administration’s efforts on the sale of Coal Creek Station, the state’s largest coal-fired power plant, to Rainbow Energy & Co., avoiding a shutdown of the plant, saving jobs and preserving baseload power generation.

Together, these projects will play a major role in North Dakota’s agriculture, energy and overall economic growth, along with efforts toward the governor’s goal, announced in May, of making North Dakota the first carbon-neutral state by 2030.

Burgum also appointed several members to the governor’s cabinet: Indian Affairs Commission Executive Director Nathan Davis, Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation Director Dave Krabbenhoft, Commerce Commissioner James Leiman, Parks and Recreation Director Cody Schulz, Department of Water Resources Director Andres Travnicek, State Health Officer Dr. Nizar Wehbi, and Game and Fish Department Director Jeb Williams. Stacey Breuer also joined the cabinet as chief people officer.

Historic drought

- The governor declared a statewide drought disaster in early April, marking the second time in five years that North Dakota farmers and ranchers faced widespread extreme drought conditions that threatened crops, livestock herds and livelihoods.
- At the same time, Burgum, who chairs the State Water Commission, and Agriculture Commissioner Doug Goehring, also a member, announced the reactivation of the Drought Disaster Livestock Water Supply Project Assistance Program through the newly formed Department of Water Resources. So far, over $5.6 million in cost-share assistance has been approved for over 1,400 projects submitted by more than 1,000 unique applicants, with an average approval time of less than three days from application.
- Burgum also signed an executive order waiving hours of service for haulers of livestock, hay and water to help livestock producers battling extreme drought conditions across the state.
- With its partners at the North Dakota Forest Service and North Dakota National Guard, the Department of Emergency Services (DES) coordinated the response to significant wildland fire events, including an April 1 fire that encroached on Medora and prompted evacuations. Army National Guard Black Hawk helicopters supported local and regional firefighting efforts to save Medora by distributing water via 600-gallon water buckets.
- Local, tribal, state and federal agencies responded to two large wildfires from April 30 to May 2. The Roosevelt Creek Fire in the Little Missouri National Grassland, north of Medora, burned more than 4,600 acres, while another fire on the Fort Berthold Reservation, about six miles south of Mandaree, burned an estimated 9,800 acres.
- Total Army National Guard support, including to Mandaree, involved distributing over 100,000 gallons of water and eight Guard members working with the North Dakota Forest Service on the

Itâ€™s estimated the $3.2 million appropriation will support the conversion of up to 16 wells. • While serving and protecting citizens at home, DES also coordinated and resourced firefighting teams to provide aid to another state. A group of 15 firefighters from the Williston, Williston Rural, Bismarck Rural and Dickinson fire departments spent two weeks supporting Hurricane Ida recovery efforts in September along the Gulf Coast. This was after Burgum approved an Emergency Management Assistance Compact (EMAC) request from the state of Louisiana, allowing North Dakotaâ€™s firefighters to assist with fire suppression missions there. COVID-19 pandemic response <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Since January 2021, more than 900,000 doses of the COVID-19 vaccine have been administered in North Dakota. The percentage of adults in the state with at least one dose is 60.7%, and more than 83% of those over age 65 have started their vaccine series. • The North Dakota Department of Health (NDDoH) State Laboratory processed more than 682,497 tests, and its hotline responded to more than 93,000 citizen calls and 4,100 emails. The NDDoH developed the North Dakota COVID-19 Impact Wall to connect North Dakotans impacted by the disease. • The NDDoH developed and updated communication channels for citizens, including website dashboards for COVID-19 cases and vaccine distribution, so citizens could quickly access data to make informed decisions about their health. The COVID-19 cases dashboard had more than 2 million page views this year, and the COVID-19 vaccine dashboard had more than 400,000 page views in this time frame. • The pandemic has the North Dakota National Guard serving its longest domestic response in history â€“ 638 days and nearly 128,000 personnel days as of Monday. Guard members have administered testing, facilitated over 103,000 doses of vaccine, conducted traffic control, partnered with local and tribal health organizations, and transported test samples to the state lab, among other duties. • The DES has coordinated the obligation of more than $126 million through the Federal Emergency Management Agencyâ€™s Public Assistance Program. The agency assisted eligible local, state, tribal and nonprofit organizations in submitting applications to reimburse costs for medical care, testing and vaccinations, as well as costs required to perform safe opening and operations. • Job Service North Dakota provided vital economic support to the unemployed by injecting over $1.2 billion into the economy since the start of the pandemic. In a typical year, Job Service will pay between $80 million to $90 million to recipients during times of economic downturns, but payments to unemployed recipients in 2021 alone had already reached $362 million by early December. • Security and medical team members from the Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation (DOCR) have cared for more than 950 residents diagnosed with COVID-19 at facilities across the state. Partnering with the NDDoH, DOCR team members offered extensive testing and monoclonal antibody treatments to provide excellent care on-site to prevent serious illness. Very few COVID-positive residents required hospitalization, minimizing the impact on already strained community medical resources. • The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) helped develop the executive proposal for over $1 billion in federal American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) investments, managed the distribution of over $25 million in ARPA funding to North Dakota cities, and managed the stateâ€™s reporting requirements for $1.25 billion in federal Coronavirus Relief Funds. • Recognizing how employers play an essential role in healthy, vibrant communities, Job Service worked with policymakers to ensure that the Unemployment Insurance (UI) Trust Fund remained healthy and that employers were held harmless for UI benefit charges to their employees during 2020. As importantly, the steps taken ensured there were no unemployment tax rate increases for employers in 2021. By utilizing federal Cares Act dollars to strengthen the UI Trust Fund, it positioned the UI program to again hold rates flat in the upcoming 2022 calendar year. In addition to addressing drought and COVID challenges, the administration continued to make progress on the governorâ€™s five strategic initiatives: Main Street Initiative, Behavioral Health and Addiction, Tribal Engagement, Transforming Education and Reinventing Government. Main Street Initiative <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Department of Commerce worked to increase infill and reduce property taxes by updating Renaissance Zones and working across state agencies to successfully stack and align state programs for mixed use and infill. • North Dakota was one of only six states selected for the second phase of the National Governors Associationâ€™s Workforce Innovation Networks, in which states will deploy cross-agency teams to identify and implement strategies that advance digital skill development and more equitable economic participation. • Commerceâ€™s Workforce Division is implementing systematic changes with $20 million allocated to improve talent attraction efforts. One strategy launched in 2021 involves a national project with RoleCall to address workforce needs by helping to make North Dakota a national leader in talent attraction innovation and action. • The Main Street ND Summit, held in West Fargo this year, featured a lineup of renowned speakers and community innovators on the topic of smart, efficient infrastructure. Videos of the keynotes, breakout sessions and Main Street Awards can be viewed here. |

| | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Due to the many workforce challenges facing North Dakota, Job Service took a strategic, targeted approach to a statewide campaign called #JOBUPND. The campaign utilized several online ad platforms generating over 3 million impressions with a 75% view rate. • Smart, efficient infrastructure is a pillar of the Main Street Initiative, and infrastructure is vital to North Dakota's economy, commerce, agriculture, tourism and families. In 2021, the state of North Dakota made an unprecedented $2.3 billion dollar investment in infrastructure. • Recognizing the key role that parks play in creating healthy, vibrant communities, lawmakers approved and Burgum signed legislation during the special session investing $17.9 million in deferred maintenance and capital improvements at state parks, plus $5 million in matching funds to renovate and upgrade existing facilities in local park districts. The Legislature last spring also created a Challenge Grant for the Parks and Recreation Department to drive investment from the private and public sectors for parks. • Commerce, Job Service and the DOCR worked together on The Last Mile, a collaborative effort to provide instruction on front- and back-end website design to enable DOCR residents to be workforce ready in a highly technical field of coding and website design. • The Department of Water Resources' Cost-Share Program continued to advance critical water supply infrastructure in all areas of the state. For municipal water supply projects, $19.7 million was approved to benefit over 15,000 water users in communities of all sizes. Rural water systems received over $8 million for system expansions and improvements that will benefit over 20,000 water users. • The larger regional water supply systems, including the Western Area Water Supply, Red River Valley Water Supply, Southwest Pipeline Project, and Northwest Area Water Supply were approved for $93.6 million in state funding, and $20.4 million in federal Municipal, Rural and Industrial Water Supply Program funding. Combined, these four regional water supply systems will one day provide water service to 73% of North Dakota's population. Behavioral Health and Addiction <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • More than 650 in-person attendees and over 3,000 online viewers participated in the fifth Recovery Reinvented, a daylong event in Bismarck focused on reinventing recovery through eliminating the stigma of addiction. The governor and First Lady Kathryn Burgum shared the results of the statewide North Dakota Addressing Addiction survey, which found stigma has been reduced over the last three years. • The Department of Human Services completed statewide implementation of a behavioral health crisis services response system that includes crisis line, mobile response and walk-in services at its eight human service centers. At the Life Skills and Transition Center in Grafton, the system was expanded with a specialized team who respond to people with developmental and intellectual disabilities in crisis so they can continue to live successfully in their communities. Crisis response services de-escalate situations and prevent law enforcement involvement and unnecessary emergency room visits. • Building on the success of the Free Through Recovery program, Human Services launched the Community Connect program, which provides community-based behavioral health services designed to assist individuals with care coordination, peer support and recovery services. • Human Services also implemented a Medicaid 1915(i) state plan amendment, which allows North Dakota Medicaid to pay for additional in-home and community-based services to support individuals with behavioral health conditions. Services include care coordination, benefits planning, nonmedical transportation, respite, supported education, supported employment, housing and peer support. • The DOCR partnered with Restoring Promise, an initiative of the Vera Institute of Justice, and MILPA, to create a housing unit at the State Penitentiary grounded in dignity for young adults in prison. Restoring Promise helps transform correctional culture through training, presentations, workshops and healing circles, setting a new tone for the entire system. Young adults participate in meaningful daily activities, experience healing, cultivate an ideology of self-determination and restore relationships with family and community. Mentors over the age of 25 support them in their personal growth, and staff undergo intensive training to become agents of change within the system. • The Highway Patrol created a two-member crash assistance program that will provide enhanced services to victims of crashes, including providing information about understanding grief; reducing stress reactions after trauma; tools to process reactions to crisis and trauma; and information to support children as they process grief and trauma. Tribal Engagement <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The North Dakota National Guard finished signing memorandums of agreement with all five tribal colleges in North Dakota to make the State Tuition Assistance program available to qualified student service members attending college. • Burgum signed legislation providing a framework for the state and the Mandan, Hidatsa and Arikara (MHA) Nation to share tax revenue from oil wells that straddle the boundary of the Fort Berthold Reservation, settling an unresolved issue from the state's historic 2019 tax agreement with the MHA Nation. • The North Dakota Highway Patrol entered an agreement with the MHA Nation to enhance emergency response on the Fort Berthold Reservation. The agreement, signed by Burgum and MHA Chairman Mark Fox, allows the closest available peace officer to respond to an emergency call for service until the agency with primary jurisdiction arrives and assumes the lead. The agreement to allow mutual aid across reservation boundaries was made possible by legislation signed in 2019 and 2021. • Burgum also signed legislation to allow NDIT to enter into agreements with tribes and other government entities to assist with cybersecurity incident response, and to allow NDDOT to enter into agreements with tribal governments to assist with federally funded safety improvement projects on tribal-owned highways, streets, roads and bridges. • The Hinohiuv Patrol created and implemented a five-member criminal intervention team that |

| Body | focuses on drug and human trafficking and other criminal activity occurring on roadways in the state. The team is tasked with working closely with tribal law enforcement to intercept illegal substances destined for North Dakota reservations. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> A pilot program that aims to ensure all justice-involved, at-risk tribal and non-tribal youth have access to similar services was extended for two years. Transforming Education <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Burgum signed #100pathways to graduation legislation that capped a four-year collaborative effort to pave the way for authentic learning and flexibility in pathways for North Dakota students to achieve graduation. Creating personalized graduation pathways to complement the traditional credit-hour K-12 education system was the No. 1 recommendation from the Governor's Innovative Education Task Force created through executive order in 2017. Burgum proposed and ultimately signed legislation providing $38 million to Bismarck State College to create the state's first polytechnic institution. This new approach to higher education will equip students with the skills needed to fill in-demand careers throughout the state. The North Dakota Information Technology (NDIT) Cybersecurity Team enhanced IT security services for the K-12 education community as part of the IT Shared Services/Unification initiative. This increased cybersecurity posture for the K-12 community sets the stage for better response planning and defense, and better security around school and student data. NDIT also expanded Extended Detection Response in schools, added protection to 10,000 Chromebooks, and provided Security User Awareness training to over 2,500 users. NDIT also enabled a 24-hour service desk supported by live agents for all state agencies and school districts. In the past year, NDIT has processed an average of 12,000 incidents per month. By offering around-the-clock support, NDIT is better equipped to handle support queries more quickly while improving customer service and creating long-lasting relationships. Reinventing Government <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The North Dakota Department of Transportation (NDDOT) increased driver's license and motor vehicle kiosks to 52 locations across North Dakota. Citizens are now able to print their motor vehicle tabs, renew or request a replacement license or ID card, schedule a road test, pay a reinstatement fee, change their address and edit donor registry information without visiting an office. The department also increased online appointments and reduced customer wait times for driver's license and motor vehicle services from nearly 30 minutes to less than 10 minutes. The NDDOT also launched driver's license online knowledge tests, allowing North Dakotans an easy and convenient way to get their learner's permit 24/7 from anywhere with internet access. The Highway Patrol's unmanned aircraft systems (UAS) program became fully active in 2021 following several months of planning and officer training. The UAS program will provide enhanced crash reconstruction services and allow officers to assess dangerous incidents from a safe distance, such as fire hot spots, unknown package identification or quickly locating missing or dangerous individuals in rough terrain. The DES completed a new streamlined system to provide a one-stop shop for energy industry producers, transporters and developers, as well as the public, to report hazardous material spills and releases instead of reporting spills to multiple state agencies. The reporting system, available at www.spill.nd.gov or by calling 1-833-995PILL (1-833-997-7455), was supported by the Department of Environmental Quality, Department of Agriculture and the Industrial Commission's Oil and Gas Division. Wildfire response by the DES led to some dramatic improvements leveraging technology. One of those innovations was a GPS-configured wildland fire dashboard that provided leaders, planners and firefighters with better situational awareness. It was the first time data could be compiled through reports from local emergency managers and 9-1-1 calls, as well as historical data from the Integrated Reporting of Wildland-Fire Information (IRWIN) system used by fire departments. The DES also initiated a program to augment the state's firefighting capabilities and resources by creating a wildland task force for the state. The task force concept was adopted to allow local fire departments the ability to respond outside their jurisdictions, if needed. Departments that volunteer will coordinate directly with the Forest Service to preposition personnel and equipment for potential state wildfire suppression missions. The North Dakota Game and Fish Department became the first state in the nation to allow electronic posting of private land with the passage of Senate Bill 2144. The bill gives landowners and hunters alike a convenient option for posting private land and checking its status for hunting, while also leaving the traditional physical posting process in place for those who wish to continue using it. The Department of Human Services implemented the Safety Framework Practice model, which redesigned in-home child and family support services and foster care services to increase the number of children remaining safely in their homes. Human Services also launched statewide centralized intake for child abuse and neglect reporting in January 2021. Overall, the number of children living in foster care has decreased in 2021. Efforts are underway to continue shifting resources to in-home services to support children and their families together. The pandemic's challenges provided an opportunity for Job Service to reinvent how it ensures benefits are getting to those who need it and not to identity thieves and criminal enterprises. By implementing an industry-leading ID proofing/verification service and by expanding utilization of fraud detection data analytics, Job Service prevented over 8,000 fraudulent claims, which could have resulted in over $150 million in fraudulent payments. The North Dakota Healthcare Directive Registry development by NDIT was completed and is available at https://ssaas.os.gov/ndohhs/directive-reg. This system allows citizens to store, maintain and retrieve important health care documents, such as advance directive documents that are key when determining proper patient care. Users can share documents with providers and family as patients, relatives or next of kin. |

Very strong:

- Workforce Safety & Insurance (WSI) successfully deployed upgrades to its myWSI and CAPS systems, providing better customer experience for internal and external customers through automation of manual tasks and online accessibility.
- The Department of Water Resources expanded the utility and functionality of PRESENS (Pushing Remote SENSors), a real-time water level monitoring program. The program now has a much broader range of data collection opportunities to include soil moisture, soil temperature and precipitation measurements. This real-time data will assist with water management into the future and will be used for modeling efforts and analysis. The department deployed more than 220 PRESENS units at peak operation, and aims to grow that number to around 1,000 units in the coming years.
- The Securities Department completed two significant technology projects designed to improve efficiency and the service experience for constituents. A new case management system facilitates the timely, effective and impactful execution of examinations and investigations to support the department's mission of protecting investors. And the new ND Securities Filing Portal delivers a fully electronic filing experience for issuers of securities and other filers, while completing the department's conversion to electronic systems for all securities and investment industry filings, which totaled approximately 148,000 in the last fiscal year.
- Five state agencies – the NDDOT, Department of Water Resources, Department of Environmental Quality, Public Finance Authority and Bank of North Dakota – collaborated to create Funding for Infrastructure in North Dakota (FINID), a central hub for local governments to apply for infrastructure funding. With five different infrastructure funding programs in the state, knowing which fund to apply for and completing multiple applications was a strain for city and county staff, but FINID provides a one-stop shop for applications. The site was gradually rolled out starting in June and has already received 13 applications.

Citizen-focused agencies make progress

In addition, state agencies worked hard to deliver core services and improve outcomes in many areas:

- Human Services launched a new early childhood division to focus resources on school readiness, strong, stable families, and quality early childhood experiences. To date, the division has awarded federal grant dollars to 713 North Dakota child care programs for financial stabilization.
- Human Services worked with housing partners to implement the new, more comprehensive ND Rent Help program to support housing stability and financial stability and promote strong, stable families. In 2021, 1,295 renter households received emergency rent or utility assistance from ND Rent Help, and 1,095 unique housing providers and utility providers received direct payments from the program. Total assistance disbursed through Nov. 30, 2021, was $13,428,408.
- Human Services improved access to in-home and community-based long-term support services so that older adults and adults with physical disabilities who qualify for skilled nursing care can live at home if they choose. North Dakotans can easily apply online or by phone through the Aging and Disability Resource LINK (ADRL) to get connected to in-home services.
- Human Service provided all Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) households with the maximum benefit amount for households their size. During 2021, approximately 17,800 North Dakota households benefited each month during the COVID-19 public health emergency.
- During the 67th Legislative Assembly, Burgum signed a bill to redesign the way nursing homes are paid by North Dakota Medicaid. Under this new payment system, nursing homes will be incentivized to provide cost-effective care and to renovate rather than build facilities. The new payment system will reduce overall expenses in the future, making it advantageous to taxpayers as well.
- In January 2021, Human Services assumed administration and operation of resettlement support services from contracted vendor Lutheran Social Services of North Dakota. Services help individuals adjust to life in North Dakota and become self-sufficient. The goal is to see New Americans accepted, integrated and supported as they add value to North Dakota and enrich the culture of their new communities. In 2021, 35 refugees resettled in North Dakota.
- The statewide cancer registry maintained by the NDDoH was recognized by the CDC as a Registry of Excellence. For the period December 2020 through November 2021, Women's Way screened 284 people for breast and/or cervical cancer. The program provides these important services to more than 70 women per month.
- The Women, Infants & Children (WIC) Program provided healthy food and support to more than 15,000 North Dakotans. The oral health program distributed 47,000 toothbrushes to 188 schools; 14 workplaces were designated as infant friendly, benefiting 3,821 employees, and the child passenger safety program launched new interactive maps and certified 67 technicians.
- The NDDoH distributed 1,560 state-of-the-art automated external defibrillators (AEDs) to law enforcement via a partnership with the Helmsley Charitable Trust. One of these AEDs was successfully deployed in August 2021 in Grand Forks and helped save a life.
- OMB launched Team ND Connect, a statewide intranet available to all state team members, and delivered Leadership Everywhere training to over 1,500 Team ND members. The agency also led a statewide change management initiative, launched a new website on the statewide platform and centralized certain printing and procurement services.
- Parks and Recreation began offering a new option for North Dakota State park annual permit holders. The family permit, authorized by the 67th Legislative Assembly, allows members of the same household to buy two annual permits at a discounted price of $55.
- The NDDOT finalized the long-range transportation plan, a Transportation Connection. The 25-year plan helps identify future transportation needs in the state.
- The NDDOT and Parks and Recreation partnered to replace and install various signs to promote recreational opportunities across the state. The project is designed to increase visibility of state parks and help guide visitors to parks and recreational areas.
- Parks and Recreation also partnered with the State Historical Society to offer the North Dakota

VIEW THIS RELEASE ONLINE: governor.nd.gov

BISMARCK, N.D. (DEC. 15, 2021) — Gov. Doug Burgum and Lt. Gov. Brent Sanford today marked the fifth anniversary of being sworn into office, reflecting on a year filled with historic progress on infrastructure, workforce, economic development and other priorities, as well as major challenges including extreme drought conditions and the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic.

