Justices to Consider Limiting Clean Water Act

The U.S. Supreme Court, heeding calls from business and property-rights groups, agreed to use a long-running Idaho fight to consider curbing the reach of the Clean Water Act.

The justices said they will hear an appeal from Chantell and Michael Sackett, an Idaho couple waging a 15-year-old battle to build a house on land that federal regulators say is protected wetlands. The Sacketts won a 2012 Supreme Court ruling that let their lawsuit go forward.

The case becomes the second major environmental clash on the court's docket. The justices next month will consider limiting the Environmental Protection Agency's ability to address climate change through sweeping reductions of power-plant emissions.

The Supreme Court is likely to hear the case in the term that starts in October.

The new case could give companies a freer hand to discharge pollutants and let developers construct more new houses without getting a federal permit. The U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Home Builders were among the groups urging the Supreme Court to hear the case.

The Sacketts' appeal asks the court to revisit a 2006 Clean Water Act case, Rapanos v. United States, which failed to produce a majority decision and left uncertainty about the governing standard. Four justices, led by Antonin Scalia, said the law covers wetlands only if they have a continuous surface connection to a river, lake or other major waterway.

A fifth, Justice Anthony Kennedy, created his own test, saying the Clean Water Act covers wetlands with a "significant nexus" to one of those larger bodies of water.

In their appeal, the Sacketts say courts and regulators alike have struggled to figure out how the two standards intersect. The couple's lawyers say the court should adopt Scalia's test and clear up the confusion.

All,

Here is an updated (and citechecked) stay/cert before judgment filing. It's substantively identical to what I sent last night. (With one exception: an eastern member of our coalition, apparently unfamiliar with the cut-and-suck method of treating rattlesnake bites, asked for the removal of that reference.)

We think this anticipates everything any adverse panel decision might say, so it should not take long to add responses to the Sixth Circuit.

As you can see, our flight home for today has been cancelled. We are now scheduled for tomorrow instead, so it looks like I will not be in the office tomorrow. I have that one opinion that Ally says must be out before next week so I will be working on that today.
 Let me know if there's anything else I need to do before the end of the year.

Also this morning, I became aware of his letter to the editor, which I have attached too. From: clyde reilly <clydecarol1973@gmail.com> Sent: Monday, January 3, 2022 6:11 AM To: Oliver, Lee A. <loliver@nd.gov> Subject: Flanders Hey Lee Ann Oliver, We successfully conducted a recall petition here in Pembina County this past summer. You were most helpful for us to understand the process and get the details for the petition right. I must acknowledge that our County Auditor Linda Schlittenhard was also very cooperative and helpful. The electors of Pembina County were given an opportunity to affect change and the incumbent county commissioner was soundly defeated and the candidate that we endorsed has been seated. The result of the process was a good thing but there is more to do. Loren Estad, one of us Despicable, Radical, Anarchists from Crystal emailed to the Office of Attorney General of North Dakota a petition to conduct an investigation of Pembina County States Attorney Rebecca Flanders according to NDCC 44-11. A copy of this petition was also sent by Loren Estad to the Secretary of State. Attached Lee Ann, is a copy of the response to us from the AG and a copy of that was provided to the Secretary of State. We the people of Pembina County are desperately in need of the remedy provided by law. Prior to the signature gathering that I, Clyde Reilly conducted, a query was sent to the AG asking if there was a format or instructions for the petition needed to move forward with NDCC 44-11. The response to this question from the Office of Attorney General of ND was, "No there is not.", so I proceeded to collect about 80 signatures though only 50 were needed.. Based on this response and the letter attached it would be obvious that the AG would rather not conduct the investigation of our rogue States Attorney Flanders. Note paragraph three of the letter of refusal to do their job from the AG, skip the first sentence as the petition did state the charges. In the second part of the paragraph the writer passes the buck to the Office of Secretary of State(NDCC16.1-01) and the explanation is vague. I also don't understand what is meant by the last sentence that individual pages of the petition be verified. Can you please help unravel the mystery of NDCC 44-11. I get it that the AG doesn't want to do this but it is needed desperately and the law requires it to be done. I fully expected the petition that I presented to be rejected, I gave them obvious reasons to do so, no affidavit by the collector being the main one. I am confused by the last line of paragraph three in the rejection letter where verification of each page of the petition is "apparently" required by NDCC 44-11-03. Seems a bit vague and kind of a stretch. If the petition that I presented to the AG is totally unusable then I am fully prepared to do it again but next time I would like the advice of the Office of Secretary of State now that the AG has referenced it even though there is no mention of Secretary of State in NDCC 44-11. "Apparently". Have a Happy New Year Lee Ann Oliver Clyde Reilly at Stokesville 12-31-21 |