“As always, North Dakotans have responded to this year’s unprecedented challenges with incredible strength and resiliency,” Burgum said. “Our administration continues to draw inspiration from the hardworking citizens of our great state as we strive to empower people, improve lives and inspire success.”

In his January 2021 State of the State Address, Burgum called for bold action to move the state forward. He worked with the state Legislature to deliver a landmark \$680 million bonding package to support infrastructure improvements across the state. The package includes flood control, roads, bridges, water projects and an agricultural products development center — all with using Legacy Fund earnings and without raising taxes. The water project funding includes $435.5 million for the Fargo-Moorhead-West Fargo area flood diversion, $74.5 million for Mouse River Flood Control at Minot and a $50 million revolving loan fund for water projects.

As recommended in Burgum’s Accelerate ND proposal, a special session of the Legislature in November also invested hundreds of millions of dollars of federal funding into infrastructure, including a proposed west-to-east natural gas pipeline to support communities and economic growth; workforce development including career centers where high school students can pursue high-demand careers; economic development programs and energy projects; and health care and behavioral health enhancements.

Burgum proposed and signed into law an income tax relief package that will provide an estimated $211 million in relief to approximately half a million North Dakotans in tax years 2021 and 2022. The governor also signed legislation eliminating the state income tax on Social Security income, making North Dakota the 38th state to eliminate the tax. As a result, approximately 20,000 North Dakotans will save an estimated $14.6 million per biennium.

The administration worked closely with stakeholders to usher in several of the largest economic development project announcements in state history, with a focus on diversifying the economy and adding value to the state’s raw commodities. The projects include ADM’s plans to build a \$350 million soybean crush and refinery in Spiritwood, N.D.; plans by Bakken Energy LLC and Mitsubishi Power Americas Inc. to establish a world-class clean hydrogen hub; and Cerilon Inc.’s plans to build a \$2.8 billion gas-to-liquids complex in Williams County.

Sanford also spearheaded the administration’s efforts on the sale of Coal Creek Station, the state’s largest coal-fired power plant, to Rainbow Energy & Co., avoiding a shutdown of the plant, saving jobs and preserving baseload power generation.

Together, these projects will play a major role in North Dakota’s agriculture, energy and overall economic growth, along with efforts toward the governor’s goal, announced in May, of making North Dakota the first carbon-neutral state by 2030.

Burgum also appointed several members to the governor’s cabinet: Indian Affairs Commission Executive Director Nathan Davis, Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation Director Dave Krabbenhoft, Commerce Commissioner James Leiman, Parks and Recreation Director Cody Schulz, Department of Water Resources Director Andres Travnicek, State Health Officer Dr. Nizar Wehbi, and Game and Fish Department Director Jeb Williams. Stacey Breuer also joined the cabinet as chief people officer.

Historic drought

- The governor declared a statewide drought disaster in early April, marking the second time in five years that North Dakota farmers and ranchers faced widespread extreme drought conditions that threatened crops, livestock herds and livelihoods.
- At the same time, Burgum, who chairs the State Water Commission, and Agriculture Commissioner Doug Goehring, also a member, announced the reactivation of the Drought Disaster Livestock Water Supply Project Assistance Program through the newly formed Department of Water Resources. So far, over $5.6 million in cost-share assistance has been approved for over 1,400 projects submitted by more than 1,000 unique applicants, with an average approval time of less than three days from application.
- Burgum also signed an executive order waiving hours of service for haulers of livestock, hay and water to help livestock producers battling extreme drought conditions across the state.
- With its partners at the North Dakota Forest Service and North Dakota National Guard, the Department of Emergency Services (DES) coordinated the response to significant wildland fire events, including an April 1 fire that encroached on Medora and prompted evacuations. Army National Guard Black Hawk helicopters supported local and regional firefighting efforts to save Medora by distributing water via 600-gallon water buckets.
- Local, tribal, state and federal agencies responded to two large wildfires from April 30 to May 2. The Roosevelt Creek Fire in the Little Missouri National Grassland, north of Medora, burned more than 4,600 acres, while another fire on the Fort Berthold Reservation, about six miles south of Mandaree, burned an estimated 9,800 acres.
- Total Army National Guard support, including to Mandaree, involved distributing over 100,000 gallons of water and eight Guard members working with the North Dakota Forest Service on the

As proposed in Accelerate ND, Burgum signed legislation providing funding to convert abandoned oil wells to permanent freshwater supply wells to enhance resiliency against drought conditions in western North Dakota. Itâ€™s estimated the $3.2 million appropriation will support the conversion of up to 16 wells. While serving and protecting citizens at home, DES also coordinated and resourced firefighting teams to provide aid to another state. A group of 15 firefighters from the Williston, Williston Rural, Bismarck Rural and Dickinson fire departments spent two weeks supporting Hurricane Ida recovery efforts in September along the Gulf Coast. This was after Burgum approved an Emergency Management Assistance Compact (EMAC) request from the state of Louisiana, allowing North Dakotaâ€™s firefighters to assist with fire suppression missions there. COVID-19 pandemic response <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Since January 2021, more than 900,000 doses of the COVID-19 vaccine have been administered in North Dakota. The percentage of adults in the state with at least one dose is 60.7%, and more than 83% of those over age 65 have started their vaccine series. The North Dakota Department of Health (NDDoH) State Laboratory processed more than 682,497 tests, and its hotline responded to more than 93,000 citizen calls and 4,100 emails. The NDDoH developed the North Dakota COVID-19 Impact Wall to connect North Dakotans impacted by the disease. The NDDoH developed and updated communication channels for citizens, including website dashboards for COVID-19 cases and vaccine distribution, so citizens could quickly access data to make informed decisions about their health. The COVID-19 cases dashboard had more than 2 million page views this year, and the COVID-19 vaccine dashboard had more than 400,000 page views in this time frame. The pandemic has the North Dakota National Guard serving its longest domestic response in history â€“ 638 days and nearly 128,000 personnel days as of Monday. Guard members have administered testing, facilitated over 103,000 doses of vaccine, conducted traffic control, partnered with local and tribal health organizations, and transported test samples to the state lab, among other duties. The DES has coordinated the obligation of more than $126 million through the Federal Emergency Management Agencyâ€™s Public Assistance Program. The agency assisted eligible local, state, tribal and nonprofit organizations in submitting applications to reimburse costs for medical care, testing and vaccinations, as well as costs required to perform safe opening and operations. Job Service North Dakota provided vital economic support to the unemployed by injecting over $1.2 billion into the economy since the start of the pandemic. In a typical year, Job Service will pay between $80 million to $90 million to recipients during times of economic downturns, but payments to unemployed recipients in 2021 alone had already reached $362 million by early December. Security and medical team members from the Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation (DOC&R) have cared for more than 950 residents diagnosed with COVID-19 at facilities across the state. Partnering with the NDDoH, DOC&R team members offered extensive testing and monoclonal antibody treatments to provide excellent care on-site to prevent serious illness. Very few COVID-positive residents required hospitalization, minimizing the impact on already strained community medical resources. The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) helped develop the executive proposal for over $1 billion in federal American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) investments, managed the distribution of over $25 million in ARPA funding to North Dakota cities, and managed the stateâ€™s reporting requirements for $1.25 billion in federal Coronavirus Relief Funds. Recognizing how employers play an essential role in healthy, vibrant communities, Job Service worked with policymakers to ensure that the Unemployment Insurance (UI) Trust Fund remained healthy and that employers were held harmless for UI benefit charges to their employees during 2020. As importantly, the steps taken ensured there were no unemployment tax rate increases for employers in 2021. By utilizing federal Cares Act dollars to strengthen the UI Trust Fund, it positioned the UI program to again hold rates flat in the upcoming 2022 calendar year. In addition to addressing drought and COVID challenges, the administration continued to make progress on the governorâ€™s five strategic initiatives: Main Street Initiative, Behavioral Health and Addiction, Tribal Engagement, Transforming Education and Reinventing Government. Main Street Initiative <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The Department of Commerce worked to increase infill and reduce property taxes by updating Renaissance Zones and working across state agencies to successfully stack and align state programs for mixed use and infill. North Dakota was one of only six states selected for the second phase of the National Governors Associationâ€™s Workforce Innovation Networks, in which states will deploy cross-agency teams to identify and implement strategies that advance digital skill development and more equitable economic participation. Commerceâ€™s Workforce Division is implementing systematic changes with $20 million allocated to improve talent attraction efforts. One strategy launched in 2021 involves a national project with RoleCall to address workforce needs by helping to make North Dakota a national leader in talent attraction innovation and action. The Main Street ND Summit, held in West Fargo this year, featured a lineup of renowned speakers and community innovators on the topic of smart, efficient infrastructure. Videos of the keynotes, breakout sessions and Main Street Awards can be viewed here. |

| | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Due to the many workforce challenges facing North Dakota, Job Service took a strategic, targeted approach to a statewide campaign called #JOBUPND. The campaign utilized several online ad platforms generating over 3 million impressions with a 75% view rate. • Smart, efficient infrastructure is a pillar of the Main Street Initiative, and infrastructure is vital to North Dakota's economy, commerce, agriculture, tourism and families. In 2021, the state of North Dakota made an unprecedented $2.3 billion dollar investment in infrastructure. • Recognizing the key role that parks play in creating healthy, vibrant communities, lawmakers approved and Burgum signed legislation during the special session investing $17.9 million in deferred maintenance and capital improvements at state parks, plus $5 million in matching funds to renovate and upgrade existing facilities in local park districts. The Legislature last spring also created a Challenge Grant for the Parks and Recreation Department to drive investment from the private and public sectors for parks. • Commerce, Job Service and the DOCR worked together on The Last Mile, a collaborative effort to provide instruction on front- and back-end website design to enable DOCR residents to be workforce ready in a highly technical field of coding and website design. • The Department of Water Resources' Cost-Share Program continued to advance critical water supply infrastructure in all areas of the state. For municipal water supply projects, $19.7 million was approved to benefit over 15,000 water users in communities of all sizes. Rural water systems received over $8 million for system expansions and improvements that will benefit over 20,000 water users. • The larger regional water supply systems, including the Western Area Water Supply, Red River Valley Water Supply, Southwest Pipeline Project, and Northwest Area Water Supply were approved for $93.6 million in state funding, and $20.4 million in federal Municipal, Rural and Industrial Water Supply Program funding. Combined, these four regional water supply systems will one day provide water service to 73% of North Dakota's population. Behavioral Health and Addiction <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • More than 650 in-person attendees and over 3,000 online viewers participated in the fifth Recovery Reinvented, a daylong event in Bismarck focused on reinventing recovery through eliminating the stigma of addiction. The governor and First Lady Kathryn Burgum shared the results of the statewide North Dakota Addressing Addiction survey, which found stigma has been reduced over the last three years. • The Department of Human Services completed statewide implementation of a behavioral health crisis services response system that includes crisis line, mobile response and walk-in services at its eight human service centers. At the Life Skills and Transition Center in Grafton, the system was expanded with a specialized team who respond to people with developmental and intellectual disabilities in crisis so they can continue to live successfully in their communities. Crisis response services de-escalate situations and prevent law enforcement involvement and unnecessary emergency room visits. • Building on the success of the Free Through Recovery program, Human Services launched the Community Connect program, which provides community-based behavioral health services designed to assist individuals with care coordination, peer support and recovery services. • Human Services also implemented a Medicaid 1915(i) state plan amendment, which allows North Dakota Medicaid to pay for additional in-home and community-based services to support individuals with behavioral health conditions. Services include care coordination, benefits planning, nonmedical transportation, respite, supported education, supported employment, housing and peer support. • The DOCR partnered with Restoring Promise, an initiative of the Vera Institute of Justice, and MILPA, to create a housing unit at the State Penitentiary grounded in dignity for young adults in prison. Restoring Promise helps transform correctional culture through training, presentations, workshops and healing circles, setting a new tone for the entire system. Young adults participate in meaningful daily activities, experience healing, cultivate an ideology of self-determination and restore relationships with family and community. Mentors over the age of 25 support them in their personal growth, and staff undergo intensive training to become agents of change within the system. • The Highway Patrol created a two-member crash assistance program that will provide enhanced services to victims of crashes, including providing information about understanding grief; reducing stress reactions after trauma; tools to process reactions to crisis and trauma; and information to support children as they process grief and trauma. Tribal Engagement <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The North Dakota National Guard finished signing memorandums of agreement with all five tribal colleges in North Dakota to make the State Tuition Assistance program available to qualified student service members attending college. • Burgum signed legislation providing a framework for the state and the Mandan, Hidatsa and Arikara (MHA) Nation to share tax revenue from oil wells that straddle the boundary of the Fort Berthold Reservation, settling an unresolved issue from the state's historic 2019 tax agreement with the MHA Nation. • The North Dakota Highway Patrol entered an agreement with the MHA Nation to enhance emergency response on the Fort Berthold Reservation. The agreement, signed by Burgum and MHA Chairman Mark Fox, allows the closest available peace officer to respond to an emergency call for service until the agency with primary jurisdiction arrives and assumes the lead. The agreement to allow mutual aid across reservation boundaries was made possible by legislation signed in 2019 and 2021. • Burgum also signed legislation to allow NDOT to enter into agreements with tribes and other government entities to assist with cybersecurity incident response, and to allow NDOT to enter into agreements with tribal governments to assist with federally funded safety improvement projects on tribal-owned highways, streets, roads and bridges. • The Hinohiuv Patrol created and implemented a five-member criminal intervention team that |

The team is tasked with working closely with tribal law enforcement to intercept illegal substances destined for North Dakota reservations. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> A pilot program that aims to ensure all justice-involved, at-risk tribal and non-tribal youth have access to similar services was extended for two years. Transforming Education <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Burgum signed #GoPathways to graduation legislation that capped a four-year collaborative effort to pave the way for authentic learning and flexibility in pathways for North Dakota students to achieve graduation. Creating personalized graduation pathways to complement the traditional credit-hour K-12 education system was the No. 1 recommendation from the Governor's Innovative Education Task Force created through executive order in 2017. Burgum proposed and ultimately signed legislation providing $38 million to Bismarck State College to create the state's first polytechnic institution. This new approach to higher education will equip students with the skills needed to fill in-demand careers throughout the state. The North Dakota Information Technology (NDIT) Cybersecurity Team enhanced IT security services for the K-12 education community as part of the IT Shared Services/Unification initiative. This increased cybersecurity posture for the K-12 community sets the stage for better response planning and defense, and better security around school and student data. NDIT also expanded Extended Detection Response in schools, added protection to 10,000 Chromebooks, and provided Security User Awareness training to over 2,500 users. NDIT also enabled a 24-hour service desk supported by live agents for all state agencies and school districts. In the past year, NDIT has processed an average of 12,000 incidents per month. By offering around-the-clock support, NDIT is better equipped to handle support queries more quickly while improving customer service and creating long-lasting relationships. Reinventing Government <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The North Dakota Department of Transportation (NDDOT) increased driver's license and motor vehicle kiosks to 52 locations across North Dakota. Citizens are now able to print their motor vehicle tabs, renew or request a replacement license or ID card, schedule a road test, pay a reinstatement fee, change their address and edit donor registry information without visiting an office. The department also increased online appointments and reduced customer wait times for driver's license and motor vehicle services from nearly 30 minutes to less than 10 minutes. The NDDOT also launched driver's license online knowledge tests, allowing North Dakotans an easy and convenient way to get their learner's permit 24/7 from anywhere with internet access. The Highway Patrol's unmanned aircraft systems (UAS) program became fully active in 2021 following several months of planning and officer training. The UAS program will provide enhanced crash reconstruction services and allow officers to assess dangerous incidents from a safe distance, such as fire hot spots, unknown package identification or quickly locating missing or dangerous individuals in rough terrain. The DES completed a new streamlined system to provide a one-stop shop for energy industry producers, transporters and developers, as well as the public, to report hazardous material spills and releases instead of reporting spills to multiple state agencies. The reporting system, available at www.spill.nd.gov or by calling 1-833-995PILL (1-833-997-7455), was supported by the Department of Environmental Quality, Department of Agriculture and the Industrial Commission's Oil and Gas Division. Wildfire response by the DES led to some dramatic improvements leveraging technology. One of those innovations was a GPS-configured wildland fire dashboard that provided leaders, planners and firefighters with better situational awareness. It was the first time data could be compiled through reports from local emergency managers and 9-1-1 calls, as well as historical data from the Integrated Reporting of Wildland-Fire Information (IRWIN) system used by fire departments. The DES also initiated a program to augment the state's firefighting capabilities and resources by creating a wildland task force for the state. The task force concept was adopted to allow local fire departments the ability to respond outside their jurisdictions, if needed. Departments that volunteer will coordinate directly with the Forest Service to preposition personnel and equipment for potential state wildfire suppression missions. The North Dakota Game and Fish Department became the first state in the nation to allow electronic posting of private land with the passage of Senate Bill 2144. The bill gives landowners and hunters alike a convenient option for posting private land and checking its status for hunting, while also leaving the traditional physical posting process in place for those who wish to continue using it. The Department of Human Services implemented the Safety Framework Practice model, which redesigned in-home child and family support services and foster care services to increase the number of children remaining safely in their homes. Human Services also launched statewide centralized intake for child abuse and neglect reporting in January 2021. Overall, the number of children living in foster care has decreased in 2021. Efforts are underway to continue shifting resources to in-home services to support children and their families together. The pandemic's challenges provided an opportunity for Job Service to reinvent how it ensures benefits are getting to those who need it and not to identity thieves and criminal enterprises. By implementing an industry-leading ID proofing/verification service and by expanding utilization of fraud detection data analytics, Job Service prevented over 8,000 fraudulent claims, which could have resulted in over $150 million in fraudulent payments. The North Dakota Healthcare Directive Registry development by NDIT was completed and is available at https://ssas.os.gov/ndohhs/directive-reg. This system allows citizens to store, maintain and retrieve important health care documents, such as advance directive documents that are key when determining proper patient care. Very strong:

- Workforce Safety & Insurance (WSI) successfully deployed upgrades to its myWSI and CAPS systems, providing better customer experience for internal and external customers through automation of manual tasks and online accessibility.
- The Department of Water Resources expanded the utility and functionality of PRESENS (Pushing Remote SENSors), a real-time water level monitoring program. The program now has a much broader range of data collection opportunities to include soil moisture, soil temperature and precipitation measurements. This real-time data will assist with water management into the future and will be used for modeling efforts and analysis. The department deployed more than 220 PRESENS units at peak operation, and aims to grow that number to around 1,000 units in the coming years.
- The Securities Department completed two significant technology projects designed to improve efficiency and the service experience for constituents. A new case management system facilitates the timely, effective and impactful execution of examinations and investigations to support the department's mission of protecting investors. And the new ND Securities Filing Portal delivers a fully electronic filing experience for issuers of securities and other filers, while completing the department's conversion to electronic systems for all securities and investment industry filings, which totaled approximately 148,000 in the last fiscal year.
- Five state agencies – the NDDOT, Department of Water Resources, Department of Environmental Quality, Public Finance Authority and Bank of North Dakota – collaborated to create Funding for Infrastructure in North Dakota (FINID), a central hub for local governments to apply for infrastructure funding. With five different infrastructure funding programs in the state, knowing which fund to apply for and completing multiple applications was a strain for city and county staff, but FINID provides a one-stop shop for applications. The site was gradually rolled out starting in June and has already received 13 applications.

Citizen-focused agencies make progress

In addition, state agencies worked hard to deliver core services and improve outcomes in many areas:

- Human Services launched a new early childhood division to focus resources on school readiness, strong, stable families; and quality early childhood experiences. To date, the division has awarded federal grant dollars to 713 North Dakota child care programs for financial stabilization.
- Human Services worked with housing partners to implement the new, more comprehensive ND Rent Help program to support housing stability and financial stability and promote strong, stable families. In 2021, 1,295 renter households received emergency rent or utility assistance from ND Rent Help, and 1,095 unique housing providers and utility providers received direct payments from the program. Total assistance disbursed through Nov. 30, 2021, was $13,428,408.
- Human Services improved access to in-home and community-based long-term support services so that older adults and adults with physical disabilities who qualify for skilled nursing care can live at home if they choose. North Dakotans can easily apply online or by phone through the Aging and Disability Resource LINK (ADRL) to get connected to in-home services.
- Human Service provided all Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) households with the maximum benefit amount for households their size. During 2021, approximately 17,800 North Dakota households benefited each month during the COVID-19 public health emergency.
- During the 67th Legislative Assembly, Burgum signed a bill to redesign the way nursing homes are paid by North Dakota Medicaid. Under this new payment system, nursing homes will be incentivized to provide cost-effective care and to renovate rather than build facilities. The new payment system will reduce overall expenses in the future, making it advantageous to taxpayers as well.
- In January 2021, Human Services assumed administration and operation of resettlement support services from contracted vendor Lutheran Social Services of North Dakota. Services help individuals adjust to life in North Dakota and become self-sufficient. The goal is to see New Americans accepted, integrated and supported as they add value to North Dakota and enrich the culture of their new communities. In 2021, 35 refugees resettled in North Dakota.
- The statewide cancer registry maintained by the NDDoH was recognized by the CDC as a Registry of Excellence. For the period December 2020 through November 2021, Women's Way screened 284 people for breast and/or cervical cancer. The program provides these important services to more than 70 women per month.
- The Women, Infants & Children (WIC) Program provided healthy food and support to more than 15,000 North Dakotans. The oral health program distributed 47,000 toothbrushes to 188 schools; 14 workplaces were designated as infant friendly, benefiting 3,821 employees, and the child passenger safety program launched new interactive maps and certified 67 technicians.
- The NDDoH distributed 1,560 state-of-the-art automated external defibrillators (AEDs) to law enforcement via a partnership with the Helmsley Charitable Trust. One of these AEDs was successfully deployed in August 2021 in Grand Forks and helped save a life.
- OMB launched Team ND Connect, a statewide intranet available to all state team members, and delivered Leadership Everywhere training to over 1,500 Team ND members. The agency also led a statewide change management initiative, launched a new website on the statewide platform and centralized certain printing and procurement services.
- Parks and Recreation began offering a new option for North Dakota State park annual permit holders. The family permit, authorized by the 67th Legislative Assembly, allows members of the same household to buy two annual permits at a discounted price of $55.
- The NDDOT finalized the long-range transportation plan, Transportation Connection. The 25-year plan helps identify future transportation needs in the state.
- The NDDOT and Parks and Recreation partnered to replace and install various signs to promote recreational opportunities across the state. The project is designed to increase visibility of state parks and help guide visitors to parks and recreational areas.
- Parks and Recreation also partnered with the State Historical Society to offer the North Dakota

NEAR THE RIO GRANDE, TEXAS (DEC. 15, 2021) – Gov. Doug Burgum and the North Dakota National Guard's adjutant general, Maj. Gen. Al Dohrmann, today visited the 125 soldiers from the Bismarck-based 957th Engineer Company serving along the U.S.-Mexico border in Texas, getting a first-hand look at their border mission and thanking them for their service in support of U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP).

The multi-role bridge unit was mobilized in October as requested by the U.S. Army through the National Guard Bureau to continue the southwest border military mission that began in 2018. They are expected to be deployed for approximately one year.

"These highly trained North Dakota National Guard soldiers are serving a critically important role in support of U.S. border security efforts along the southwest border," said Burgum, who serves as commander-in-chief of the North Dakota National Guard. "From the southwest border to our shared northern border with Canada, border security affects every state in the nation, from ensuring the safe and efficient flow of goods and services to stopping illegal immigration and drug and human trafficking. We're deeply grateful to our North Dakota soldiers for doing their part with courage and professionalism to support the efforts to end the humanitarian crisis and secure the southwest border."

While at the border, Burgum and Dohrmann received briefings from CBP and Guard officials and met with the soldiers and command team from the 957th to understand first-hand the ground truth of the record number of illegal crossings into the United States.

"I couldn't be more proud of the professionalism I saw within our soldiers during the visit down here," Dohrmann said. "I also gained a greater appreciation for the enormous challenge that Customs and Border Protection is facing down here, and really gained an appreciation for the work they do, the professionalism of that organization. I'm proud and humbled that the North Dakota National Guard can be part of the solution."

At nearly 2,000 miles long, the southwest border is the most frequently crossed international border in the world, with approximately 350 million documented crossings annually. More than 1.6 million migrants have been apprehended trying to cross the border illegally since January 2021. October data from CBP reported a record 164,303 apprehensions, a record for the month.

For the year ending Sept. 30, CBP officials recorded nearly 260,000 encounters with migrants attempting to cross the border illegally, compared with 40,000 the previous year in the 957th's operating sector. Burgum was among 26 Republican governors who sent President Biden a letter in September requesting a meeting with the president to discuss the ongoing crisis at the border. The request has not been granted. Created in 1987, the 957th has a rich history of mobilizations and has been extremely active the last 20 years, with several key deployments including Iraq in 2003-2004, Kosovo in 2009-2010 and Kuwait in 2019-2020. The unit also contributed to North Dakota's historic statewide flood fight in 2011. Due to security concerns, the military requested that the location of the 957th not be publicized. — # # # — - Photo cutlines Border photo 1: Gov. (JAN. 6, 2022) –Gov. Doug Burgum released the following statement today after the sale of Coal Creek Station to Rainbow Energy Center LLC cleared its final regulatory hurdle. The Minnesota Public Utilities Commission today unanimously approved the transfer of Coal Creek Station's high-voltage direct current transmission line from Great River Energy (GRE) to Nexus Line LLC, a subsidiary of Rainbow Energy Center LLC. Rainbow Energy Center and Nexus Line are both affiliates of Bismarck-based Rainbow Energy Marketing Corp. "This approval is a momentous step toward Rainbow Energy taking ownership of Coal Creek Station and providing a long-term future for the power plant, its workers and the communities supported by the hundreds of jobs at Coal Creek and the nearby Falkirk Mine," Burgum said. "It also offers North Dakota the opportunity to further prove that we can be a national and world leader in carbon capture, storage and utilization through our continued focus on innovation over regulation. Preserving the baseload generation that Coal Creek provides is critical to U.S. energy security and maintaining a strong regional power grid, and we're grateful to the industry, the state Legislature and our congressional delegation for their collaboration on ensuring a viable future for North Dakota's abundant lignite coal." Burgum and Lt. Gov. Brent Sanford began working with GRE to facilitate a sale of Coal Creek Station to a third party operator even before GRE announced in May 2020 its plans to close the 1,151-megawatt generating plant in Underwood during the second half of 2022. Burgum announced on March 25, 2021, that GRE was in exclusive negotiations to sell Coal Creek Station and GRE's high-voltage, direct current transmission system that extends between central North Dakota and Minnesota. The pending sale to Rainbow Energy Center and Nexus Line was announced June 30. In July, GRE's member cooperatives approved a related purchase power agreement under which GRE will buy 1,050 megawatts of power from Rainbow Energy Center for approximately two years, followed by 300 megawatts for approximately eight years. Burgum signed several bills during this year's legislative session that will support the lignite industry as it continues to innovate for the future and supply reliable, low-cost electricity for residents and businesses in North Dakota and beyond. Those bills included: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • House Bill 1412, which exempts coal plants from the state's coal conversion facility tax for the next five years. The bill is expected to save the industry over $20 million per year, freeing up funds to invest in innovative projects such as carbon capture and sequestration that will curb emissions and improve the industry's long-term viability. • Senate Bill 2152, which provides a sales tax exemption for carbon dioxide used for secure geologic storage. • SB 2206, which allows utilities to recover costs for carbon capture. Burgum and Sanford have promoted an all-of-the-above energy approach based on "innovation, not regulation" to advance energy development with environmental stewardship. Under the Burgum-Sanford administration, in 2018 North Dakota became the first state in the nation to receive approval from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to regulate geologic storage of carbon dioxide, which presents a huge economic opportunity for both the lignite industry and the oil industry through enhanced oil recovery. — # # # — CONTACT: Mike Nowatzki mnowatzki@nd.gov 701.328.2424 Mike Kennedy mikeneddy@nd.gov 701.328.2937 600 E Boulevard Ave. Bismarck ND 58505-0001 PHONE 701.328.2200         image001[15145].png, image002[15146].jpg, image003[15147].png, image004[15148].png, image005[15149].png, image006[15150].png  |

The pending sale to Rainbow Energy Center and Nexus Line was announced June 30. In July, GRE's member cooperatives approved a related purchase power agreement under which GRE will buy 1,050 megawatts of power from Rainbow Energy Center for approximately two years, followed by 300 megawatts for approximately eight years. Burgum signed several bills during this year's legislative session that will support the lignite industry as it continues to innovate for the future and supply reliable, low-cost electricity for residents and businesses in North Dakota and beyond. Those bills included: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • House Bill 1412, which exempts coal plants from the state's coal conversion facility tax for the next five years. The bill is expected to save the industry over $20 million per year, freeing up funds to invest in innovative projects such as carbon capture and sequestration that will curb emissions and improve the industry's long-term viability. • Senate Bill 2152, which provides a sales tax exemption for carbon dioxide used for secure geologic storage. • SB 2206, which allows utilities to recover costs for carbon capture. Burgum and Sanford have promoted an all-of-the-above energy approach based on "innovation, not regulation" to advance energy development with environmental stewardship. Under the Burgum-Sanford administration, in 2018 North Dakota became the first state in the nation to receive approval from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to regulate geologic storage of carbon dioxide, which presents a huge economic opportunity for both the lignite industry and the oil industry through enhanced oil recovery. — # # # — CONTACT: Mike Nowatzki mnowatzki@nd.gov 701.328.2424 Mike Kennedy mikeneddy@nd.gov 701.328.2937 600 E Boulevard Ave. Bismarck ND 58505-0001 PHONE 701.328.2200     |

Doug Burgum released the following statement today after the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that the Biden administration did not have authority to impose a vaccine mandate on private businesses with 100 or more employees. "Today's ruling reaffirms what we've said from the beginning: This misguided vaccine mandate was blatant federal overreach by the Biden administration," Burgum said. "Vaccines and boosters remain the best defense against COVID-19 severe illness, hospitalization and death and are readily available to all North Dakota residents, and we encourage those who haven't been vaccinated to consult with their trusted medical provider." The Supreme Court upheld 5-4 a separate vaccine mandate on employers who receive funding through federal Medicare or Medicaid programs, affecting an estimated 17 million health care workers. Burgum expressed his disappointment that hospitals and long-term care facilities won't be allowed to make their own vaccine decisions as private employers. |

(JAN. 26, 2022) – Gov. Doug Burgum today announced the construction of one of the largest data centers in the world near Williston as North Dakota continues to emerge as a hub for high-performance computing, including cryptocurrency mining. The Atlas Power Data Center being built by FX Solutions Inc. is part of a $1.9 billion, multiyear project that will require more than 100 workers during the two-year construction period and create more than 30 permanent jobs, according to Richard Tabish, president of Missoula, Mont.-based FX Solutions. Atlas Power, an operator of high-density facilities serving cryptocurrency mining and high-performance computing utilizing alternative power generation, will own and operate the data center following its completion. Burgum announced the project at a press conference with Tabish and Kevin Washington, founder and President of Atlas Power, which currently operates a 75-megawatt data center in Butte, Mont. "This major investment in North Dakota will further cement our state's growing reputation as a hub for data centers and cryptocurrency mining, thanks to our incredibly reliable, affordable and redundant power supply and a climate that lowers cooling costs for data center operations," Burgum said. "With our all-of-the-above energy approach and nation-leading efforts in carbon capture, utilization and storage, we are well-positioned to support data centers and other energy-intensive industries with environmental stewardship while attracting high-paying jobs and diversifying our economy." The first phase of the project will consist of 16 buildings, each 350 feet long by 30 feet wide, to house tens of thousands of servers that will conduct high-performance computing using 240 megawatts of electricity. Phases 2 and 3 call for expanding to 500 megawatts and then 700 megawatts, adding additional buildings and servers. "We're thrilled to partner with Governor Burgum, FX Solutions and Mountrail-Williams Electric Cooperative to announce the construction of Atlas Power's second facility," Washington said. "Building on the success of our Butte, Montana location, Phase One of the Williston site alone will become Atlas's largest center of operations, while also ensuring we draw on a diversified mix of alternative power sources. As a company with strong Mountain West roots, we applaud the Governor's efforts to support the growth of North Dakota's crypto sector and are pleased to bring new tech-sector jobs to the region." "North Dakota is going to be a true leader worldwide in this industry," Tabish said. "Our ability to energize and build this project is creating a speed to market never seen before in this space. I have had the pleasure of witnessing the progressive development in this region with our construction and consulting division in Mountrail and Williams counties, and the support this project has received from MWEC and myriad local and state leaders is paramount. I am extremely happy to be back in North Dakota, adding to the forward thinking that Gov. Burgum has been implementing to buttress the already robust business culture." Sitework for the first phase of the project started earlier this month on a 77-acre site west of Williston. A 100-by-400-foot inflatable dome will be erected to allow for construction through the winter months. Mountrail-Williams Electric Cooperative will supply power to the data center, with the ability to supply the quantity of electricity required for the facility from multiple sources to support 24/7 operations. An electrical substation is already built near the data center with available capacity. "Our new data center member has great expectations of MWEC, and we are prepared and committed to their success and to our community," MWEC General Manager Dale Haugen said. — * * * — CONTACT: Mike Nowatzki mnowatzki@nd.gov 701.328.2424 Mike Kennedy mikakennedy@nd.gov 701.328.2937 600 E Boulevard Ave. Bismarck ND 58505-0001 PH: 701.328.2200      |

| Body |  NEWS: FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE Burgum releases statement on passing of Attorney General Wayne Stenehjem, orders flags at half-staff VIEW THIS RELEASE ONLINE: governor.nd.gov BISMARCK, N.D. (JAN. 28, 2022) – Gov. Doug Burgum released the following statement today regarding the passing of longtime North Dakota Attorney General Wayne Stenehjem. Stenehjem was the longest-serving attorney general in North Dakota history, having held the position for 21 years. He was elected as the state's 29th attorney general in 2000 and was re-elected in 2004, 2006, 2010, 2014 and 2018. Stenehjem also served in the North Dakota Legislature for 24 years, including four years in the House and 20 years in the Senate, where he was chair of the Senate Judiciary Committee from 1995-2000. He announced on Dec. 17, 2021, that he would not seek another term in office as attorney general. Stenehjem died today at age 68. "Like so many North Dakotans who treasured his friendship and admired him for his more than four decades of exceptional service to our state, we are absolutely devastated by the passing of Attorney General Wayne Stenehjem," Burgum said. "Wayne embodied public service, both as a dedicated legislator and the longest-serving attorney general in our state's 133-year history. As the top law enforcement officer in North Dakota for over two decades, Attorney General Stenehjem always put the safety and well-being of our citizens first. North Dakota is a safer place because of his unwavering commitment to law and order, his loyalty to his team members and his utmost respect for our men and women in uniform. State and local governments also are more transparent thanks to his strong enforcement of North Dakota's sunshine laws. "On a personal level, Wayne was extremely proud of his small-town roots, his ties to UND and time spent practicing law in Grand Forks, and especially his Scandinavian heritage. His dry Norwegian humor was at its sidesplitting best at Norsk Høsfest in Minot during the induction ceremonies for the Scandinavian-American Hall of Fame – an honor he himself received in 2007. Most of all, he was a loving husband and father, often sharing photos of his travels with Beth and beaming with pride as he would carry a plate of her Scotcheroos into a meeting or talk about son Andrew's military service and latest adventures. "It was an honor and a privilege to serve alongside Wayne on the North Dakota Industrial Commission and state Land Board. No matter how complex or contentious the issue, we all benefited from his incredible intellect, legal expertise and professionalism. He cared deeply about North Dakota and wanted only the best for its citizens. Kathryn and I extend our deepest condolences and prayers to Beth, Andrew and the entire Stenehjem family, his current and former colleagues from the Attorney General's Office and Legislature, his friends throughout state government and the entire law enforcement community as we grieve this terrible loss." Burgum has directed all government agencies to fly the United States and North Dakota flags at half-staff until further notice and encourages North Dakotans to do the same at their homes and businesses, in honor of Stenehjem and his longtime service to the state. — # # # — CONTACT: Mike Nowatzki mnowatzki@nd.gov 701.328.2424 Mike Kennedy mik Kennedy@nd.gov 701.328.2937 600 E Boulevard Ave. Bismarck ND 58505-0001 PHONE 701.328.2200     |

Louisiana is in the process of drafting a complaint. We will have draft declarations available today. We have identified about 6 program directors willing to sign declarations (some more detailed than others).

We plan to file in the Western District of La, which at this point is where most if not all our declarations will come from. As a practical matter, I don't think we can get the Complaint and PI filed until next week so we are

Elizabeth,

The State of South Dakota is a body politic created by the Constitution and laws of the State; as such, it is not a citizen of any state. This action is brought by the State in its sovereign capacity in order to protect the interests of the State of South Dakota and its citizens as paratus patriae, by and through Jason R. Ramsborg, the Attorney General of the State of South Dakota. The Attorney General is acting pursuant to his authority to appear for the State and prosecute any civil matter in which the State is a party or interested when, in his judgment, the welfare of the State demands. SDCL 1-11-11-12.

Thanks,

David

Subject: Re: ACF/OHS/HHS - Head Start Mandate

Louisiana is in the process of drafting a complaint. We will have draft declarations available today. We have identified about 6 program directors willing to sign declarations (some more detailed than others).

We plan to file in the Western District of La, which at this point is where most if not all our declarations will come from. As a practical matter, I don't think we can get the Complaint and PI filed until next week so we are

Elizabeth,

The State of South Dakota is a body politic created by the Constitution and laws of the State; as such, it is not a citizen of any state. This action is brought by the State in its sovereign capacity in order to protect the interests of the State of South Dakota and its citizens as parvum potius, by and through Jason R. Ravensborg, the Attorney General of the State of South Dakota. The Attorney General is acting pursuant to his authority to appear for the State and prosecute any civil matter in which the State is a party or interested when, in his judgment, the welfare of the State demands. SDCL Â§1-11-1(2).

Thanks.

Louisiana is in the process of drafting a complaint. We will have draft declarations available today. We have identified about 6 program directors willing to sign declarations (some more detailed than others).

We plan to file in the Western District of La, which at this point is where most if not all our declarations will come from. As a practical matter, I don't think we can get the Complaint and PI filed until next week so we are shooting for Tuesday of next week.

We welcome all joins.

Elizabeth,

The State of South Dakota is a body politic created by the Constitution and laws of the State; as such, it is not a citizen of any state. This action is brought by the State in its sovereign capacity in order to protect the interests of the State of South Dakota and its citizens as parvum potius, by and through Jason R. Ravensborg, the Attorney General of the State of South Dakota. The Attorney General is acting pursuant to his authority to appear for the State and prosecute any civil matter in which the State is a party or interested when, in his judgment, the welfare of the State demands. SDCL Â§1-11-1(2).

Thanks.

I will share this afternoon. Happy to take edits too. We are just compiling our notes from talking to Directors and teachers. If you have someone who has more to add or has special expertise in speech development and early childhood ed then just adapt.

Subject: RE: ACF/OHS/HHS - Head Start Mandate

Louisiana is in the process of drafting a complaint. We will have draft declarations available today. We have identified about 6 program directors willing to sign declarations (some more detailed than others).

We plan to file in the Western District of La, which at this point is where most if not all our declarations will come from. As a practical matter, I don't think we can get the Complaint and PI filed until next week so we are shooting for Tuesday of next week.

We welcome all joins.

I will send you a couple of model declarations. To the extent you have cooperative Head Start officials, it certainly helps. I will send you something later today that you can use and feel free to modify. It would help to know who you have that would sign. State officials say something a different from Program Directors and Teachers.

Elizabeth,

I will share this afternoon. Happy to take edits too. We are just compiling our notes from talking to Directors and teachers. If you have someone who has more to add or has special expertise in speech development and early childhood ed then just adapt.

Subject: RE: ACT/OHS/IRIS - Head Start Mandate

Louisiana is in the process of drafting a complaint. We will have draft declaration available today. We have identified about 6 program directors willing to sign declarations (some more detailed than others).

We plan to file in the Western District of La., which at this point is where most if not all our declarations will come from. As a practical matter, I don't think we can get the Complaint and PF filed until next week so we are shooting for Tuesday of next week.

We welcome all joiners.

I will send you a couple of model declarations. To the extent you have cooperative Head Start officials, it certainly helps. I will send you something later today that you can use and feel free to modify. It would help to know who you have that would sign. State officials say something a different from Program Directors and Teachers.

Elizabeth,

The State of South Dakota is a body politic created by the Constitution and laws of the State: as such, it is not a the State of South Dakota and its citizens ex parte priorior, by and through Jason R. Ramsborg, the Attorney General of the State of South Dakota. The Attorney General is acting pursuant to his authority to appear for the State and prosecute any civil matter in which the State is a party or interested when, in his judgment, the welfare of the State demands. SDCL A§1-11-1(2).

I will share this afternoon. Happy to take edits too. We are just compiling our notes from talking to Directors and teachers. If you have someone who has more to add or has special expertise in speech development and early childhood ed then just adapt.

Subject: RE: ACT/OHS/HS - Head Start Mandate

Louisiana is in the process of drafting a complaint. We will have draft declaration available today. We have identified about 6 program directors willing to sign declarations (some more detailed than others).

We plan to file in the Western District of La., which at this point is where most if not all our declarations will come from. As a practical matter, I don't think we can get the Complaint and PF filed until next week so we are shooting for Tuesday of next week.

We welcome all joiners.

As soon as possible. I won't be able to file today, and it's probably unrealistic to hope for tomorrow. But I would like to try and get docs by Friday morning.

Elizabeth,
What kind of deadline do you have for declarations?

I will send you a couple of model declarations. To the extent you have cooperative Head Start officials, it certainly helps. I will send you something later today that you can use and feel free to modify. It would help to know who you have that would sign. State officials say something a different from Program Directors and Teachers.

Just let me know.