Boulevard Ave., Dept. 125 Bismarck, ND 58505 701-328-2210 tseibel@nd.gov <hr/> From: Jaeger, Al A. <ajaeger@nd.gov> Sent: Thursday, January 6, 2022 9:04 AM To: Seibel, Troy T. <tseibel@nd.gov> Subject: FYI re Pembina SA Removal Troy, in response to the following message, I am sending a response to Mr. Reilly today, which is attached. Also this morning, I became aware of his letter to the editor, which I have attached too. From: clyde reilly <clydecarol1973@gmail.com> Sent: Monday, January 3, 2022 6:11 AM To: Oliver, Lee A. <loliver@nd.gov> Subject: Flanders Hey Lee Ann Oliver, We successfully conducted a recall petition here in Pembina County this past summer. You were most helpful for us to understand the process and get the details for the petition right. I must acknowledge that our County Auditor Linda Schlittenhard was also very cooperative and helpful. The electors of Pembina County were given an opportunity to affect change and the incumbent county commissioner was soundly defeated and the candidate that we endorsed has been seated. The result of the process was a good thing but there is more to do. Loren Estad, one of us Despicable, Radical, Anarchists from Crystal emailed to the Office of Attorney General of North Dakota a petition to conduct an investigation of Pembina County States Attorney Rebecca Flanders according to NDCC 44-11. A copy of this petition was also sent by Loren Estad to the Secretary of State. Attached Lee Ann, is a copy of the response to us from the AG and a copy of that was provided to the Secretary of State. We the people of Pembina County are desperately in need of the remedy provided by law. Prior to the signature gathering that I, Clyde Reilly conducted, a query was sent to the AG asking if there was a format or instructions for the petition needed to move forward with NDCC 44-11. The response to this question from the Office of Attorney General of ND was, "No there is not.", so I proceeded to collect about 80 signatures though only 50 were needed.. Based on this response and the letter attached it would be obvious that the AG would rather not conduct the investigation of our rogue States Attorney Flanders. Note paragraph three of the letter of refusal to do their job from the AG, skip the first sentence as the petition did state the charges. In the second part of the paragraph the writer passes the buck to the Office of Secretary of State(NDCC16.1-01) and the explanation is vague. I also don't understand what is meant by the last sentence that individual pages of the petition be verified. Can you please help unravel the mystery of NDCC 44-11. I get it that the AG doesn't want to do this but it is needed desperately and the law requires it to be done. I fully expected the petition that I presented to be rejected, I gave them obvious reasons to do so, no affidavit by the collector being the main one. I am confused by the last line of paragraph three in the rejection letter where verification of each page of the petition is "apparently" required by NDCC 44-11-03. Seems a bit vague and kind of a stretch. If the petition that I presented to the AG is totally unusable then I am fully prepared to do it again but next time I would like the advice of the Office of Secretary of State now that the AG has referenced it even though there is no mention of Secretary of State in NDCC 44-11. "Apparently". Have a Happy New Year Lee Ann Oliver Clyde Reilly at Stokesville 12-31-21 |

Subject: UND Forensic Science

Dear Attorney General Stenehjem – I am sorry that I missed you when you stopped into my office during Homecoming week. I understand that you met with Dr. Lavinia Iancu, our new director of Forensic Studies. She and I are both supportive of doing all we can to meet the needs of the state’s crime labs. We have more than 100 majors in Forensic Science consistently, and we are open to aligning our curriculum so that our graduates enter the workforce with the skills they need. I am happy to discuss this further at your convenience.