Elizabeth,

The State of South Dakota is a body politic created by the Constitution and laws of the State; as such, it is not a citizen of any state. This action is brought by the State in its sovereign capacity in order to protect the interests of the State of South Dakota and its citizens as parens patriae, by and through Jason R. Ramsborg, the Attorney General of the State of South Dakota. The Attorney General is acting pursuant to his authority to appear for the State and prosecute any civil matter in which the State is a party or interested when, in his judgment, the welfare of the State demands. SDCL §1-11-1(2).

Thanks.

I will share this afternoon. Happy to take edits too. We are just compiling our notes from talking to Directors and teachers. If you have someone who has more to add or has special expertise in speech development and early childhood ed then just adapt.

Subject: RE: ACT/OHS/HHS - Head Start Mandate

Louisiana is in the process of drafting a complaint. We will have draft declarations available today. We have identified about 6 program directors willing to sign declarations (some more detailed than others)

We plan to file in the Western District of La, which at this point is where most if not all our declarations will come from. As a practical matter, I don't think we can get the Complaint and PI filed until next week so we are shooting for Tuesday of next week.

We welcome all joiners

Counsel,
Kentucky would be interested in knowing if anyone in this group may be considering litigation related to the recent Head Start Mandate. See Published rule, <https://public-inspection.federalregister.gov/2021-25869.pdf>
If so, please let me know.

As soon as possible. I won't be able to file today, and it's probably unrealistic to hope for tomorrow. But I would like to try and get docs by Friday morning.

Elizabeth,
What kind of deadline do you have for declarations?

I will send you a couple of model declarations. To the extent you have cooperative Head Start officials, it certainly helps. I will send you something later today that you can use and feel free to modify. It would help to know who you have that would sign. State officials say something a different from Program Directors and Teachers.

Elizabeth,

The State of South Dakota is a body politic created by the Constitution and laws of the State; as such, it is not a citizen of any state. This action is brought by the State in its sovereign capacity in order to protect the interests of the State of South Dakota and its citizens as parens patriae, by and through Jason R. Ramsborg, the Attorney General of the State of South Dakota. The Attorney General is acting pursuant to his authority to appear for the State and prosecute any civil matter in which the State is a party or interested when, in his judgment, the welfare of the State demands. SDCL §1-11-1(2).

Thanks.

 Subject: RE: ACT/OHS/HHS - Head Start Mandate

Louisiana is in the process of drafting a compliant. We will have draft declarations available today. We have identified about 6 program directors willing to sign declarations (some more detailed than others)

We plan to file in the Western District of La, which at this point is where most if not all our declarations will come from. As a practical matter, I don't think we can get the Complaint and PI filed until next week so we are shooting for Tuesday of next week.

We welcome all joiners

A reminder that we extended our join date for this amicus brief in support of Arizona's motion to dismiss claims of election-law discrimination. Please let me know by noon tomorrow if you'd like to join our efforts. Thanks.

Subject: RE: Draft States Amicus Brief - Mi Familia Vota v. Hobbs

Happy Friday everyone. We've decided to push our amicus filing until next week Tuesday to give everyone more time to join. So please let us know if you'd like to join by Tuesday, January 25 at noon. To recap the brief – voting-rights plaintiffs shouldn't be allowed to take insufficient section 2 results allegations and just claim "discriminatory purpose" in order to survive a motion to dismiss. We'd like to make a strong showing in support of Arizona on this one, so let me know if you have any questions or concerns about the brief. Thanks!

Beth

That it was not only me but also my counterparts in the other human service centers in the state. I was told that part of my accounts payable duties and others that had the same position as me, were going to be done by the Business Managers and the rest of it was going to 2 office assistants at SEHSC who would take over the remainder of our duties statewide. I was told that this decision was made by Donna Aukland. I asked why those positions that were given to SEHSC staff were not posted internally for me or others to apply for and I did not receive an answer, even though Jeff Stenseth was in the meeting and would certainly know why his staff were just handed out duties. I was told that Donna would be giving us new job duties but there has been nothing so far and that the new duties would have nothing to do with anything that I had experience in. I am retiring in January (a little earlier than I intended because of this) and am very bitter that my 13 years with the state is ending this way. I know that the decisions that were made had nothing to do with my job performance because I was excellent in my position as everyone can attest to. What I would like from you is an explanation on how this can happen? How and why would I and others not have been able to at least apply for the job that was being taken away from us and just given to others with no notice? Is this a new direction the state is going in regards to how they treat state employees? Are you the person that can answer my questions or would it be legal or someone else? Your response will not change anything. I will retire in January but like I said, this has had an impact on my mental health and I feel that I am at least owed an explanation and should have asked for it months ago. Thank you Becky Savaloja Account Tech II Northeast Human Service Center |

Marcie—

I have not heard from you regarding a time to verbally discuss. Please talk to Donna and Jeff before we talk. If there is one thing I am certain of, it is that laws were broken in not posting the positions given to two Fargo staff for accounts payable entry statewide.

Things are in self destruct mode here at NDHSC which in the end will be good overall for anyone that ends of staying at NDHSC going forward. If anyone does stay.

Good Morning Marcie,

I know from prior staff that grievances go nowhere and it almost always hurts the staff that files them. I did look at the grievance form and it said that it needed to be filed with 15 days of incident. I am questioning what happened long after 15 days has past and just want a few answers before I retire. I have included others in this email because they need to know what is going on if they are not aware already. I am not going to personally talk to Jeff Stenseth or Donna Aukland about this because I am afraid of what they would potentially do to me.

In further clarification:

I received verbal notification in a meeting (no written notice) from Lynn Bingham with Jeff Stenseth present and a few other staff that were also having some minor duties removed. Again, Lynn apologized for not giving me more notice but said he was instructed not to! I just left Lynn Bingham's office and asked Lynn who he received the instruction from as far as giving me no notice that all my duties were being taken away. He said it was Donna Aukland. He said Donna, in meetings, told all business managers not to say anything to staff until they met with staff the end of July. Lynn Bingham threw out the response that their office was bigger or something to that effect, which of course I knew had nothing to do with anything. Jeff Stenseth sat there and said nothing regarding that.

My questions remain—

- Why didn't the two office assistants have to apply for the jobs they got working on accounts payable for the whole state? Jobs that were taken from others statewide and just given to them? Is it not policy that these positions should have been opened up for me or others to have applied for if we wished? That is a question that I believe you would have the answer to Marcie.

Becky, you are correct that I am out. I arranged for a colleague to contact you during my absence to discuss your concerns. Her name is Joanie Pesek and she is ccd on this email. I apologize if this email is duplicate - sending it from my phone.

I would again encourage you to follow your chain of command. You also have the employee grievance process available to you.

In a previous message you suggested that I talk to Donna Aukland and Jeff Stenseth. I do not know all of the questions you have. It would be most appropriate for you to start with Jeff as I believe he is next in your chain of command, but you have refused to do that.

Joanie will be reaching out to you.

I have waited for Marcie to set a time to discuss concerns with me since December 22nd, as she suggested, with no response. Now I see she is on leave until the day I retire. I expect a call from someone regarding my concerns listed below before I retire. All of you have been very good at ignoring my issues and the issues of many, many other staff within the Dept of Human Services hoping they will quietly disappear. I know you are all very aware of the issues and chalking the way you are treating state employees, that have years of service, with never any complaint about their work, under the guise of "restructure" is inhumane or worse. If you are not part of the solution, you are part of the problem as the saying goes.

Wayne, as a prior next door neighbor of yours in Grand Forks, I am including you in this email. I wonder if you have any idea what has been going on in the Department of Human Services for the past while and all the staff that are quitting because of the way they [we] are being treated? I truly believe things need to be looked into very deeply.....starting of course at the top.

Marcy---

I have not heard from you regarding a time to verbally discuss. Please talk to Donna and Jeff before we talk. If there is one thing I am certain of, it is that laws were broken in not posting the positions given to two Fargo staff for accounts payable entry statewide.

Things are in self destruct mode here at NEHSC which in the end will be good overall for anyone that ends of staying at NEHSC going forward. If anyone does stay.

Thank you for the response Becky. I understand that you are frustrated and I do want to assure that your questions are answered, even though your concerns go back further than 15 days. In order to look into what your questions are, discussion will need to be held with Jeff Stenseth and Donna Aukland. As you point out, the grievance process is a written process with specific time limits governed by Century Code and Administrative Rule. But that does not mean that issues cannot be resolved by other means.

I would add that when reorganizations occur, certain processes are handled differently, but still are required to be follow State and Federal employment laws. This reorganization would be no different.

I'm not sure when your last day of work is, but would you have any time next week or the following week to connect and we can verbally walk through your concerns?

Subject: RE: Question---are you going to reply or confirm receipt of below email?

Good Morning Marcie,

I know from prior staff that grievances go nowhere and it almost always hurts the staff that files them. I did look at the grievance form and it said that it needed to be filed with 15 days of incident. I am questioning what happened long after 15 days has past and just want a few answers before I retire. I have included others in this email because they need to know what is going on if they are not aware already. I am not going to personally talk to Jeff Stenseth or Donna Aukland about this because I am afraid of what they would potentially do to me.

In further clarification:

I received verbal notification in a meeting (no written notice) from Lynn Bingham with Jeff Stenseth present and a few other staff that were also having some minor duties removed. Again, Lynn apologized for not giving me more notice but said he was instructed not to! I just left Lynn Bingham's office and asked Lynn who he received the instruction from as far as giving me no notice that all my duties were being taken away. He said it was Donna Aukland. He said Donna, in meetings, told all business managers not to say anything to staff until they met with staff the end of July. The meeting occurred at the very end of July and I was told I was losing almost all of accounts payable duties immediately. There was another staff or two in the office that were also losing a few duties but I was the only one losing 90 percent or more along with others in my position in the state. I'm sure this was due to statewide reorganization. That is not the problem or the question. In the meeting it was said that some of my duties, going forward, were going to be required to be done by the business managers and the remainder was being given to two office assistants in SEHSC. I immediately asked why these 2 staff were just given all of my duties other than what the business manager was to do. Lynn Bingham threw out the response that their office was bigger or something to that effect, which of course I knew had nothing to do with anything. Jeff Stenseth sat there and said nothing regarding that.

My questions remain---

- Why didn't the two office assistants have to apply for the jobs they got working on accounts payable for the whole state? Jobs that were taken from others statewide and just given to them? Is it not policy that these positions should have been opened up for me or others to have applied for if we wished?

This, most likely, would be a question for Donna Aukland and Jeff Stenseth. • Donna Aukland said there would be other duties to replace the ones I lost but I was never given anything? I do not know if my counterparts statewide were given new duties or not. Also please note that Lynn Bingham asked Donna several times, if I could help him out with duties given to him and Donna said No. I expect that Donna and Jeff will come up with excuses that in their minds they can justify. I however, think it is very sad what they, and possibly their superiors, are doing to so many employees within the state. Jeff Stenseth introduces himself at meetings as the person who they bring in to get rid of staff but that it is not true. I have heard him say this on more than one occasion as has everyone else here. You do not get a reputation for something that is not deserved so of course it is true. I am not certain that he was trying to get rid of me. Sent: Friday, December 3, 2021 3:11 PM To: Wultschick, Marcie D. <mwultschick@nd.gov> Subject: Question Marcie— Something has been bothering me and I would like your input on it. The end of July, I was told by my supervisor that I would be losing most of my job duties immediately the next day and he told me he was sorry he did not give me more notice but that he was instructed not to. That it was not only me but also my counterparts in the other human service centers in the state. I was told that part of my accounts payable duties and others that had the same position as me, were going to be done by the Business Managers and the rest of it was going to 2 office assistants at SEHSC who would take over the remainder of our duties statewide. I was told that this decision was made by Donna Aukland. I asked why those positions that were given to SEHSC staff were not posted internally for me or others to apply for and I did not receive an answer, even though Jeff Stenseth was in the meeting and would certainly know why his staff were just handed our duties. I was told that Donna would be giving us new job duties but there has been nothing so far and that the new duties would have nothing to do with anything that I had experience in. I am retiring in January (a little earlier than I intended because of this) and am very bitter that my 15 years with the state is ending this way. I know that the decisions that were made had nothing to do with my job performance because I was excellent in my position as everyone can attest to. What I would like from you is an explanation on how this can happen? How and why would I and others not have been able to at least apply for the job that was being taken away from us and just given to others with no notice? Is this a new direction the state is going in regards to how they treat state employees? Are you the person that can answer my questions or would it be legal or someone else? Your response will not change anything. I will retire in January but like I said, this has had an impact on my mental health and I feel that I am at least owed an explanation and should have asked for it months ago. Thank you Becky Savaloja Accounts Tech II Northeast Human Service Center |

STENEHJEM: GIFT CARD SCAMS ON THE INCREASE

BISMARCK, ND – As the holidays approach, Attorney General Wayne Stenehjem reminds North Dakotans that gift cards are for gifts.

“Only buy gift cards if you are giving them as gifts to family or friends, because gift cards are a favorite tool used by scam artists,” cautioned Stenehjem.

According to the Federal Trade Commission, many gift card scams start with a phone call from someone impersonating a government agency. Scammers may claim that they will freeze your accounts or threaten to arrest you, unless you make an immediate payment. The scammers will even stay on the phone with their victims while they go to the store to purchase specific gift cards or a prepaid card. Once the victim has purchased the gift cards, the scam artist asks them for the numbers on the back of the cards. Those numbers are all anyone needs to go online from anywhere in the world and transfer the balance of the gift card into their own account.

“No government agency ever accepts gift cards to pay a debt,” Stenehjem warned.

The Attorney General’s Consumer Protection division reports that in the last two weeks, they have received nine reports from victims of gift card scams, with losses totaling $45,000. The victims, who range in age from 26 to 75, reportedly fell for different versions of the scam, including:

- telephone calls from fake government officials threatening the victim would lose their benefits;
- phony sweepstakes officials pretending the victim had won a prize but needed to make an upfront payment;
- fake online job listings; and
- false account payment error emails supposedly from Amazon and other well-known businesses.

“The one thing all these scams had in common is that the victim was told to purchase prepaid cards and gift cards,” said Parrell Grossman, director of the Consumer Protection division. “The government and legitimate companies do not demand that you make payments using gift cards. If that is what you are told, it is guaranteed to be a scam,” he continued.

| Body | A new Attorney General's Opinion has been issued: Opinion #: 2021-L-04 Date issued: December 30, 2021 Issued to: Ethics Commission Request: Is Article XIV Section 2(5) of the North Dakota State Constitution an unconstitutional restriction of the First Amendment freedom of association, because of its restriction on campaign contributions? Conclusion: Section 2(5) requires recusal of a public official in a quasi-judicial role where there is an appearance of bias to a reasonable person in order to provide a fair tribunal for adjudication of the issue. It does not restrict a party's political speech. Because ND Const. art XIV, Section 2(5) requires recusal and does not limit political speech, it is not manifestly contrary to the federal constitution and therefore, likely to be upheld by a court of competent jurisdiction. You can view this opinion at: ETHICS COMMISSION RESTRICTIONS ON CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS The requirement for recusal of a public official if there is an appearance of bias to a reasonable person is not manifestly contrary to the federal constitution and therefore likely to be upheld by a court of competent jurisdiction. https://attorneygeneral.nd.gov/sites/ag/files/documents/Opinions/2021/Letter/2021-L-04.pdf North Dakota Office of Attorney General Wayne Stenehjem Attorney General |

Statement of Attorney General Wayne Stenehjem in response to today's Supreme Court decisions on vaccine mandates

I am pleased that the Supreme Court, by a 6-3 vote, held that the federal Occupational Safety & Health Administration lacked constitutional authority under its "workplace safety" regulations to impose a vaccine mandate that would have affected more than 80 million employees across the country.

As the Supreme Court majority opinion stated, "Although Congress has indisputably given OSHA the power to regulate occupational dangers, it has not given that agency the power to regulate public health more broadly."

I can appreciate the distinction the Supreme Court made between the OSHA mandate for workers generally and the CMS mandates for medical workers, but I continue to have serious concerns about the effect the ruling will have on retaining health care workers, many of whom may elect to simply quit rather than get the vaccine, seriously exacerbating staffing issues, especially in our rural medical facilities.

As I have emphasized from the beginning, the lawsuits were not about whether people should get vaccinated, they were about opposing federal overreach.

Two other lawsuits continue, one against the federal mandate for federal contractors, and the other for employees, volunteers, and children with Head Start programs.

ATTORNEY GENERAL STENEHJEM WORKS TO STOP INTERNATIONAL SCAM CALLS

BISMARCK, ND – This week, Attorney General Wayne Stenehjem joined a bipartisan group of attorneys general in urging the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) to adopt measures to help stem the tide of foreign-based illegal robocalls that attempt to scam Americans.

"Illegal robocalls are more than just a nuisance. Every day, my office receives reports from victims of these scam calls. Unfortunately, when consumers unwittingly respond to these calls, they may lose thousands of dollars, often with financially devastating results. I will continue my efforts to protect North Dakotans," said Stenehjem, who reminded consumers not to accept or return any of these calls under any circumstances.

The comment letter, which was signed by the attorneys general from all 50 states, calls for the FCC to require "gateway providers" – companies that allow foreign calls into the United States – to take steps to reduce how easily robocalls have been able to enter the US telephone network, including requiring those providers to implement caller ID technology that helps prevent spoofed calls.

The letter states that based upon consumer complaints, these fraudulent foreign-originated robocalls often involve caller ID spoofing US phone numbers. The attorneys general called on the FCC to take decisive action, stating "[T]he time has come to start cutting the strings that form the nets that these illegal robocallers cast over the public."

The attorneys general asked the FCC to require these gateway providers to take additional steps to reduce robocalls, including to:

- Block calls when providers are aware of an illegal or likely fraudulent caller.
- Block calls that originate from numbers that are on a "do not originate" list – such as government phone numbers that take incoming calls only.
- Ensure that foreign telephone companies they partner with are ensuring that calls are being made from legitimate numbers.
- Respond to requests from law enforcement, state attorneys general, or the FCC to trace back calls within 24 hours.

The attorneys general encouraged the FCC to require all phone companies to block calls from any gateway provider that fails to meet these requirements. Illegal robocalls are a scourge – in 2020, Americans lost more than $520 million through robocall scams.

Conclusion: At its regular meeting, the Hettinger School Board received a letter from the Hettinger Agriculture Education Advisory Board Committee recommending that a part time teaching position become full-time. The Board then passed a motion to enter an executive session to "discuss negotiating strategy." The meeting notice failed to provide any information to the public about the topic of the executive session. During the approximately 41-minute executive session no actual negotiation discussion took place; rather, the board members talked unrelated topics. Programming for middle and high school students can present a major challenge, especially when combatting just how busy of lives teens typically live. The middle and high school years offer more opportunities for classes and extracurriculars, as well as work outside of school. Then, thereâ€™s the balance of keeping up with social groups, hopefully getting enough sleep, and finding time to maybe (just maybe) sit down for meals instead of eating on the go. In short, teens have a lot going on, and school libraries want to fit into teensâ€™ priority lists! One of the best ways to accommodate for teensâ€™ hectic schedules involves using passive or anti-program activities. Schadlich clarifies anti-programs as activities that are left up for an extended period (such as a whole week) and can be conducted at teensâ€™ leisure (2015). Schadlichâ€™s book&nbsp;Cooking Up Library Programs Teens and â€™Tweens Will Love&nbsp;outlines various options for anti-programming ideas and is available at the North Dakota State Library.&nbsp;&nbsp;&nbsp; Another way to draw in tweens and teens is through Teen Advisory Boards. A Teen Advisory Board (TAB) puts teens at the forefront of their own library programming. TABs can be as active or inactive as their participants (and library personnel) want. Thanks, Matt. This 9th Circuit panel decision is astounding and my recommendation will be to join after we have had an opportunity to join the amicus brief.

Colleagues,

The Ninth Circuit issued an opinion at the end of December affirming the class action settlement in In Re Google Inc. Street View Electronic Communications Litigation (opinion attached). Your AGs previously signed on to the amicus brief that we filed in the Ninth Circuit in August 2020 (also attached).