Best wishes,
Brad

Biden Administration Publishes Vaccine Mandate for Large Businesses

The Biden administration rolled out a new COVID-19 vaccine mandate Thursday morning, giving large companies until Jan. 4 to ensure that their workforces are fully vaccinated.

In a conference call with reporters Wednesday night, a senior administration official said the sweeping new measures, which is scheduled to be published in Friday's Federal Register, will apply to about 84 million private sector workers.

The new rule will be enforced by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration. It requires employers with 100 or more employees to ensure each of their workers is fully vaccinated by Jan. 4, and mandates at least weekly testing for unvaccinated employees after that.

The OSHA rule will also require that these employers provide paid time off for employees to get vaccinated, and ensure all unvaccinated workers wear a face mask in the workplace.

"A better future is built around trust, transparency, and inclusion." LEARN MORE

In addition, the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services at the Department of Health and Human Services on Thursday announced details of its requirement that health care workers at facilities participating in Medicare and Medicaid are fully vaccinated.

The rule applies to more than 17 million workers at approximately 76,000 health care facilities, including hospitals and long-term care facilities, the White House said.

The administration has previously implemented policies requiring millions of federal employees and federal contractors to be fully vaccinated.

"While we are encouraged to know that vaccination requirements have already helped cut the number of unvaccinated Americans by nearly 40%, it's important to understand that there are still so many workers who are not protected and remain at risk from becoming seriously ill or dying from COVID-19," the administration official said.

"OSHA estimates that this rule will save thousands of lives and prevent over 250,000 hospitalizations during the six months after implementation," the official continued.

A number of major companies have already embraced COVID-19 vaccination policies similar to those imposed by the Biden administration, seeing them as a corporate responsibility.

Others have moved more slowly, waiting for clarification from the government on how they should proceed, who will pay for testing, and how the rules apply to the large number of people who are now working from home for these companies.

The Federal Register listing, which clocks in at 490 pages, is expected to answer many of these questions.

And while the mandate takes effect immediately, it serves as a proposal for a final standard that could extend the vaccine requirements to smaller businesses.

That means OSHA is soliciting comment on a number of questions, including: Have you instituted vaccination mandates (with or without alternatives), or requirements for regular COVID-19 testing or face covering use? What have been the benefits of your approach? What challenges have you had or could you foresee in implementing such programs? Is there anything specific to your industry, or the size of your business, that poses particular obstacles in implementing the requirements in this standard? How much time would it take, what types of costs would you incur, and how much would it cost for you to implement such requirements?

A senior administration official said OSHA will offer compliance assistance to businesses implementing the new standard beginning Thursday, including sample plans, fact sheets, frequently asked questions, and other materials.

Biden Administration Publishes Vaccine Mandate for Large Businesses

The Biden administration rolled out a new COVID-19 vaccine mandate Thursday morning, giving large companies until Jan. 4 to ensure that their workforces are fully vaccinated.

In a conference call with reporters Wednesday night, a senior administration official said the sweeping new measures, which is scheduled to be published in Friday's Federal Register, will apply to about 84 million private sector workers.

The new rule will be enforced by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration. It requires employers with 100 or more employees to ensure each of their workers is fully vaccinated by Jan. 4, and mandates at least weekly testing for unvaccinated employees after that.

The OSHA rule will also require that these employers provide paid time off for employees to get vaccinated, and ensure all unvaccinated workers wear a face mask in the workplace.

In addition, the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services at the Department of Health and Human Services on Thursday announced details of its requirement that health care workers at facilities participating in Medicare and Medicaid are fully vaccinated.

The rule applies to more than 17 million workers at approximately 76,000 health care facilities, including hospitals and long-term care facilities, the White House said.

The administration has previously implemented policies requiring millions of federal employees and federal contractors to be fully vaccinated.

"While we are encouraged to know that vaccination requirements have already helped cut the number of unvaccinated Americans by nearly 40%, it's important to understand that there are still so many workers who are not protected and remain at risk from becoming seriously ill or dying from COVID-19," the administration official said.

For contractors, guidance on ever-evolving federal vaccine mandate makes compliance difficult

8 min read

Update: The Biden administration on Thursday extended the deadline for federal contractors to comply with the vaccine mandate, a day after this story was initially posted. Contractors now have until Jan. 5, the same deadline that private sector companies have under new requirements from the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

This story was updated on Thursday, Nov. 4, 2021 at 9:10 a.m. to reflect the new deadline.

Federal contractors now have two months to comply for their employees to comply with the president's recent executive order requiring COVID-19 vaccines.

So far, government vendors and other stakeholders have reacted to the federal vaccine mandate in a variety of ways.

Insight by Tanium: In this exclusive executive briefing, executives will discuss their approach to building a flexible and dynamic zero trust network.

Some states have sued.

Republicans on the House Oversight and Reform Committee are looking for more information. They wrote to the Defense Department, General Services Administration and Office of Management and Budget on Wednesday seeking a variety of documents that explain the administration's decision making process for the mandate.

Government contracts attorneys and professional services organizations say many of their clients are complying with the federal vaccine mandate, or at least they're trying to.

All: Attached are the final PDFs of the Petition for Review and Exhibit A that we filed this morning. We received electronic confirmation that the filing fee was processed, but it appears that we will not get file-stamped versions until the clerks come into the office this morning. We are working to update the motion to stay and will get you the updated draft asap. Thanks a lot, John

All- Given the length of the ETS, which we are still digesting, we propose filing the PIR tomorrow morning at the opening of business, but target filing the stay motion on Monday. Based on our review so far, we plan to re-work some of the arguments in the draft stay motion to address OSHA's points, and we'd rather take the extra business day to get it right. If you are still preparing declarations, please get them to us by COB tomorrow. (I think I have finalized declarations from Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Wyoming, Missouri, AL, and Doolittle). Thanks, John

Looks like they put an unpublished version on the federal register with intent to publish tomorrow:

<https://www.federalregister.gov/public-inspection/2021-23643/covid-19-vaccination-and-testing-emergency-temporary-standard> [federalregister.gov]

Probably the best course is to file the PIR tomorrow morning, at the same time as the stay motion (which we will be able to update and finalize today) if it does that sound like a good course of action to all?

John,

I thought we needed to wait to file until our petition until the ETS is actually published in the Federal Register. Today's Federal Register is already out and does not include the ETS, so tomorrow is the earliest it could be published. Am I mistaken about that?

The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to OIRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we don&#8220;t have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Please let us know if you would like to join this coalition challenging the ETS, and if so, please send a signature block for your State or private employer. We intend to file the PJR as quickly as possible after the ETS is promulgated, so the sooner you could let us know, the better. Also, attached please find sample declarations for States and private employers that detail the adverse impact of the ETS on petitioners. If you pull together a similar declaration for your State (and feel free to expand on it if you have other injuries), that would be very helpful. For contractors, guidance on ever-evolving federal vaccine mandate makes compliance difficult

Update: The Biden administration on Thursday extended the deadline for federal contractors to comply with the vaccine mandate, a day after this story was initially posted. Contractors now have until Jan. 5, the same deadline that private sector companies have under new requirements from the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

This story was updated on Thursday, Nov. 4, 2021 at 9:10 a.m. to reflect the new deadline.

Federal contractors now have two months to comply for their employees to comply with the president's recent executive order requiring COVID-19 vaccines.

So far, government vendors and other stakeholders have reacted to the federal vaccine mandate in a variety of ways.

Insight by Tanium: In this exclusive executive briefing, executives will discuss their approach to building a flexible and dynamic zero trust network.

Some states have sued.

Republicans on the House Oversight and Reform Committee are looking for more information. They wrote to the Defense Department, General Services Administration and Office of Management and Budget on Wednesday seeking a variety of documents that explain the administration's decision making process for the mandate.

Government contracts attorneys and professional services organizations say many of their clients are complying with the federal vaccine mandate, or at least they're trying to.