As a reminder, this is a case where the settlement creates a $13 million cash fund, but the entire fund is being sent to class counsel, class representatives, and cy pres recipients. Additionally, the settlement's injunctive

| Body | relier mirrored relief already obtained by 39 State AGs in 2013. Judge Bade wrote the opinion for the court, affirming the district court's order certifying the class, approving the settlement agreement, and awarding attorneys' fees. But Judge Bade also wrote a separate concurrence expressing general concerns about cy pres awards. The objector has filed a petition for rehearing and rehearing en banc (attached). We intend to file a short amicus brief in support of the petition. Our brief will focus on the importance of this issue, as evidenced by the Supreme Court granting a petition in a similar case a few years ago (in which they ultimately did not reach the merits). We will also include some of the language in our original brief about cy pres in class actions generally. The brief is due January 20th, but because of the quick turnaround, we may not be able to circulate until a day or two before and wanted to give you advance notice of the request to join. If you have any questions in the meantime, please feel free to reach out to me, Keena, or Beau. Best, Kate Sawyer Assistant Solicitor General    Office of the Attorney General Solicitor General's Office 2005 N Central Ave, Phoenix, AZ 85004 Direct: 602-542-8304 Kate.Sawyer@azag.gov   <hr/> From: Sawyer, Kate Sent: Thursday, August 20, 2020 11:13 AM To: Sawyer, Kate <Kate.Sawyer@azag.gov> Cc: Skinner, OH <O.H.Skinner@azag.gov> Subject: Google Street View Amicus Brief - 9th Circuit Colleagues, Attached please find the as-filed Amicus Brief in the Google Street View class action matter in the 9th Circuit, which we filed last evening. As a reminder, this is a case where the settlement created a $13 million fund, but the entire fund is being sent to class counsel, class representatives, and cy pres recipients. And the settlement's injunctive relief mirrored relief already obtained by 39 State AGs in 2013. We are very happy to report that we ended up with a 13-state bipartisan coalition consisting of: Arizona, Alabama, Alaska, Arkansas, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas, Louisiana, Missouri, Nevada, North Dakota, Ohio, and Oklahoma. Thank you so much to each and every one of you for working alongside us on this brief; we know obtaining sign on can take a lot of work and effort. ATTORNEY GENERAL NEWS

ORGANIZED RETAIL CRIME

The Attorney General Alliance Organized Retail Crime Working Group held a discussion on Monday, led by Illinois Attorney General Kwame Raoul, informing State Attorneys General and their staff on how to identify and combat the recent trend of organized retail criminals targeting businesses. He highlighted his recent successful recovery of stolen goods from a retail theft ring his office investigated.

AGA and Illinois Attorney General brought attention to this crucial issue affecting Attorneys General all over the United States, discussing the importance of the investigation and prosecution of these retail criminals.

After Organized retail theft is about more than lost revenue and stolen products. Frequently, the criminal enterprises behind these crimes are connected to other crimes, such as the drug trade and human trafficking. I am committed to identifying the perpetrators behind this and other organized retail crimes in Illinois.

-Illinois Attorney General Kwame Raoul

California Attorney General Rob Bonta hosted a convening with representatives from top-box retailers, online platforms, and law enforcement to discuss the state of organized retail theft in California and develop strategies for combating this criminal activity head-on. Representatives from the California Retailers Association, the National Federation of Independent Businesses, Amazon, eBay, Facebook Marketplace, CVS, Home Depot, Lowe's, Target, the California Highway Patrol's Organized Retail Crime Task Force, the California State Sheriffs' Association, and the California Police Chiefs Association took part in the collaborative effort.

After The coordinated criminal activity we've seen in retail stores and online through the resale of stolen goods isn't petty crime, it's organized crime, and it's going to take an organized strategy to put a stop to it. Here at the Department of Justice we are doing our part to help organize that strategy. My office and the other stakeholders have committed to coordinating our efforts and sharing intelligence in order to arrest and hold bad actors to account while proactively stopping future crime. We will do our part to ensure our communities feel safe and protect from organized crime the workers, businesses, and consumers who drive our economy.

-California Attorney General Rob Bonta

Connecticut Attorney General William Tong and Governor Ned Lamont announced

the creation of a task force aimed at combating organized retail crime. A news conference took place the morning of December 15th at a CVS in West Hartford.

Attorney General Tong and Governor Lamont revealed the creation of a task force to crack down on retail crime. Attorney General Tong said criminals have been stealing everyday goods and selling them on online platforms. He is looking to cut off the demand the stop the flow of goods through those online platforms. Attorney General Tong said his office will focus on providing civil investigative law enforcement resources to take stolen products off online sites.

Arizona Attorney General Mark Brnovich recently wrote an opinion piece that was featured in the Wall Street Journal. Attorney General Brnovich cites that he refuses to "capitulate to the lawless mob." His office has provided law-enforcement resources and worked with the state Legislature and the Arizona Retailers Association to establish an Organized Retail Crime Task Force in his office. He is currently prosecuting individuals who stole at least 70 ceiling fans worth some $28,000 from various home-improvement stores in Arizona and resold them at online marketplaces at a fraction of the retail price.

We expect our efforts will deter such theft and hope our task force becomes a model for other states."

HUMAN TRAFFICKING

California Attorney General Rob Bonta announced securing guilty pleas from three additional individuals involved in an organized crime trafficking ring that operated across California. As a result of the guilty pleas, Fengcheng Cai, Daling Wen, and Peshin Lee will be required to serve prison sentences of up to approximately eight years in prison for sex trafficking, labor trafficking, and money laundering. The guilty pleas announced are in addition to a sentence of 10 years and eight months previously secured against Jing Chang Huang. The guilty pleas are the result of a cooperative investigation by the California Department of Justice, Ventura County Sheriff's Office, Contra Costa District Attorney's Office, and several other local, state, and federal law enforcement agencies.

Kentucky Attorney General Daniel Cameron announced that his office was awarded a $600,000 federal grant from the Department of Justice (DOJ) to develop a transitional and short-term housing assistance program for survivors of human trafficking.

The Attorney General's Office of Trafficking and Abuse Prevention and Prosecution (TAAPP) will develop the program in partnership with Refuge for Women, a nonprofit recovery program for survivors of human trafficking and sexual exploitation. The housing-assistance program will offer survivors the option to participate in a communal-site, transitional-housing program in Garrard County or a short-term housing assistance program. Both options will include case-management support from professionals within the Refuge for Women organization and assistance from community survivors.

Georgia Attorney General Chris Carr announced the office's Human Trafficking Prosecution Unit has rescued an underage victim and arrested four individuals in Fulton County for Human Trafficking, among other charges, following an extensive 10-month investigation. To date, the Human Trafficking Prosecution Unit has initiated 25 cases, arrested 9 individuals, investigated and prosecuted 51 defendants, and rescued and assisted 107 victims this year.

Ohio Attorney General Dave Yost announced that the AG Bureau of Criminal Investigation, in partnership with local law enforcement, conducted an investigation of two massage parlors in southern Ohio that resulted in the disruption of human trafficking activity.

In total, five suspected victims of human trafficking were identified, all of whom were offered medical attention and access to other resources. Victim advocates were present during both searches and talked with the women in hopes of providing a way out of the life of human trafficking.

CANNABIS

New Mexico Attorney General Hector Balderas announces that New Mexico, helped by U.S. Eagle Federal Credit Union, is the first financial institution to become certified in the country for outstanding U.S. monetary banking protocols in banking cannabis and hemp operations.

This honor is part of a financial services certification program overseen by the Policy Center for Public Health & Safety (PH&S) in collaboration with state attorneys general. It is also part of a broader certification effort being implemented by ASIM International and PH&S. The certification brings banking and financial transparency to ensure the safety of the monetary system for those institutions that bank hemp and cannabis.

“The marijuana industry will soon be exploding in New Mexico, and it is important to have banking safeguards to mitigate illicit and criminal conduct. This is an important first step in partnering with legally compliant businesses in the marketplace.”
-New Mexico Attorney General Hector Balderas.

“Fundamental to marketplace validation is knowing which financial institutions are following procedures and protocols that are compliant with state and federal law. And, for the industry to defund crime and receive financial services and take institutional investment -- financial institutions and their insurers are looking for guidance.”
-Karen White, Executive Director, Attorneys General Alliance.

CONSUMER PROTECTION

Kansas Attorney General Derek Schmidt’s administration has eclipsed a significant milestone, surpassing more than $1 billion in recoveries for Kansas taxpayers and consumers.

Schmidt said that the $1 billion total from January 2011 through the present is more than any previous administration in Kansas history. To put the total in perspective, the total cost of operating the attorney general's office since 2011, including all the programs it administers, has been about $250 million.

PARTNER HIGHLIGHT

Lowe's announced that it will donate $1 million to support immediate relief and recovery efforts after tornadoes cut through Kentucky and the nation's heartland, causing catastrophic and unprecedented damage. The $1 million donation will assist Lowe's disaster relief partners including the American Red Cross and Lowe's nonprofit Pro customers, helping these organizations and others provide emergency shelter, critical relief supplies, food, blood center operations and comfort to those affected by the deadly tornadoes. This year, Lowe's has committed more than $4 million to support disaster relief.

Notarize joined in on #GivingTuesday, as Instagram influencer @cashings1 bought and liked the (TIPAL), decided to use her influence to help the school teachers clear their Amazon wishlists. Notarize pledged $5,000 to this effort, and also saw countless personal donations from team members pour in to help as well.

Together they were able to help more than 30 teachers across the U.S. from California, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Maryland, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia. Notarize continues its work to help all communities gain equal access to education and digital services.

Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) issued a series of orders to five companies offering "buy now, pay later" (BNPL) credit. The orders to collect information on the risks and benefits of these fast-growing loans went to Affirm, Afterpay, Klarna, PayPal, and Zip. The CFPB is concerned about accumulating debt, regulatory arbitrage, and data harvesting in a consumer credit market already quickly changing with technology. Buy now, pay later credit is a type of deferred payment option that generally allows the consumer to split a purchase into smaller installments, typically four or less, often with a down payment of 25 percent due at checkout. The application process is quick, involving relatively little information from the consumer, and the product often comes with no interest. The law requires that the CFPB monitor consumer financial markets and enables the agency to require market players to submit information to inform this monitoring.

ORGANIZED RETAIL CRIME

The Attorney General Alliance Organized Retail Crime Working Group held a discussion on Monday, led by Illinois Attorney General Kwame Raoul informing State Attorneys General and their staff on how to identify and combat the recent trend of organized retail criminals targeting businesses. He highlighted his recent successful recovery of stolen goods from a retail theft ring his office investigated.

AGA and Illinois Attorney General brought attention to this crucial issue affecting Attorneys General all over the United States, discussing the importance of the investigation and prosecution of these retail criminals.

After Organized retail theft is about more than lost revenue and stolen products. Frequently, the criminal enterprises behind these crimes are connected to other crimes, such as the drug trade and human trafficking. I am committed to identifying the perpetrators behind this and other organized retail crimes in Illinois.

-Illinois Attorney General Kwame Raoul

California Attorney General Rob Bonta hosted a convening with representatives from top-box retailers, online platforms, and law enforcement to discuss the state of organized retail theft in California and develop strategies for combating this criminal activity head-on. Representatives from the California Retailers Association, the National Federation of Independent Businesses, Amazon, eBay, Facebook Marketplace, CVS, Home Depot, Lowe's, Target, the California Highway Patrol's Organized Retail Crime Task Force, the California State Sheriffs' Association, and the California Police Chiefs Association took part in the collaborative effort.

After The coordinated criminal activity we've seen in retail stores and online through the resale of stolen goods isn't petty crime, it's organized crime, and it's going to take an organized strategy to put a stop to it. Here at the Department of Justice we are doing our part to help organize that strategy. My office and the other stakeholders have committed to coordinating our efforts and sharing intelligence in order to arrest and hold bad actors to account while proactively stopping future crime. We will do our part to ensure our communities feel safe and protect from organized crime the workers, businesses, and consumers who drive our economy.

-California Attorney General Rob Bonta

the creation of a task force aimed at combating organized retail crime. A news conference took place the morning of December 15th at a CVS in West Hartford.

Attorney General Tong and Governor Lamont revealed the creation of a task force to crack down on retail crime. Attorney General Tong said criminals have been stealing everyday goods and selling them on online platforms. He is looking to cut off the demand the stop the flow of goods through those online platforms. Attorney General Tong said his office will focus on providing civil investigative law enforcement resources to take stolen products off online sites.

Arizona Attorney General Mark Brnovich recently wrote an opinion piece that was featured in the Wall Street Journal. Attorney General Brnovich cites that he refuses to "capitulate to the lawless mob." His office has provided law-enforcement resources and worked with the state Legislature and the Arizona Retailers Association to establish an Organized Retail Crime Task Force in his office. He is currently prosecuting individuals who stole at least 70 ceiling fans worth some $28,000 from various home-improvement stores in Arizona and resold them at online marketplaces at a fraction of the retail price.

HUMAN TRAFFICKING

California Attorney General Rob Bonta announced securing guilty pleas from three additional individuals involved in an organized crime trafficking ring that operated across California. As a result of the guilty pleas, Fengcheng Cai, Daling Wen, and Peshin Lee will be required to serve prison sentences of up to approximately eight years in prison for sex trafficking, labor trafficking, and money laundering. The guilty pleas announced are in addition to a sentence of 10 years and eight months previously secured against Jing Chang Huang. The guilty pleas are the result of a cooperative investigation by the California Department of Justice, Ventura County Sheriff's Office, Contra Costa District Attorney's Office, and several other local, state, and federal law enforcement agencies.

Kentucky Attorney General Daniel Cameron announced that his office was awarded a $600,000 federal grant from the Department of Justice (DOJ) to develop a transitional and short-term housing assistance program for survivors of human trafficking.

The Attorney General's Office of Trafficking and Abuse Prevention and Prosecution (TAAPP) will develop the program in partnership with Refuge for Women, a nonprofit recovery program for survivors of human trafficking and sexual exploitation. The housing-assistance program will offer survivors the option to participate in a communal-site, transitional-housing program in Garrard County or a short-term housing assistance program. Both options will include case-management support from professionals within the Refuge for Women organization and assistance from community survivors.

Georgia Attorney General Chris Carr announced the office's Human Trafficking Prosecution Unit has rescued an underage victim and arrested four individuals in Fulton County for Human Trafficking, among other charges, following an extensive 10-month investigation. To date, the Human Trafficking Prosecution Unit has initiated 25 cases, arrested 9 individuals, investigated and prosecuted 51 defendants, and rescued and assisted 107 victims this year.

Ohio Attorney General Dave Yost announced that the AG Bureau of Criminal Investigation, in partnership with local law enforcement, conducted an investigation of two massage parlors in southern Ohio that resulted in the disruption of human trafficking activity.

In total, five suspected victims of human trafficking were identified, all of whom were offered medical attention and access to other resources. Victim advocates were present during both searches and talked with the women in hopes of providing a way out of the life of human trafficking.

CANNABIS

New Mexico Attorney General Hector Balderas announces that New Mexico, helped by U.S. Eagle Federal Credit Union, is the first financial institution to become certified in the country for outstanding U.S. monetary banking protocols in banking cannabis and hemp operations.

This honor is part of a financial services certification program overseen by the Policy Center for Public Health & Safety (PH&S) in collaboration with state attorneys general. It is also part of a broader certification effort being implemented by ASIM International and PH&S. The certification brings banking and financial transparency to ensure the safety of the monetary system for those institutions that bank hemp and cannabis.

“The marijuana industry will soon be exploding in New Mexico, and it is important to have banking safeguards to mitigate illicit and criminal conduct. This is an important first step in partnering with legally compliant businesses in the marketplace.”
-New Mexico Attorney General Hector Balderas.

“Fundamental to marketplace validation is knowing which financial institutions are following procedures and protocols that are compliant with state and federal law. And, for the industry to defund crime and receive financial services and take institutional investment -- financial institutions and their insurers are looking for guidance.”

Lowe's announced that it will donate $1 million to support immediate relief and recovery efforts after tornadoes cut through Kentucky and the nation's heartland, causing catastrophic and unprecedented damage. The $1 million donation will assist Lowe's disaster relief partners including the American Red Cross and Lowe's nonprofit Pro customers, helping these organizations and others provide emergency shelter, critical relief supplies, food, blood center operations and comfort to those affected by the deadly tornadoes. This year, Lowe's has committed more than $4 million to support disaster relief.

Together they were able to help more than 30 teachers across the U.S. from California, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Maryland, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia. Notarize continues its work to help all communities gain equal access to education and digital services.

Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) issued a series of orders to five companies offering "buy now, pay later" (BNPL) credit. The orders to collect information on the risks and benefits of these fast-growing loans went to Affirm, Afterpay, Klarna, PayPal, and Zip. The CFPB is concerned about accumulating debt, regulatory arbitrage, and data harvesting in a consumer credit market already quickly changing with technology. Buy now, pay later credit is a type of deferred payment option that generally allows the consumer to split a purchase into smaller installments, typically four or less, often with a down payment of 25 percent due at checkout. The application process is quick, involving relatively little information from the consumer, and the product often comes with no interest. The law requires that the CFPB monitor consumer financial markets and enables the agency to require market players to submit information to inform this monitoring.

ORGANIZED RETAIL CRIME

Attorney General Rob Bonta was recently interviewed by NPR. In the interview, he spoke of the recent activity in Organized Retail Crime in California. Bonta says a pattern is emerging where people use social media platforms to help hatch a plan and then sell the stolen goods online. He said websites and tech companies had a role to play in fighting this.

WORKER RIGHTS

California Attorney General Rob Bonta led a multistate coalition of 11 states in urging the U.S. Department of Labor (DOL) to finalize rules clarifying that fiduciaries of private-sector employee retirement plans, such as 401(k) plans, can consider environmental, social, and governance (ESG) factors when making investment decisions. Fiduciaries are legally mandated to make decisions in the best interest of the people whose money they manage. In this case the millions of employees who put some of their income each month into an employer-sponsored retirement plan. By allowing fiduciaries to consider ESG factors, particularly the costs and impacts of climate change, fiduciaries can make investment decisions that better address the long-term investment horizons of the employees they represent.

Alabama Attorney General Steve Marshall is leading a national coalition of 10 attorneys general to include the attorneys general of Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Texas, Utah, West Virginia and Wyoming. They are urging the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service not to reimpose costly and unnecessary restrictions of private property rights.

The issue involves the Endangered Species Act and the federal government's authority to designate land or water as critical habitat for species the government considers endangered. Property that receives this designation is often subject to stringent restrictions that can greatly reduce its utility and value.

In a letter to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the National Marine Fisheries Service, Attorney General Marshall and the other attorneys general urged the agencies to reject the efforts to roll back the reformed regulations. Under current rules, an area may be designated as critical habitat only if it currently or periodically has the conditions and resources to support a species, and not just because such conditions could be developed in the future. Furthermore, current rules provide an important balance, providing analysis of economic impact and whether excluding an area from critical habitat would result in extinction of a species.

IMMIGRATION

Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton has announced that the "Remain in Mexico" (MPP) program has been restored through a permanent injunction. United States Fifth Circuit Judge Andrew Oldham affirmed the trial court's decision against the current Administration in a thorough, 117-page opinion. MPP is a policy that requires immigrants seeking to enter the U.S. illegally to remain in Mexico until U.S. courts can rule upon their immigration status.

Approximately 70,000 illegal immigrants were apprehended and assigned to the MPP program from early 2019 until early 2021, when the current Administration discontinued it. The number of illegal immigrants crossing the U.S.-Mexico border has more than doubled since then.

United States*.

In the amicus brief filed before the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit, the coalition highlights the critical contributions of hundreds of thousands of DACA recipients to public health efforts, the economy, and communities across the country. Since 2012, DACA has provided access to work authorization and protected from removal approximately 825,000 individuals, who grew up in this country, most of whom have known no home other than the United States.

CONSUMER PROTECTION

Pennsylvania Attorney General Josh Shapiro announced that Pennsylvania-based THS Group, LLC (more commonly known as Total Home Protection (THS)) and its owner has agreed to pay $400,000 in restitution as part of a settlement of the lawsuit filed by the Office of Attorney General against the home security company for deceptive marketing practices. With the settlement, THS and the owner have agreed to revise their business practices.

THS advertised and sold home warranty (THS) service contracts to consumers, many of whom were elderly or otherwise vulnerable, in Pennsylvania and dozens of other states. The settlement agreement prohibits THS from, among other things, using advertisements for service contracts that contradict the terms of the service contracts themselves and engaging in unfair and deceptive conduct to deny coverage. THS is required to make meaningful, substantial, and specific changes to its business practices.

Oregon Attorney General Ellen Rosenblum co- led a bipartisan letter from 33 Attorneys General to Rohit Chopra, Director of the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) calling for stronger consumer safeguards for money sharing platforms and apps. Popular payment apps include Apple Pay, Venmo, Square, Zelle, and others. The Attorneys General highlight a rise in consumer complaints related to these payment platforms, especially complaints from consumers about difficulties reaching customer service representatives, inability to retrieve funds, and fraudulent money transfers by third-party scammers. These payment platforms are sometimes marketed as a solution for consumers without access to traditional banks, even though these apps are not considered a bank. The letter addresses three major issues with the platforms - customer service, account access, and third-party scams.

A bipartisan coalition of attorneys general to include: Minnesota, Wyoming, California, Delaware, Hawaii, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Dakota, and Utah joined together in support of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Efforts to Promote Competition in Agriculture Industry by Strengthening Enforcement of Packers and Stockyards Act. For a century, the Packers and Stockyards Act has served as an important tool to ensure competition and fair practices in the livestock, meat, and poultry industries.

However, structural changes, including corporate consolidation and changes in sales and marketing practices, have reduced competition in meat processing markets and driven many smaller meat producers out of business. In the letter, the coalition argues that aggressive antitrust enforcement is essential to improve supply chain resiliency and encourages USDA to work actively with states to bolster their efforts to investigate agriculture markets.

The Packers and Stockyards Act was originally designed to protect poultry and hog farmers and cattle ranchers from unfair, deceptive, and anti-competitive practices in meat markets. In recent decades, however, there has been a substantial trend toward consolidation. Similar consolidation has occurred among chicken and pork packers. This consolidation makes it more difficult for producers to get the best price for their products, forcing many smaller cattle, hog, and chicken farms out of the market. Aggressive antitrust enforcement is essential to restore competition to these vital American markets.