All: Attached are the final PDFs of the Petition for Review and Exhibit A that we filed this morning. We received electronic confirmation that the filing fee was processed, but it appears that we will not get file-stamped versions until the clerks come into the office this morning. We are working to update the motion to stay and will get you the updated draft asap. Thanks a lot, John

All- Given the length of the ETS, which we are still digesting, we propose filing the PIR tomorrow morning at the opening of business, but target filing the stay motion on Monday. Based on our review so far, we plan to re-work some of the arguments in the draft stay motion to address OSHA's points, and we'd rather take the extra business day to get it right. If you are still preparing declarations, please get them to us by COB tomorrow. (I think I have finalized declarations from Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Wyoming, Missouri, AL, and Doolittle). Looks like they put an unpublished version on the federal register with intent to publish tomorrow:

<https://www.federalregister.gov/public-inspection/2021-23643/covid-19-vaccination-and-testing-emergency-temporary-standard> [federalregister.gov]

Probably the best course is to file the PIR tomorrow morning, at the same time as the stay motion (which we will be able to update and finalize today) if it does that sound like a good course of action to all?

John,

I thought we needed to wait to file until our petition until the ETS is actually published in the Federal Register. Today's Federal Register is already out and does not include the ETS, so tomorrow is the earliest it could be published. Am I mistaken about that?

The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to OIRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we don't have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Please let us know if you would like to join this coalition challenging the ETS, and if so, please send a signature block for your State or private employer. We intend to file the PJR as quickly as possible after the ETS is promulgated, so the sooner you could let us know, the better. Also, attached please find sample declarations for States and private employers that detail the adverse impact of the ETS on petitioners. If you pull together a similar declaration for your State (and feel free to expand on it if you have other injuries), that would be very helpful. In addition to these, "Iowa," could you please provide a declaration that explains your status as a "costate-plan State"? Thanks a lot, John Sauer This email message, including the attachments, is from the Missouri Attorney General's Office. Subject: RE: Deadline Extension

 Nicole Ogrysko@uogrysko.WFED

8 min read

Update: The Biden administration on Thursday extended the deadline for federal contractors to comply with the vaccine mandate, a day after this story was initially posted. Contractors now have until Jan. 4, the same deadline that private sector companies have under new requirements from the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

This story was updated on Thursday, Nov. 4, 2021 at 9:10 a.m. to reflect the new deadline.

Federal contractors now have two months to comply for their employees to comply with the president's recent executive order requiring COVID-19 vaccines.

So far, government vendors and other stakeholders have reacted to the federal vaccine mandate in a variety of ways.

Insight by Tanium: In this exclusive executive briefing, executives will discuss their approach to building a flexible and dynamic zero trust network.

Some states have sued.

Republicans on the House Oversight and Reform Committee are looking for more information. They wrote to the Defense Department, General Services Administration and Office of Management and Budget on Wednesday seeking a variety of documents that explain the administration's decision making process for the mandate.

Government contractors attorneys and professional services organizations say many of their clients are complying with the federal vaccine mandate, or at least they're trying to.

All- Attached are the final PDFs of the Petition for Review and Exhibit A that we filed this morning. We received electronic confirmation that the filing fee was processed, but it appears that we will not get file-stamped versions until the clerks come into the office this morning. We are working to update the motion to stay and will get you the updated draft asap. Thanks a lot, John

All: Given the length of the ETS, which we are still digesting, we propose filing the PJR tomorrow morning at the opening of business, but target filing the stay motion on Monday. Based on our review so far, we plan to re-work some of the arguments in the draft stay motion to address OSHA's points, and we'll rather take the extra business day to get it right. If you are still preparing declarations, please get them to us by COB tomorrow. (I think I have finalized declarations from Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Wyoming, Missouri, AK, and Doolittle). Thanks, John

Looks like they put an unpublished version on the federal register with intent to publish tomorrow:
<https://www.federalregister.gov/public-inspection/2021-23643/covid-19-vaccination-and-testing-emergency-temporary-standard/federalregister.gov/>

Probably the best course is to file the PJR tomorrow morning, at the same time as the stay motion (which we will be able to update and finalize today) &? Does that sound like a good course of action to all?