Amazon has found a powerful ally to help it protect its operations from fraud and abuse: the U.S. government. The company has increasingly shared information with the Justice Department and FBI to investigate Amazon's own employees and the sellers using its platform, according to a POLITICO analysis and a dozen interviews. In addition, it has hired dozens of former DOJ and FBI employees, some of whom are filling out its internal teams aimed at policing its platform.

In the process, Amazon has built a closer relationship than many large companies have with federal law enforcement, deep cooperation with one branch of the federal government that could help the company's reputation in Washington. The federal government has also indicted 20 people for crimes related to Amazon in the past year and a half, according to an analysis of public records.

Many of the law enforcement actions show Amazon attempting to address the billions of counterfeit goods, fraudulent listings and scams on its ever-growing e-commerce platform amid criticism from federal regulators and U.S. lawmakers that it hasn't done enough to curtail criminal activity. In doing so, Amazon has also built up an apparatus to make sure its issues get quick attention from law enforcement agencies with limited resources.

amazon

Amazon has found a powerful ally to help it protect its operations from fraud and abuse: the U.S. government. The company has increasingly shared information with the Justice Department and FBI to investigate Amazon's own employees and the sellers using its platform, according to a POLITICO analysis and a dozen interviews. In addition, it has hired dozens of former DOJ and FBI employees, some of whom are filling out its internal teams aimed at policing its platform.

In the process, Amazon has built a closer relationship than many large companies have with federal law enforcement, deep cooperation with one branch of the federal government that could help the company's reputation in Washington. The federal government has also indicted 20 people for crimes related to Amazon in the past year and a half, according to an analysis of public records.

Many of the law enforcement actions show Amazon attempting to address the billions of counterfeit goods, fraudulent listings and scams on its ever-growing e-commerce platform amid criticism from federal regulators and U.S. lawmakers that it hasn't done enough to curtail criminal activity. In doing so, Amazon has also built up an apparatus to make sure its issues get quick attention from law enforcement agencies with limited resources.

ATTORNEY GENERAL ALLIANCE

HUMAN TRAFFICKING

The office of Ohio Attorney General Dave Yost announced the attorney general's third annual Human Trafficking Summit to be held on Thursday, January 13, 2022.

The Human Trafficking Summit, to be held virtually for the second consecutive year due to COVID-19 concerns, will feature 16 workshops offering valuable information and resources. Much like the workshops and the summit's targeted audience, the fight against human trafficking is multifaceted. Registration for the summit is open and costs $25.

The Office of the Michigan Attorney General Dana Nessel and the Michigan Human Trafficking Commission work to provide general updates and awareness information on human trafficking to keep the public informed. Addressing Human Trafficking in Health Care Settings, created by The University of Michigan's Human Trafficking Collaborative, is an excellent training on human trafficking for health professionals.

Attorney General Ashley Moody is recognizing National Human Trafficking Prevention Month by highlighting resources to help Floridians spot and report the crime. According to the most recent study by Polaris, Florida ranks third highest in the number of calls to the National Human Trafficking Hotline. It is important to remember that human trafficking can happen anywhere at any time. Raising public awareness of this evil trade will help law enforcement rescue victims and save lives.

Fighting human trafficking is a major priority for Attorney General Moody, who serves as Chair on the Statewide Council on Human Trafficking. The council consists of 15 members who work to build an existing state and local partnerships to combat human trafficking.

Last October, Attorney General Moody kicked off the 2021 Human Trafficking Summit. The summit is being offered virtually for the second year in a row and brings together 1 leaders to eradicate all forms of trafficking. That same month, Attorney General Moody and FLHSMV celebrated the one-year anniversary of Highway Heroes.

Human trafficking is an atrocious crime and if we are going to end this evil practice in Florida, it will take all of us working together. In recognition of this important month, I am calling on Floridians to learn the signs of human trafficking and how to alert law enforcement to suspicious behavior.

Montana Attorney General Austin Knudsen joined Governor Greg Gianforte in declaring January Slavery and Human Trafficking Prevention Month in Montana and encouraging Montanans to be part of the solution to end human trafficking. The Attorney General and Governor were joined by Montana Highway Patrol Colonel Steve Lavin and representatives from the HEA Campaign and The LifeGuard Group, two non-profit organizations combating human trafficking in Montana.

Human trafficking is a form of modern-day slavery whereby traffickers, which are often organized criminal enterprises, profit at the expense of adults or children by compelling them to perform labor or engage in commercial sex. It has been on the rise in Montana in recent years. Attorney General Knudsen will continue to raise awareness of human trafficking during January by visiting communities across the state to address the issue with local law enforcement and encourage prevention efforts.

Human trafficking and sexual slavery are happening in Montana and we can't ignore it. That's why fighting human trafficking is one of my top priorities as Attorney General. These are not victimless crimes and ignoring the problem will not make them go away. I urge every Montanan to join us in our fight to eliminate human trafficking. Educate yourself about the problem, learn the signs, and report suspected human traffickers.

--Montana Attorney General Austin Knudsen

In 2020, the National Beer Wholesalers Association launched an initiative entitled Distributors Against Human Trafficking, to help combat human trafficking in the United States. Working alongside state attorneys general, NBWA created an awareness training video to help more than 140,000 beer distribution employees in the U.S. recognize and report signs of human trafficking. Beer distributors are uniquely positioned to help fight this heinous crime given their level of access to locations often unseen by the public as they visit around 600,000 licensed retail locations across the country.

OPIOIDS

Nevada Attorney General Aaron D. Ford announced that Nevada will receive almost $285.2 million for the fight against the opioid epidemic from a multitude of sources, including a federal grant and settlements with an opioid manufacturer and distributors.

The money will come from three sources: a multistate settlement with the three largest opioid distributors, an agreement with opioid manufacturer Johnson & Johnson and its U.S.-based Janssen Pharmaceutical Companies, and a grant from the U.S. Department of Justice to increase rural counties' access to mitigation and health programs.

Body

Earlier this year, the state, along with all Nevada counties, and cities that currently have active litigation against opioid companies, came to an agreement on the intrastate allocation of funds from opioid-related recoveries. Nevada will participate in a $26 billion opioid settlement with the three largest opioid distributors â Amersourcebergen, Cardinal Health and McKesson â that will bring much-needed resources to Nevada. Attorney General Ford decided to join the multistate settlement with the three major distributors in order to ensure what is best for Nevada and its residents.

This settlement with the three major opioid distributors hold them accountable through a monetary payment and strict injunctive terms for their actions in creating and fueling the opioid epidemic. The agreement will require the distributors to establish a centralized independent clearinghouse to provide regulators with aggregated data and analytics about where opioids are going and how often, use data-driven systems to detect suspicious opioid orders from pharmacies, and report companies to state regulators when they show signs of diversion, among other important terms.

Click for Press Release

"The funds that our state will receive going forward will help us save lives and mitigate the harms done to our residents because of the ongoing opioid epidemic. Our team has worked diligently to get Nevada the resources we must have to help Nevadans in need in one of the epidemic's hardest-hit states, and to obtain justice from many opioid manufacturers and distributors. While no settlement will bring back those lost to opioids, these funds will be used to prevent further loss of life and help heal Nevada's families."

MISSING INDIGENOUS WOMEN & PEOPLE

Washington Attorney General Bob Ferguson announced that he is working with Rep. Debra Lekanoff, D-Anacortes, to propose a bill in the next legislative session to create an alert in Washington state to help identify and locate missing indigenous women and people. The alert, similar to #Missinger alertsâfor missing vulnerable adults, will broadcast information about missing indigenous people on message signs and in highway advisory radio messages when activated, as well as through press releases to local and regional media.

This will be the first alert system specifically for missing and murdered indigenous women and people in the country. Indigenous women and people go missing and are murdered at rates higher than any other ethnic group in the United States. In Washington, more than four times as many indigenous women go missing than white women, according to research conducted by the Urban Indian Health Institute in Seattle.

CONSUMER PROTECTION

Wyoming Attorney General Bridget Hill and Hawaii Attorney General Holly T. Shikada joined Minnesota Attorney General Kelly Ellison as he led a bipartisan coalition of 16 attorneys general in sending a letter to U.S. Department of Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack, with recommendations to improve competition in the livestock industry.

The letter raises concerns about the increasing concentration in meatpacking and offers solutions to aid USDA in efforts to strengthen enforcement under the Packers and Stockyards Act. The Packers and Stockyards Act, which dates to 1921, was intended to address unfair, deceptive, and anti-competitive practices in meat markets.

Without increased enforcement and government oversight, the promise of the Packers and Stockyard Act is in jeopardy. In the letter, the bipartisan coalition provides several recommendations for Fair and Competitive Markets.

The Wyoming Attorney General was joined by the attorneys general of Minnesota, Iowa, California, Delaware, Illinois, Idaho, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Dakota, and Utah.

Kentucky Attorney General Daniel Cameron joined officials from the City of Mayfield and Graves County to launch an emergency contractor registration program to register contractors looking to assist storm victims.

The program aims to prevent identity-by-night contractors that often enter areas affected by natural disasters in an attempt to take advantage of consumers. The program requires contractors to register prior to doing business. Registered contractors will be issued placards, which must be displayed on their job sites and in the contractor's vehicle. The program will also provide scam and fraud prevention information to Kentuckians affected by the tornadoes and storms.

New Jersey Acting Attorney General Andrew J. Bruck announced that the Division on Civil Rights (DCR) has adopted new rules that expand opportunities for people with criminal records to find safe, affordable housing. The new rules codify the Fair Chance in Housing Act, which took effect on January 1, 2022.

Due to racial disparities in the criminal justice system, practices that restrict housing opportunities for people with criminal histories have disproportionately affected people of color, especially Black people. By signing the Fair Chance in Housing Act into law last year, Governor Phil Murphy furthered his Administration's commitment to taking action to dismantle systemic racial disparities that have been allowed to exist for too long in New Jersey, while reducing housing instability that can contribute to recidivism.

With limited exceptions, the Fair Chance in Housing Act and DCR's new rules bar housing providers who have not yet made a conditional offer from requiring applicants to fill out any type of form that includes questions about their criminal background.

NEW VIRGINIA ATTORNEY GENERAL

Virginia Attorney General Jason Miyares was recently sworn in as the state's first Latino attorney general. Virginia's new attorney general is proud of his Cuban-American heritage and proud of his record of public service.

A former Commonwealth's attorney and state delegate from Virginia Beach, Virginia, Miyares said he will be impartial in upholding the law. "I want to be an attorney general who will call balls and strikes," he said. "The attorney general does not take an oath of allegiance to any individual, and certainly not to any political party or political leader. My allegiance will be to the U.S. Constitution, the Virginia Constitution and the people of Virginia."

NOTABLE

Ohio Attorney General Dave Yost applauds Jonathan Blanton, a member of his executive team, who was recently honored with the 2021 Senior Staff of the Year Award. This award is given to a member of an attorney general's management staff who has distinguished himself through exemplary leadership, expertise and achievement.

Blanton has served as a leader nationally in the state's ongoing battle to hold the offending drug companies accountable, monitoring and communicating with counsel for all parties in the opioids multidistrict litigation (MDL). Blanton has earned national acclaim and respect for his role in the extended opioids litigation fight; more important, his work, ethics, intelligence and leadership will have a real impact in communities throughout Ohio and the rest of the country.

"There is no one more deserving of this national recognition than Jonathan Blanton. His passion for holding the drug manufacturers and distributors responsible for the devastation they wreaked and his commitment to ensuring that hard-hit areas of Ohio would not be forgotten in any approved settlement were nothing short of amazing."

--Ohio Attorney General Dave Yost

FROM OUR PARTNERS

"In 2021, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion together reported relief in response to less than 2% of covered complaints, down from nearly 26% of covered complaints in 2019."

A new analysis by the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) reveals how changes in complaint responses provided by nationwide consumer reporting companies resulted in fewer meaningful responses and less consumer relief. Credit reporting plays a critical role in consumers' lives and has an enormous reach beyond consumer financial services.

The CFPB found the three companies often failed to provide substantive responses, especially when they alleged the complaints were sent in by third parties. Federal law requires Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion to conduct a review of certain complaints sent to them by the CFPB to determine whether all of their legal obligations have been met with respect to the subject matter of the complaint and then to report their determinations and actions to the CFPB.

As a result, many consumers did not receive meaningful responses to complaints submitted through the CFPB complaint process. Overall, consumers describe feeling frustrated and stressed when the nationwide consumer reporting companies' automated processes for correcting inaccuracies do not work or when they do not get responses to their concerns. Consumers report that they spend time, energy, and money to try to correct inaccuracies.

NOTABLE

Ohio Attorney General Dave Yost applauds Jonathan Blanton, a member of his executive team, who was recently honored with the 2021 Senior Staff of the Year Award. This award is given to a member of an attorney general's management staff who has distinguished himself through exemplary leadership, expertise and achievement.

Blanton has served as a leader nationally in the state's ongoing battle to hold the offending drug companies accountable, monitoring and communicating with counsel for all parties in the opioids multidistrict litigation (MDL). Blanton has earned national acclaim and respect for his role in the extended opioids litigation fight; more important, his work, ethics, intelligence and leadership will have a real impact in communities throughout Ohio and the rest of the country.

"There is no one more deserving of this national recognition than Jonathan Blanton. His passion for holding the drug manufacturers and distributors responsible for the devastation they wreaked and his commitment to ensuring that hard-hit areas of Ohio would not be forgotten in any approved settlement were nothing short of amazing."

--Ohio Attorney General Dave Yost

FROM OUR PARTNERS

"In 2021, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion together reported relief in response to less than 2% of covered complaints, down from nearly 26% of covered complaints in 2019."

A new analysis by the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) reveals how changes in complaint responses provided by nationwide consumer reporting companies resulted in fewer meaningful responses and less consumer relief. Credit reporting plays a critical role in consumers' lives and has an enormous reach beyond consumer financial services.

The CFPB found the three companies often failed to provide substantive responses, especially when they alleged the complaints were sent in by third parties. Federal law requires Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion to conduct a review of certain complaints sent to them by the CFPB to determine whether all of their legal obligations have been met with respect to the subject matter of the complaint and then to report their determinations and actions to the CFPB.

As a result, many consumers did not receive meaningful responses to complaints submitted through the CFPB complaint process. Overall, consumers describe feeling frustrated and stressed when the nationwide consumer reporting companies' automated processes for correcting inaccuracies do not work or when they do not get responses to their concerns. Consumers report that they spend time, energy, and money to try to correct inaccuracies.

ATTORNEY GENERAL NEWS

January HUMAN TRAFFICKING Awareness Month

Michigan Attorney General Dana Nessel and Governor Gretchen Whitmer are highlighting resources available and important work being done to combat trafficking. AG Nessel's Human Trafficking initiative prosecutes traffickers and provides training throughout the state. Since its inception, 34 individuals have been arrested on human trafficking charges. While several cases are currently pending, 25 convictions have been secured thus far.

Since 2019 alone, in over 30 presentations, the initiative provided human trafficking training to approximately 200 law enforcement professionals, 350 legal professionals, 300 victim service providers, 800 medical professionals, as many as 1,000 various other professionals and about 300 members of the public. Information and educational tools are available on the initiative's website. The Department of Attorney General is also home to the Michigan Human Trafficking Commission.

Press Release

Those victimized by traffickers face sexual, physical and emotional abuse all for the purpose of control and submission. That is why it remains incumbent upon all of us to report trafficking and support those who feel helpless. I encourage everyone to take some time to review the resources available to better identify these instances of abuse.

—Michigan Attorney General Dana Nessel

Alabama Attorney General Steve Marshall noted on January 11, National Human Trafficking Awareness Day, that the state of Alabama is making progress in addressing the largely hidden crime of human trafficking.

Each year, millions of men, women and children are victimized by human traffickers worldwide. While dozens of cases are reported annually in Alabama, it is believed the actual number of victims is much higher as most cases go unreported.

Press Release

A year after our joint announcement of the creation of the Alabama Anti Human Trafficking Alliance, law enforcement in our state are becoming better prepared to identify, investigate and prosecute the dark crime of human trafficking. And this increased awareness is already making a positive difference in halting this form of human slavery that hides in the shadows of many communities."

-- Alabama Attorney General Steve Marshall

California Attorney General Rob Bonta highlighted resources available to businesses and members of the public to help combat human trafficking and support survivors. California law requires certain businesses and establishments to post notices that provide information and resources for survivors and the public regarding human trafficking. The Attorney General urges businesses and members of the public across the state to use these resources to help federal, state, and local authorities and community organizations combat human trafficking in California.

Press Release

Every year, there are thousands of reported human trafficking cases across the United States, including right here in California. Whether it's for sex or labor, abusing power to force or coerce someone into doing something against their will is wrong. At the California Department of Justice, we're committed to standing up for survivors, disrupting and dismantling human trafficking rings, and securing justice. However, it takes all of us to combat human trafficking. I urge businesses across the state to use the resources we're sharing today to help put an end to trafficking in California. If you or someone you know has been affected by human trafficking, there are resources available to you. You are not alone.

--California Attorney General Rob Bonta

Virginia Attorney General Mark R. Herring announced that the Hampton Roads Human Trafficking Task Force (Task Force) has been selected as one of two sites nationally to participate in the federal TraffickSTOP (Signs To Observe and Prevent) pilot program to educate high school youth about human trafficking. This program will be a collaboration between the Task Force, the Newport News Police Department, and Newport News Public Schools. Attorney General Herring was instrumental in the creation of the Hampton Roads Human Trafficking Task Force and the Task Force Coordinator is housed in the Office of the Attorney General.

TraffickSTOP is both a human trafficking identification and prevention curriculum for high school students, as well as training for law enforcement to deliver the curriculum in schools. Newport News School resource officers will deliver the curriculum to students, along with members of the Hampton Roads Human Trafficking Task Force and others, and with support from other community stakeholders.

Press Release

I am incredibly proud of the work that the Hampton Roads Human Trafficking Task Force has done to combat human trafficking in the region, and their selection to participate in this program shows just how impactful their work has been. The sad reality is that unscrupulous people will prey on young, impressionable people, which is why it's so important that Virginia's youth are armed with the tools they need to help protect themselves and others.

--Virginia Attorney General Mark R. Herring

Hawaii Attorney General Holly T. Shikada and the Hawaii Sexual Assault Response and Training (HSART) Program Multi-Disciplinary Team (MDT) announced the release of a

Body

The purpose of the Media Guide is to encourage media professionals to utilize a trauma-informed approach when reporting sexual violence. Trauma informed is the ability to understand how trauma affects individuals, their families, and the community.

Press Release

The media informs, amplifies, and shapes cultural norms and understanding of sexual violence by the public. I recommend that media professionals utilize the Media Guide to reduce biases and myths of sexual violence that often impact the reporting of sexual assault.
-- Hawaii Attorney General Holly T. Shikada

ROBOCALLS

A bipartisan group of 51 attorneys general is working to stop international scam calls. In a comment letter, the coalition urged the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) to put in place measures that will help stem the tide of foreign-based illegal robocalls that attempt to scam Americans.

The 51 attorneys general are calling for the FCC to require gateway providers—the companies that allow foreign calls into the United States—to take steps to reduce how easily robocalls have been able to enter the U.S. telephone network, including implementing STIR/SHAKEN, a caller ID authentication technology that helps prevent spoofed calls. Gateway providers should be required to implement this technology within 30 days of it becoming a rule to help eliminate spoofed calls and to make sure that international calls that originate from U.S. telephone numbers are legitimate. In December the coalition of 51 attorneys general successfully persuaded the FCC to shorten by a year the deadline for smaller telephone companies to implement STIR/SHAKEN.

The attorneys general are also encouraging the FCC to require all phone companies to block calls from a gateway provider if it fails to meet these requirements. Illegal robocalls are a scourge: in 2020, Americans lost more than $620 million through robocall scams.

Attorneys General in the coalition that joined in sending this letter to the FCC includes Alabama, Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

STUDENT DEBT

A bipartisan coalition of 39 attorneys general secured $1.85 billion from Navient, one of the nation's largest student loan servicers, resolving allegations of widespread, unfair and deceptive student loan servicing practices and abuses in originating predatory student loan and resolved allegations that Navient harmed student borrowers. As part of the total $1.85 billion in relief, Navient will pay $1.7 billion in debt forgiveness and $90 million in restitution to former students across the country. The settlement agreement, which concludes a nearly five-year investigation into the company, states that Navient will also reform its practices and pay penalties of $46.9 million to the states.

Body

Mississippi Attorney General Lynn Fitch announced that Mississippi also entered into a stand alone settlement with Navient to resolve allegations of unfair and deceptive student loan servicing practices. The settlement will require court approval.

Relief terms in this settlement include improved notification of options available to borrowers, as well as training for loan specialists on how to advise distressed borrowers about alternative repayment options and how to counsel eligible borrowers about Public Service Loan Forgiveness (PSLF). Terms also prohibit compensating customer service agents in a way that incentivizes them to minimize the time they spend counseling borrowers.

Press Release

ORGANIZED RETAIL CRIME

Florida Attorney General Ashley Moody is working with state legislators to address organized retail theft in Florida. Attorney General Moody held a news conference with lawmakers in Tallahassee to announce legislative efforts to help law enforcement and prosecutors dismantle retail theft crime rings. The announcement comes one week before Florida's 2022 Legislative Session begins.

FORCE is a statewide task force and database to help spot trends, identify suspects, and take down massive, organized retail theft rings. The database is designed to bridge the gap between retailers, law enforcement and prosecutors by allowing shareable, searchable information on theft incidents statewide.

To help bolster the effectiveness of FORCE, the Florida Attorney General's Office will partner with state legislators this session to seek to remove barriers to prosecution for what is clearly organized criminal activity. Upcoming legislation will provide a targeted revision to current statutes determining the felony status for retail theft when someone steals multiple items from multiple locations in a short period of time. These changes would strengthen the laws on the books to allow prosecutors to bring stronger penalties against criminals who commit crimes across the state to avoid justice.

Organized retail theft is on the rise nationwide, and the Attorney General Alliance is dedicated to ensuring all states remain ahead of the trend to help prevent the retail crime wave.

Press Release

"We've seen the damage and disorder caused by brazen criminals across the country through terrifying smash-and-grab robberies, and we must continue to innovate to stay ahead of this national crime trend."

-- Florida Attorney General Ashley Moody

COMBATTING DRUGS

Arizona Attorney General Mark Brnovich and West Virginia Attorney General Patrick Morrisey co- led 15 other states urging the U.S. Department of State to take a tougher approach to stem the influx of deadly fentanyl into their states and the nation as a whole. In their letter, sent to U.S. Secretary of State Antony Blinken, the attorneys general outlined their concerns about the production and distribution of fentanyl. The attorneys general are asking Secretary Blinken and his department to take a tougher stance on stopping the influx of deadly fentanyl from China and Mexico.

COVID MANDATES - SCOTUS DECISIONS

Supreme Court Opinions

On Thursday, the Supreme Court blocked enforcement of the Biden administration's COVID-19 vaccine- or test mandate for workers at large businesses but allowed enforcement of a similar mandate for certain health care workers.

While challenges to the mandates from businesses and a number of states were returned to lower courts, the ruling suggests that the justices are likely to rule against the business rule if the case reaches the court again.

National Federation of Independent Business v. Occupational Safety and Health Administration

By a 6-3 vote, the Court stayed application of an emergency rule adopted by OSHA that would have required all employers with at least 100 employees to require their workers to receive a COVID-19 vaccine or else obtain a medical test each week at their own expense and on their own time, and also wear a mask each workday.

Biden v. Missouri

By a 5-4 vote, the Court stayed injunctions that had barred operation of a rule adopted by the Secretary of Health and Human Services that, in order to receive Medicare and Medicaid funding, participating facilities must ensure that their staff are vaccinated against COVID-19 unless exempt for medical or religious reasons.

As the United States Supreme Court made these decisions regarding COVID-19 mandates, attorneys general nationwide issued the following statements:

Press Release

I am incredibly proud of the work that the Hampton Roads Human Trafficking Task Force has done to combat human trafficking in the region, and their selection to participate in this program shows just how impactful their work has been. The sad reality is that unscrupulous people will prey on young, impressionable people, which is why it's so important that Virginia's youth are armed with the tools they need to help protect themselves and others.

--Virginia Attorney General Mark R. Herring

Hawaii Attorney General Holly T. Shikada and the Hawaii Sexual Assault Response and Training (HSART) Program Multi-Disciplinary Team (MDT) announced the release of a new Manual Guide for Domestic Minor Sexual Offenders (DMO).

Body

The purpose of the Media Guide is to encourage media professionals to utilize a trauma-informed approach when reporting sexual violence. Trauma informed is the ability to understand how trauma affects individuals, their families, and the community.

Press Release

The media informs, amplifies, and shapes cultural norms and understanding of sexual violence by the public. I recommend that media professionals utilize the Media Guide to reduce biases and myths of sexual violence that often impact the reporting of sexual assault.
-- Hawaii Attorney General Holly T. Shikada

ROBOCALLS

A bipartisan group of 51 attorneys general is working to stop international scam calls. In a comment letter, the coalition urged the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) to put in place measures that will help stem the tide of foreign-based illegal robocalls that attempt to scam Americans.

The 51 attorneys general are calling for the FCC to require gateway providers—the companies that allow foreign calls into the United States—to take steps to reduce how easily robocalls have been able to enter the U.S. telephone network, including implementing STIR/SHAKEN, a caller ID authentication technology that helps prevent spoofed calls. Gateway providers should be required to implement this technology within 30 days of it becoming a rule to help eliminate spoofed calls and to make sure that international calls that originate from U.S. telephone numbers are legitimate. In December the coalition of 51 attorneys general successfully persuaded the FCC to shorten by a year the deadline for smaller telephone companies to implement STIR/SHAKEN.

The attorneys general are also encouraging the FCC to require all phone companies to block calls from a gateway provider if it fails to meet these requirements. Illegal robocalls are a scourge: in 2020, Americans lost more than $620 million through robocall scams.

Attorneys General in the coalition that joined in sending this letter to the FCC includes Alabama, Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

STUDENT DEBT

A bipartisan coalition of 39 attorneys general secured $1.85 billion from Navient, one of the nation's largest student loan servicers, resolving allegations of widespread, unfair and deceptive student loan servicing practices and abuses in originating predatory student loan and resolved allegations that Navient harmed student borrowers. As part of the total $1.85 billion in relief, Navient will pay $1.7 billion in debt forgiveness and $90 million in restitution to former students across the country. The settlement agreement, which concludes a nearly five-year investigation into the company, states that Navient will also reform its practices and pay penalties of $46.9 million to the states.

Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin signed the settlement.

Mississippi Attorney General Lynn Fitch announced that Mississippi also entered into a stand alone settlement with Navient to resolve allegations of unfair and deceptive student loan servicing practices. The settlement will require court approval.

Relief terms in this settlement include improved notification of options available to borrowers, as well as training for loan specialists on how to advise distressed borrowers about alternative repayment options and how to counsel eligible borrowers about Public Service Loan Forgiveness (PSLF). Terms also prohibit compensating customer service agents in a way that incentivizes them to minimize the time they spend counseling borrowers.

Press Release

ORGANIZED RETAIL CRIME

Florida Attorney General Ashley Moody is working with state legislators to address organized retail theft in Florida. Attorney General Moody held a news conference with lawmakers in Tallahassee to announce legislative efforts to help law enforcement and prosecutors dismantle retail theft crime rings. The announcement comes one week before Florida's 2022 Legislative Session begins.

FORCE is a statewide task force and database to help spot trends, identify suspects, and take down massive, organized retail theft rings. The database is designed to bridge the gap between retailers, law enforcement and prosecutors by allowing shareable, searchable information on theft incidents statewide.

To help bolster the effectiveness of FORCE, the Florida Attorney General's Office will partner with state legislators this session to seek to remove barriers to prosecution for what is clearly organized criminal activity. Upcoming legislation will provide a targeted revision to current statutes determining the felony status for retail theft when someone steals multiple items from multiple locations in a short period of time. These changes would strengthen the laws on the books to allow prosecutors to bring stronger penalties against criminals who commit crimes across the state to avoid justice.

Organized retail theft is on the rise nationwide, and the Attorney General Alliance is dedicated to ensuring all states remain ahead of the trend to help prevent the retail crime wave.

Press Release

"We've seen the damage and disorder caused by brazen criminals across the country through terrifying smash-and-grab robberies, and we must continue to innovate to stay ahead of this national crime trend."

-- Florida Attorney General Ashley Moody

COMBATTING DRUGS

Arizona Attorney General Mark Brnovich and West Virginia Attorney General Patrick Morrisey co- led 15 other states urging the U.S. Department of State to take a tougher approach to stem the influx of deadly fentanyl into their states and the nation as a whole. In their letter, sent to U.S. Secretary of State Antony Blinken, the attorneys general outlined their concerns about the production and distribution of fentanyl. The attorneys general are asking Secretary Blinken and his department to take a tougher stance on stopping the influx of deadly fentanyl from China and Mexico.

COVID MANDATES - SCOTUS DECISIONS

Supreme Court Opinions

On Thursday, the Supreme Court blocked enforcement of the Biden administration's COVID-19 vaccine or test mandate for workers at large businesses but allowed enforcement of a similar mandate for certain health care workers.

While challenges to the mandates from businesses and a number of states were returned to lower courts, the ruling suggests that the justices are likely to rule against the business rule if the case reaches the court again.

National Federation of Independent Business v. Occupational Safety and Health Administration

By a 6-3 vote, the Court stayed application of an emergency rule adopted by OSHA that would have required all employers with at least 100 employees to require their workers to receive a COVID-19 vaccine or else obtain a medical test each week at their own expense and on their own time, and also wear a mask each workday.

Biden v. Missouri

By a 5-4 vote, the Court stayed injunctions that had barred operation of a rule adopted by the Secretary of Health and Human Services that, in order to receive Medicare and Medicaid funding, participating facilities must ensure that their staff are vaccinated against COVID-19 unless exempt for medical or religious reasons.

As the United States Supreme Court made these decisions regarding COVID-19 mandates, attorneys general nationwide issued the following statements:

January HUMAN TRAFFICKING Awareness Month

Nebraska Attorney General Doug Peterson joined Governor Pete Ricketts and Colonel John Bolduc from the Nebraska State Patrol in recognizing National Human Trafficking Awareness Month.

Attorney General Peterson reviewed the collaborative work done by many agencies in bringing about some ground-breaking investigations and prosecutions this past year. His office released the Nebraska Human Trafficking Task Force (NHTTF) Update that outlines prosecutions and training numbers for 2021. Agencies and organizations representing 12 groups attended the event and proclamation signing.

CONSUMER PROTECTION

A bipartisan coalition of 42 states and territories joined together in urging the U.S. Food and Drug Administration to preserve state authority to enforce their consumer protection laws in connection with the sale of over-the-counter hearing aids.

The FDA is currently considering a proposal that would establish for the first time a new category of over-the-counter hearing aids that would allow such devices to be sold directly to consumers without a medical exam or fitting by an audiologist.

Currently, all 50 states have professional licensing requirements for selling hearing aids, and many states have important protections for hearing aid consumers, including mandatory warranties and returns and advertising restrictions. The attorneys general caution that rules currently under review by the FDA may unintentionally hinder those important consumer protection efforts, undermining states' abilities to ensure safe and affordable access to hearing aids. The attorneys general urge the FDA to make explicit that their federal rule will not preempt these critical state consumer protections.

The attorneys general further urge the FDA to strengthen age verification processes to protect children under 18 and make it clear that over-the-counter hearing aids are only appropriate for those with mild to moderate hearing loss.

The comment letter was led by Connecticut Attorney General William Tong and Ohio Attorney General Dave Yost, and joined by the attorneys general of Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Guam, Hawaii, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

Over-the-counter hearing aids could become a good option for adults with mild to moderate hearing loss, but we need regulations to ensure they are marketed and managed safely. States have long played that consumer protection role, and federal regulation should complement, not preempt these important safeguards.

-- Connecticut Attorney General William Tong

There need to be affordable options for Ohioans who need hearing assistance, but some of the aids out there are nothing more than a decorative car piece. The states' ability to protect consumers with things such as warranties, refunds and exchanges is vital and these new rules could prevent that.

--Ohio Attorney General Dave Yost

Idaho Attorney General Lawrence Wasden and Secretary of State Lawrence Denney send MyPillow CEO a cease and desist letter along with a $6k bill. Three months after a state investigation disproved MyPillow CEO Mike Lindell's accusations of voter fraud in Idaho, the information remains on Lindell's website. Idaho government officials want it gone. They also want Lindell to pay the state for the money it spent proving Lindell's allegations wrong. Secretary of State Lawrence Denney and Attorney General Lawrence Wasden sent a cease-and-desist letter to Lindell on Tuesday. They asked Lindell to promptly remove all false statements about Idaho's elections from your website and refrain from making similar statements in the future.

MEDICAID FRAUD

Massachusetts Attorney General Maura Healey announced that her office's Medicaid Fraud Division recovered more than $50 million in calendar year 2021.

The AG's Medicaid Fraud Division investigates and prosecutes providers who defraud the state's Medicaid program, MassHealth. The Division is also responsible for reviewing complaints of abuse, neglect, mistreatment, and financial exploitation of patients in long-term care facilities and MassHealth members in any health care settings.

In 2021, the Division secured 22 civil settlements with various entities, including: home health agencies, substance abuse treatment facilities, adult day health centers, adult foster care providers, skilled nursing facilities, and dental practices. The overwhelming majority of the Division's recoveries were returned to MassHealth, but funds were also returned to the Department of Public Health's Long-Term Care Facility Quality Improvement Fund, patients who had paid out-of-pocket for services that should have been covered by MassHealth, the federal Medicare program, and whistleblowers who brought lawsuits against providers alleging fraud.

Press Release

"I'm proud of the vital work our Medicaid Fraud Division does to protect our most vulnerable residents, safeguard taxpayer dollars, and uphold the integrity of the MassHealth program. Addressing fraud and misconduct in the health care sector is a top priority for my office, and we will continue this important work in 2022."

--Massachusetts Attorney General Maura Healey

CONSUMER PROTECTION & COVID-19

California Attorney General Rob Bonta issued a price-gouging alert following Governor Gavin Newsom's Executive Order prohibiting price gouging of at-home COVID-19 test kits. The Executive Order protects Californians by generally prohibiting the sale of at-home COVID-19 test kits at a price that exceeds, by more than 10%, the price the seller charged for the item on December 1, 2021. Sellers who have not previously sold at-home COVID-19 test kits may not sell testing kits for a price that is greater than 50% of what the seller paid to acquire the testing kit.

Press Release

Executive Order

Michigan Attorney General Dana Nessel is amplifying new warnings related to reports of fake at-home COVID-19 tests being sold online. Both the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) and Better Business Bureau (BBB) recently released warnings related to fraudulent tests as AG Nessel issues her website's alert.

Press Release

Body

New Mexico Attorney General Hector Balderas issued a consumer alert warning New Mexicans about COVID- 19 test scams. With more and more people seeking tests, scammers may be exploiting this demand to steal personal, financial, or medical information. New Mexicans should also be aware of reports that certain testing sites are issuing illegitimate "negative" test results without actual testing taking place. Attorney General Balderas asks New Mexicans to remain vigilant when requesting a COVID- 19 test both at a testing site and at home.

Press Release

Colorado Attorney General Phil Weiser, in cooperation with the Colorado Department of Public Health & Environment, have ordered the Center for COVID Control to stop all testing operations in the state for failing to be properly certified by the federal government to perform COVID- 19 testing and for failing to report COVID- 19 testing results and cases to the Department as required by state law. Testing locations operated by Macagain Corp. were also ordered to halt operations due to failure to comply with reporting requirements.

Press Release

Washington Attorney General Bob Ferguson is urging consumers to be on the lookout for price gouging on at-home test kits for COVID- 19. Businesses that raise prices on emergency goods and services in order to maximize profit during a declared public health emergency or natural disaster commit an unfair business practice. Washington is one of a minority of states that does not have an anti-price gouging law. Last year, AG Ferguson proposed legislation to prohibit price-gouging on emergency goods and services during a declared state of emergency.

Press Release

Oregon Attorney General Ellen Rosenblum encourages Oregonians to watch out for suspicious COVID- 19 Testing Sites. With the growth of the highly contagious Omicron variant and the demand for COVID- 19 tests rising throughout Oregon, Attorney General Ellen Rosenblum reminded Oregonians to watch for testing sites or vendors that are selling at-home tests for sky-high prices. Oregonians should be cautious of pop-up testing sites that charge out-of-pocket fees, do not display logos, do not disclose the laboratory performing the test, are not affiliated with a known organization, and those that ask for sensitive information like social security numbers.

Body

A coalition of 30 state attorneys general led by AGs from Pennsylvania, Washington, Illinois, Massachusetts, and California reached a settlement with student loan servicer Navient over allegedly unfair, deceptive, and abusive student loan origination and servicing practices. The $1.8 billion settlement will undoubtedly draw eyes, but perhaps just as important is the validation that state AGs are keying in on ability-to-repay determinations as a source for potential unfair and deceptive acts or practices (UDAP) claims. Over the last several years, this ability-to-repay theory has gained major traction with the AGs as they combat what they perceive to be predatory lending in a number of industries.

OPIOIDS

New York, North Carolina, California, Ohio, and Illinois Attorneys General announced that a federal court ruled in favor of the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) and seven other states, finding that convicted criminal Martin Shkreli engaged in illegal and monopolistic behavior when he served as the CEO of Viatris Pharmaceuticals (previously known as Turing Pharmaceuticals). The court found that Shkreli violated both federal and state laws by engaging in anticompetitive conduct to protect monopoly profits on the life-saving drug Daraprim (pyrimethamine) by banning him for life from the pharmaceutical industry and ordering him to pay nearly $65 million.

"Envy, greed, lust, and hate don't just separate, but they obviously motivated Mr. Shkreli and his partner to illegally jack up the price of a life-saving drug, as Americans' lives hang in the balance. But Americans can rest easy because Martin Shkreli is a Pharma Bro no more. A federal court has not only found that his conduct was illegal, but also banned this convicted criminal from the pharmaceutical industry for life and required him to pay nearly $65 million. This is on top of the $40 million we've already secured from Viatris. The rich and powerful don't get to play by their own set of rules, so it seems that cash doesn't rule everything around Mr. Shkreli. New Yorkers can trust that my office will do everything possible to hold the powerful accountable, in addition to fighting to protect their health and their wallets."

--New York Attorney General Letitia James

NY Press Release

"Today's win is an important one in our fight to make sure Americans can get affordable, life-saving medications. Martin Shkreli put profits over people's lives -- it was unconscionable and illegal, and I'm pleased he'll never be able to work in the pharmaceutical industry again. Drug companies and executives should take note: if you illegally raise drug prices for your own financial gain, I will hold you accountable."

--North Carolina Attorney General Josh Stein

NC Press Release

"Without regard for the lives he put at risk, Martin Shkreli orchestrated a scheme to raise the price of a vital medication from less than $20 to $750, making it nearly impossible for the people who rely on the medication to access or afford it. Yesterday, Rep. Ken Buck, Ranking Member of the Antitrust, Commercial and Administrative Law Subcommittee, filed a discharge petition in an attempt to force a floor vote on the State Antitrust Enforcement Venue Act of 2021. Discharge petitions require a simple majority of the House of Representatives to discharge a bill from committee to the floor without requiring the support of Congressional leadership. Of the 218 required signatories, Rep. Buck's petition currently has 39 signatures.

The initial NAAG letter was signed by 52 attorneys general and was also supported in an OpEd in October by Attorneys General Peterson and James. NAAG will continue to monitor and will provide updates as available.

The petition to discharge for the State Antitrust Enforcement Venue Act of 2021 now has 50 signatures. Rep. Buck's staff have expressed their goal is to receive at least 70 signatures, which would help encourage leadership to bring the bill to the floor for a vote after its bipartisan successes in both Judiciary Committees already earlier this year.

As the discharge petition is a tool primarily used by the House minority, Rep. Buck's office has asked attorneys general and their staff to consider reaching out to Republican members of their Congressional delegations to encourage them to support both the petition (H. Res. 823) and the bill (HR 3460) to help the bill continue moving forward. Please also consider encouraging members of both parties in your delegation to cosponsor the bill. The State Antitrust Enforcement Venue Act has the best chance of moving forward of any current antitrust legislation and your support and outreach will be critical in helping this bill reach the finish line.

Please let me know if you have any questions about the process or status of the bill. A one pager is also attached.

Yesterday, Rep. Ken Buck, Ranking Member of the Antitrust, Commercial and Administrative Law Subcommittee, filed a discharge petition in an attempt to force a floor vote on the State Antitrust Enforcement Venue Act of 2021. Discharge petitions require a simple majority of the House of Representatives to discharge a bill from committee to the floor without requiring the support of Congressional leadership. Of the 218 required signatories, Rep. Buck's petition currently has 39 signatures.

The initial NAAG letter was signed by 52 attorneys general and was also supported in an OpEd in October by Attorneys General Peterson and James. NAAG will continue to monitor and will provide updates as available.

Throughout the markup, multiple Senators referenced the bipartisan support from the 52 attorneys general who signed the attached letter and the importance of state antitrust enforcement by attorneys general.