John,

I thought we needed to wait to file until our petition until the ETS is actually published in the Federal Register. Today's Federal Register is already out and does not include the ETS, so tomorrow is the earliest it could be published. Am I mistaken about that?

The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to OIRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we don't have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Please let us know if you would like to join this coalition challenging the ETS, and if so, please send a signature block for your State or private employer. We intend to file the PJR as quickly as possible after the ETS is promulgated, so the sooner you could let us know, the better. Also, attached please find sample declarations for States and private employers that detail the adverse impact of the ETS on petitioners. If you pull together a similar declaration for your State (and feel free to expand on it if you have other injuries), that would be very helpful. Subject: RE: Deadline Extension

Update: The Biden administration on Thursday extended the deadline for federal contractors to comply with the vaccine mandate, a day after this story was initially posted. Contractors now have until Jan. 4, the same deadline that private sector companies have under new requirements from the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

This story was updated on Thursday, Nov. 4, 2021 at 9:10 a.m. to reflect the new deadline.

Federal contractors now have two months to comply for their employees to comply with the president's recent executive order requiring COVID-19 vaccines.

So far, government vendors and other stakeholders have reacted to the federal vaccine mandate in a variety of ways.

Insight by Tanium: In this exclusive executive briefing, executives will discuss their approach to building a flexible and dynamic zero trust network.

Some states have sued.

Republicans on the House Oversight and Reform Committee are looking for more information. They wrote to the Defense Department, General Services Administration and Office of Management and Budget on Wednesday seeking a variety of documents that explain the administration's decision making process for the mandate.

Government contractors attorneys and professional services organizations say many of their clients are complying with the federal vaccine mandate, or at least they're trying to.

All- Attached are the final PDFs of the Petition for Review and Exhibit A that we filed this morning. We received electronic confirmation that the filing fee was processed, but it appears that we will not get file-stamped versions until the clerks come into the office this morning. We are working to update the motion to stay and will get you the updated draft asap. Thanks a lot, John

All: Given the length of the ETS, which we are still digesting, we propose filing the PJR tomorrow morning at the opening of business, but target filing the stay motion on Monday. Based on our review so far, we plan to re-work some of the arguments in the draft stay motion to address OSHA's points, and we'd rather take the extra business day to get it right. If you are still preparing declarations, please get them to us by COB tomorrow. (I think I have finalized declarations from Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Wyoming, Missouri, AK, and Doolittle). Thanks, John

Looks like they put an unpublished version on the federal register with intent to publish tomorrow: <https://www.federalregister.gov/public-inspection/2021-23643/covid-19-vaccination-and-testing-emergency-temporary-standard/federalregister.gov/>

Probably the best course is to file the PJR tomorrow morning, at the same time as the stay motion (which we will be able to update and finalize today) &? Does that sound like a good course of action to all?

John,

I thought we needed to wait to file until our petition until the ETS is actually published in the Federal Register. Today's Federal Register is already out and does not include the ETS, so tomorrow is the earliest it could be published. Am I mistaken about that?

The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to OIRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we don't have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Please let us know if you would like to join this coalition challenging the ETS, and if so, please send a signature block for your State or private employer. We intend to file the PJR as quickly as possible after the ETS is promulgated, so the sooner you could let us know, the better. Also, attached please find sample declarations for States and private employers that detail the adverse impact of the ETS on petitioners. If you pull together a similar declaration for your State (and feel free to expand on it if you have other injuries), that would be very helpful. Good Morning!

I spoke with Chris Price this morning regarding this bill. If this passes, this bill would meet the requirements of the EMS Compact.

The next step would be getting it assigned by Legislative Council – it looks like it would be assigned as NDCC 12-60-24(2)(fff). Once assigned, I forward the statute to the FBI for their review. The FBI will let me know whether or not they approve the Department of Health to run the federal record checks. We may not hear whether it's approved for several months since the FBI has a large backlog.