These events over the last eleven years (September 2010 – October 2021) were overwhelmingly successful and resulted in the collection and disposal of over 7,440 tons of pharmaceuticals. The success of the past events is in no small part due to the cooperative efforts of the State Attorney General Offices' in encouraging participation by state, local, and tribal law enforcement agencies. Your outreach is greatly appreciated. The upcoming take back day will provide another opportunity for the public who have accumulated prescription controlled substances to surrender these substance to law enforcement officers for proper disposal. We, again, request your support and hope you will join us in this effort by encouraging participation by law enforcement organizations within your state. Collection locations staffed by duly authorized law enforcement officials are planned from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. at predetermined community sites. Destruction will be accomplished in accordance with all applicable federal and state laws and regulations. Local departments may contact the DEA office in their area of jurisdiction for collection day protocols. As a result of COVID-19, we understand it is a fluid situation and that circumstances for each state will differ. Thank you for your consideration of this important project. I think we had some great discussion regarding case prioritizations, communication and paths forward. I will be sending you a prioritization scheme proposal soon. We have some great policies from MN and VA that we plan to mimic in our policy. We will send to the attendees of today's meeting for feedback, then send to you for approval. Once approved I will send a memo to all of our stakeholders. The hot topic of the meeting was what your decision is regarding firearms and latent print analyses. LEAs want to know what our plan is. Apparently, they have been holding these cases so there is a backlog at the LEAs. I have attached the proposal I sent to you in April for your review. We probably should set an in person meeting to discuss these items. Please let me know if you have any questions or need additional information. Regards, Robyn A. Body

I have waited for Marcie to set a time to discuss concerns with me since December 22nd, as she suggested, with no response. Now I see she is on leave until the day I retire. I expect a call from someone regarding my concerns listed below before I retire. All of you have been very good at ignoring my issues and the issues of many, many other staff within the Dept of Human Services hoping they will quietly disappear. I know you are all very aware of the issues and shaking the way you are treating state employees, that have years of service, with never any complaint about their work, under the guise of "restructure" is inhumane or worse. If you are not part of the solution, you are part of the problem as the saying goes.

Wayne, as a prior next door neighbor of yours in Grand Forks, I am including you in this email. I wonder if you have any idea what has been going on in the Department of Human Services for the past while and all the staff that are quitting because of the way they (we) are being treated? I truly believe things need to be looked into very deeply....starting of course at the top.

Marcie---

I have not heard from you regarding a time to verbally discuss. Please talk to Donna and Jeff before we talk. If there is one thing I am certain of, it is that laws were broken in not posting the positions given to two Fargo staff for accounts payable entry statewide.

Things are in self destruct mode here at NEHSC which in the end will be good overall for anyone that ends of staying at NEHSC going forward. If anyone does stay.

Thank you for the response Becky. I understand that you are frustrated and I do want to assure that your questions are answered, even though your concerns go back farther than 15 days. In order to look into what your questions are, discussion will need to be held with Jeff Stenseth and Donna Aukland. As you point out, the grievance process is a written process with specific time limits governed by Century Code and Administrative Rule. But that does not mean that issues cannot be resolved by other means.

I would add that when reorganizations occur, certain processes are handled differently, but still are required to be follow State and Federal employment laws. This reorganization would be no different.

I'm not sure when your last day of work is, but would you have any time next week or the following week to connect and we can verbally walk through your concerns?

Subject: RE: Question---are you going to reply or confirm receipt of below email?

Good Morning Marcie,

I know from prior staff that grievances go nowhere and it almost always hurts the staff that files them. I did look at the grievance form and it said that it needed to be filed with 15 days of incident. I am questioning what happened long after 15 days has past and just want a few answers before I retire. I have included others in this email because they need to know what is going on if they are not aware already. I am not going to personally talk to Jeff Stenseth or Donna Aukland about this because I am afraid of what they would potentially do to me.

In further clarification:

I received verbal notification in a meeting (no written notice) from Lynn Bingham with Jeff Stenseth present and a few other staff that were also having some minor duties removed. Again, Lynn apologized for not giving me more notice but said he was instructed not to! I just left Lynn Bingham's office and asked Lynn who he received the instruction from as far as giving me no notice that all my duties were being taken away. He said it was Donna Aukland. He said Donna, in meetings, told all business managers not to say anything to staff until they met with staff the end of July. The meeting occurred at the very end of July and I was told I was losing almost all of accounts payable duties immediately. There was another staff or two in the office that were also losing a few duties but I was the only one losing 90 percent or more along with others in my position in the state. I'm sure this was due to statewide reorganization. That is not the problem or the question. In the meeting it was said that some of my duties, going forward, were going to be required to be done by the business managers and the remainder was being given to two office assistants in NEHSC. I immediately asked why these 2 staff were just given all of my duties other than what the business manager was to do. Lynn Bingham threw out the response that their office was bigger or something to that effect, which of course I knew had nothing to do with anything. Jeff Stenseth sat there and said nothing regarding that.

My questions remain---

- Why didn't the two office assistants have to apply for the jobs they got working on accounts payable for the whole state? Jobs that were taken from others statewide and just given to them? Is it not policy that these positions should have been opened up for me or others to have applied for if we wished? That is a question that I believe you would have the answer to Marcie.
- Why did I get such late notice that my job was disappearing. This, most likely, would be a question for Donna Aukland and Jeff Stenseth.
- Donna Aukland said there would be other duties to replace the ones I lost but I was never given anything? I do not know if my counterparts statewide were given new duties or not. Also please note that Lynn Bingham asked Donna several times, if I could help him out with duties given to him and Donna said No.

I expect that Donna and Jeff will come up with excuses that in their minds they can justify. I however, think it

Body

I have waited for Marcie to set a time to discuss concerns with me since December 22nd, as she suggested, with no response. Now I see she is on leave until the day I retire. I expect a call from someone regarding my concerns listed below before I retire. All of you have been very good at ignoring my issues and the issues of many, many other staff within the Dept of Human Services hoping they will quietly disappear. I know you are all very aware of the issues and shaking the way you are treating state employees, that have years of service, with never any complaint about their work, under the guise of "restructure" is inhumane or worse. If you are not part of the solution, you are part of the problem as the saying goes.

Wayne, as a prior next door neighbor of yours in Grand Forks, I am including you in this email. I wonder if you have any idea what has been going on in the Department of Human Services for the past while and all the staff that are quitting because of the way they (we) are being treated? I truly believe things need to be looked into very deeply....starting of course at the top.

Marcie---

I have not heard from you regarding a time to verbally discuss. Please talk to Donna and Jeff before we talk. If there is one thing I am certain of, it is that laws were broken in not posting the positions given to two Fargo staff for accounts payable entry statewide.

Things are in self destruct mode here at NEHSC which in the end will be good overall for anyone that ends of staying at NEHSC going forward. If anyone does stay.

Thank you for the response Becky. I understand that you are frustrated and I do want to assure that your questions are answered, even though your concerns go back farther than 15 days. In order to look into what your questions are, discussion will need to be held with Jeff Stenseth and Donna Aukland. As you point out, the grievance process is a written process with specific time limits governed by Century Code and Administrative Rule. But that does not mean that issues cannot be resolved by other means.

I would add that when reorganizations occur, certain processes are handled differently, but still are required to be follow State and Federal employment laws. This reorganization would be no different.

I'm not sure when your last day of work is, but would you have any time next week or the following week to connect and we can verbally walk through your concerns?

Subject: RE: Question---are you going to reply or confirm receipt of below email?

Good Morning Marcie,

I know from prior staff that grievances go nowhere and it almost always hurts the staff that files them. I did look at the grievance form and it said that it needed to be filed with 15 days of incident. I am questioning what happened long after 15 days has past and just want a few answers before I retire. I have included others in this email because they need to know what is going on if they are not aware already. I am not going to personally talk to Jeff Stenseth or Donna Aukland about this because I am afraid of what they would potentially do to me.

In further clarification:

I received verbal notification in a meeting (no written notice) from Lynn Bingham with Jeff Stenseth present and a few other staff that were also having some minor duties removed. Again, Lynn apologized for not giving me more notice but said he was instructed not to! I just left Lynn Bingham's office and asked Lynn who he received the instruction from as far as giving me no notice that all my duties were being taken away. He said it was Donna Aukland. He said Donna, in meetings, told all business managers not to say anything to staff until they met with staff the end of July. The meeting occurred at the very end of July and I was told I was losing almost all of accounts payable duties immediately. There was another staff or two in the office that were also losing a few duties but I was the only one losing 90 percent or more along with others in my position in the state. I'm sure this was due to statewide reorganization. That is not the problem or the question. In the meeting it was said that some of my duties, going forward, were going to be required to be done by the business managers and the remainder was being given to two office assistants in NEHSC. I immediately asked why these 2 staff were just given all of my duties other than what the business manager was to do. Lynn Bingham threw out the response that their office was bigger or something to that effect, which of course I knew had nothing to do with anything. Jeff Stenseth sat there and said nothing regarding that.

My questions remain---

- Why didn't the two office assistants have to apply for the jobs they got working on accounts payable for the whole state? Jobs that were taken from others statewide and just given to them? Is it not policy that these positions should have been opened up for me or others to have applied for if we wished? That is a question that I believe you would have the answer to Marcie.
- Why did I get such late notice that my job was disappearing. This, most likely, would be a question for Donna Aukland and Jeff Stenseth.
- Donna Aukland said there would be other duties to replace the ones I lost but I was never given anything? I do not know if my counterparts statewide were given new duties or not. Also please note that Lynn Bingham asked Donna several times, if I could help him out with duties given to him and Donna said No.

I expect that Donna and Jeff will come up with excuses that in their minds they can justify. I however, think it

Becky, you are correct that I am out. I arranged for a colleague to contact you during my absence to discuss your concerns. Her name is Joanie Pesek and she is ccd on this email. I apologize if this email is duplicate - sending it from my phone.

I would again encourage you to follow your chain of command. You also have the employee grievance process available to you.

In a previous message you suggested that I talk to Donna Aukland and Jeff Stenseth. I do not know all of the questions you have. It would be most appropriate for you to start with Jeff as I believe he is next in your chain of command, but you have refused to do that.

Joanie will be reaching out to you.

Becky, you are correct that I am out. I arranged for a colleague to contact you during my absence to discuss your concerns. Her name is Joanie Pesek and she is ccd on this email. I apologize if this email is duplicate - sending it from my phone.

I would again encourage you to follow your chain of command. You also have the employee grievance process available to you.

In a previous message you suggested that I talk to Donna Aukland and Jeff Stenseth. I do not know all of the questions you have. It would be most appropriate for you to start with Jeff as I believe he is next in your chain of command, but you have refused to do that.

Joanie will be reaching out to you.

I expect a call from someone regarding my concerns listed below before I retire. All of you have been very good at ignoring my issues and the issues of many, many other staff within the Dept of Human Services hoping they will quietly disappear. I know you are all very aware of the issues and chalking the way you are treating state employees, that have years of service, with never any complaint about their work, under the guise of "restructure" is inhumane or worse. If you are not part of the solution, you are part of the problem as the saying goes.

Wayne, as a prior next door neighbor of yours in Grand Forks, I am including you in this email. I wonder if you have any idea what has been going on in the Department of Human Services for the past while and all the staff that are quitting because of the way they (we) are being treated? I truly believe things need to be looked into very deeply....starting of course at the top.

Marci—

I have not heard from you regarding a time to verbally discuss. Please talk to Donna and Jeff before we talk. If there is one thing I am certain of, it is that laws were broken in not posting the positions given to two Fargo staff for accounts payable entry statewide.

Things are in self destruct mode here at NEHSC which in the end will be good overall for anyone that ends of staying at NEHSC going forward. If anyone does stay.

Thank you for the response Becky. I understand that you are frustrated and I do want to assure that your questions are answered, even though your concerns go back farther than 15 days. In order to look into what your questions are, discussion will need to be held with Jeff Stenseth and Donna Aukland. As you point out, the grievance process is a written process with specific time limits governed by Century Code and Administrative Rule. But that does not mean that issues cannot be resolved by other means.

Subject: RE: Question---are you going to reply or confirm receipt of below email?

Good Morning Marcie,

I know from prior staff that grievances go nowhere and it almost always hurts the staff that files them. I did look at the grievance form and it said that it needed to be filed with 15 days of incident. I am questioning what happened long after 15 days has past and just want a few answers before I retire. I have included others in this email because they need to know what is going on if they are not aware already. I am not going to personally talk to Jeff Stenseth or Donna Aukland about this because I am afraid of what they would potentially do to me.

In further clarification:

I received verbal notification in a meeting (no written notice) from Lynn Bingham with Jeff Stenseth present and a few other staff that were also having some minor duties removed. Again, Lynn apologized for not giving me more notice but said he was instructed not to! I just left Lynn Bingham's office and asked Lynn who he received the instruction from as far as giving me no notice that all my duties were being taken away. He said it was Donna Aukland. He said Donna, in meetings, told all business managers not to say anything to staff until they met with staff the end of July. The meeting occurred at the very end of July and I was told I was losing almost all of accounts payable duties immediately. There was another staff or two in the office that were also losing a few duties but I was the only one losing 90 percent or more along with others in my position in the state. I'm sure this was due to statewide reorganization. That is not the problem or the question. In the meeting it was said that some of my duties, going forward, were going to be required to be done by the business managers and the remainder was being given to two office assistants in SEHSC. I immediately asked why these 2 staff were just given all of my duties other than what the business manager was to do. Lynn Bingham threw out the response that their office was bigger or something to that effect, which of course I knew had nothing to do with anything. Jeff Stenseth sat there and said nothing regarding that.

My questions remain—

- Why didn't the two office assistants have to apply for the jobs they got working on accounts payable for the whole state? Jobs that were taken from others statewide and just given to them? Is it not policy that these positions should have been opened up for me or others to have applied for if we wished? That is a question that I believe you would have the answer to Marcie.
- Why did I get such late notice that my job was disappearing. This, most likely, would be a question for Donna Aukland and Jeff Stenseth.
- Donna Aukland said there would be other duties to replace the ones I lost but I was never given anything? I do not know if my counterparts statewide were given new duties or not. Also please note that Lynn Bingham asked Donna several times, if I could help him out with duties given to him and Donna said No.

I expect that Donna and Jeff will come up with excuses that in their minds they can justify. I however, think it is very sad what they, and possibly their superiors, are doing to so many employees within the state. Jeff Stenseth introduces himself at meetings as the person who they bring in to get rid of staff but that it is not true. I have heard him say this on more than one occasion as has everyone else here. You do not get a reputation for something that is not deserved so of course it is true. I am not certain that he was trying to get rid of me. I do think they were getting rid of my position but there has to be a better way of doing this other than devaluing people that have given many years of service to this state and offering them nothing in return as far as other duties, a buy out or whatever. There are many instances where staff have been treated so badly that they quit or retire but I can't and won't speak for others. All anyone has to do is look at the turnover to know this as a fact.

I do want my questions answered and this brought out in the open so hopefully going forward a better process can be in place that treats employees with dignity and respect. Neither of which I feel I was afforded. This is the reason unions are formed to protect employees from being treated the way I have been treated. I have never been a union member or even thought there was a need for unions prior to this but I am , unfortunately, realizing that there is a need.

Thank you
 Becky Savaloja

Joan—

Joan I know you are in no position to help me as I have checked your job classification. This is in no way a reflection on you and you have every right to be upset that this is being put on you.

It looks like I will need to go outside the Department of Human Services to get anything done.

Thank you anyway.

Joan—

Joan I know you are in no position to help me as I have checked your job classification. This is in no way a reflection on you and you have every right to be upset that this is being put on you.

It looks like I will need to go outside the Department of Human Services to get anything done.

Thank you anyway.

I have told you the questions many times but you want to turn your head like everyone else and dish difficult things off. Why would I reach out to Jeff or Donna when they are the problem. Enjoy your time off.

Becky, you are correct that I am out. I arranged for a colleague to contact you during my absence to discuss your concerns. Her name is Joanie Pesek and she is ccd on this email. I apologize if this email is duplicate - sending it from my phone.

I would again encourage you to follow your chain of command. You also have the employee grievance process available to you.

In a previous message you suggested that I talk to Donna Aukland and Jeff Stenseth. I do not know all of the questions you have. It would be most appropriate for you to start with Jeff as I believe he is next in your chain of command, but you have refused to do that .

Joanie will be reaching out to you.

I have waited for Marcie to set a time to discuss concerns with me since December 22nd, as she suggested, with no response. Now I see she is on leave until the day I retire. I expect a call from someone regarding my concerns listed below before I retire. All of you have been very good at ignoring my issues and the issues of many, many other staff within the Dept of Human Services hoping they will quietly disappear. I know you are all very aware of the issues and chalking the way you are treating state employees, that have years of service, with never any complaint about their work, under the guise of "restructure" is inhumane or worse. If you are not part of the solution, you are part of the problem as the saying goes.

Wayne, as a prior next door neighbor of yours in Grand Forks, I am including you in this email. I wonder if you have any idea what has been going on in the Department of Human Services for the past while and all the staff that are quitting because of the way they (we) are being treated? I truly believe things need to be looked into very deeply.....starting of course at the top.

Marci—

I have not heard from you regarding a time to verbally discuss. Please talk to Donna and Jeff before we talk. If there is one thing I am certain of, it is that laws were broken in not posting the positions given to two Fargo staff for accounts payable entry statewide.

Things are in self destruct mode here at NEHSC which in the end will be good overall for anyone that ends of staying at NEHSC going forward. If anyone does stay.

Thank you for the response Becky. I understand that you are frustrated and I do want to assure that your questions are answered, even though your concerns go back farther than 15 days. In order to look into what your questions are, discussion will need to be held with Jeff Stenseth and Donna Aukland. As you point out, the grievance process is a written process with specific time limits governed by Century Code and Administrative Rule. But that does not mean that issues cannot be resolved by other means.

I would add that when reorganizations occur, certain processes are handled differently, but still are required to be follow State and Federal employment laws. This reorganization would be no different.

I'm not sure when your last day of work is, but would you have any time next week or the following week to connect and we can verbally walk through your concerns?

Subject: RE: Question---are you going to reply or confirm receipt of below email?

Good Morning Marcie,

I know from prior staff that grievances go nowhere and it almost always hurts the staff that files them. I did look at the grievance form and it said that it needed to be filed with 15 days of incident. I am questioning what happened long after 15 days has past and just want a few answers before I retire. I have included others in this email because they need to know what is going on if they are not aware already. I am not going to personally talk to Jeff Stenseth or Donna Aukland about this because I am afraid of what they would potentially do to me.

In further clarification:

I received verbal notification in a meeting (no written notice) from Lynn Bingham with Jeff Stenseth present and a few other staff that were also having some minor duties removed. Again, Lynn apologized for not giving me more notice but said he was instructed not to! I just left Lynn Bingham's office and asked Lynn who he received the instruction from as far as giving me no notice that all my duties were being taken away. He said it was Donna Aukland. He said Donna, in meetings, told all business managers not to say anything to staff until they met with staff the end of July. The meeting occurred at the very end of July and I was told I was losing almost all of accounts payable duties immediately. There was another staff or two in the office that were also losing a few duties but I was the only one losing 90 percent or more along with others in my position in the state. I'm sure this was due to statewide reorganization. That is not the problem or the question. In the meeting it was said that some of my duties, going forward, were going to be required to be done by the business managers and the remainder was being given to two office assistants in SEHSC. I immediately asked why these 2 staff were just given all of my duties other than what the business manager was to do. Lynn Bingham threw out the response that their office was bigger or something to that effect, which of course I knew had nothing to do with anything. Jeff Stenseth sat there and said nothing regarding that.

My questions remain--

- Why didn't the two office assistants have to apply for the jobs they got working on accounts payable for the whole state? Jobs that were taken from others statewide and just given to them? Is it not policy that these positions should have been opened up for me or others to have applied for if we wished? That is a question that I believe you would have the answer to Marcie.
- Why did I get such late notice that my job was disappearing. This, most likely, would be a question for Donna Aukland and Jeff Stenseth.
- Donna Aukland said there would be other duties to replace the ones I lost but I was never given anything? I do not know if my counterparts statewide were given new duties or not. Also please note that Lynn Bingham asked Donna several times, if I could help him out with duties given to him and Donna said No.

I expect that Donna and Jeff will come up with excuses that in their minds they can justify. I however, think it is very sad what they, and possibly their superiors, are doing to so many employees within the state. Jeff Stenseth introduces himself at meetings as the person who they bring in to get rid of staff but that it is not true. I have heard him say this on more than one occasion as has everyone else here. You do not get a reputation for something that is not deserved so of course it is true. I am not certain that he was trying to get rid of me. I do think they were getting rid of my position but there has to be a better way of doing this other than devaluing people that have given many years of service to this state and offering them nothing in return as far as other duties, a buy out or whatever. There are many instances where staff have been treated so badly that they quit or retire but I can't and won't speak for others. All anyone has to do is look at the turnover to know this as a fact.

I do want my questions answered and this brought out in the open so hopefully going forward a better process can be in place that treats employees with dignity and respect. Neither of which I feel I was afforded. This is the reason unions are formed to protect employees from being treated the way I have been treated. I have never been a union member or even thought there was a need for unions prior to this but I am, unfortunately, realizing that there is a need.

EXTERNAL TO GT

I can now confirm that the Court will continue to permit only the arguing counsel and one co-counsel each to be present in the Courtroom for each argument, and no other individuals (i.e., clients, attorneys, guests, etc.) will be permitted into the Court building on argument days. The Court will require COVID testing for each attorney scheduled to be in the Courtroom and remote participation will be available for those who may test positive.

Information regarding the testing the Court will provide for will be sent to you shortly. Thank you for your cooperation and understanding.

Regards,

Denise McNerney