If approved, I will reach out to Chris and we can begin the record check process. Until we receive that approval, BCI will not be able to do a federal record check for this purpose.

Chris guesstimated that it would entail about 200-300 record checks per year. BCI will be able to handle the extra record checks with their current staff.

If I can answer any other questions, please let me know.

Good Morning Land Board Members –
 On Thursday, the ND Delegation introduced our Federal Bill – NORTH DAKOTA TRUST LANDS COMPLETION ACT – which will authorize the State of North Dakota to relinquish state-owned lands and minerals contained within Tribal Reservations and the Little Missouri National Grasslands to the U.S. Department of the Interior and, in exchange, receive federal land and minerals of equal value within North Dakota.

The below news release was sent out yesterday morning.

I will place this as an agenda item on the next Land Board Agenda.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to reach out to me.

Thank you,

WASHINGTON – Senators John Hoeven and Kevin Cramer and Congressman Kelly Armstrong this week introduced the North Dakota Trust Lands Completion Act, bicameral legislation to authorize the State of North Dakota to relinquish state-owned lands and minerals contained within Tribal Reservations and the Little Missouri National Grasslands to the U.S. Department of the Interior and, in exchange, receive federal land and

Currently, North Dakota holds more than 130,000 acres of minerals and over 31,000 surface acres within Tribal Reservations alone, which are largely unavailable for development. At the same time, existing federal laws do not adequately allow for the state and federal government to exchange land and minerals. This leaves surface and mineral rights within the National Grasslands and Tribal Reservations fragmented, while limiting the state's ability to generate revenue from the land and minerals it owns. The North Dakota Lands Trust Completion Act would resolve this issue by allowing equal value transactions between North Dakota and the Interior Department to exchange land and mineral rights, thereby: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Enabling North Dakota to access the lands and minerals that were promised upon statehood to fund education and other public purposes. • Providing tribes greater ownership over the lands within their reservation boundaries. • Helping ensure future conservation of the National Grasslands. "Federal, state and tribal land and mineral rights have long been intermixed. This has created duplicative layers of regulation, prevented North Dakota from developing the energy resources it owns and limited the state's ability to generate revenue for education and other purposes," said Senator Hoeven. "Our legislation helps ensure North Dakota can access the full land and mineral rights it was promised, while restoring tribal ownership over lands and minerals within reservations and enhancing conservation efforts on the National Grasslands." "The federal government's ownership of small tracts of land and minerals throughout North Dakota makes our energy development challenging. We are changing this with our bill, which authorizes land transfers and therefore eliminates unnecessary levels of regulation," said Senator Cramer. "Our legislation ensures North Dakota can better access our natural resources, helps industry permitting efficiency, and increases revenues to the state and its education trust funds, while restoring tribal ownership and conservation of lands we have no intent to develop." "The comingling of federal, state, and tribal lands has long prevented North Dakota's resources from being fully utilized," said Congressman Armstrong. "Our bill will give the state of North Dakota and the tribes more control over lands within their jurisdiction, which will reduce the amount of duplicative regulations and benefit people across our state." "The North Dakota Board of University and School Lands is grateful to the North Dakota delegation for their support of our effort to pass an act that will authorize the State of North Dakota to relinquish land grant parcels located within the reservations and the Little Missouri National Grasslands and to select other Federal land or minerals in lieu of those parcels the State of North Dakota attained at statehood. This effort will provide the Tribes greater Tribal sovereignty and control of land and minerals within the reservations. Additionally, this act will provide for greater conservation and preservation of the Little Missouri National Grasslands. This effort is a win-win solution for the State of North Dakota, the Tribes, and conservationist groups," said Jodi Smith, North Dakota Department of Trust Lands Commissioner. "We were glad to help shape how the draft bill would restore some Reservation land previously taken from us," said Mark Fox, Chairman of the Mandan, Hidatsa, and Arikara Nation. "We support its introduction and look forward to working closely with our congressional delegation and the Congress to ensure the preservation of our treaty rights to land and minerals on the Fort Berthold Indian Reservation." Valuations conducted under this legislation would be determined by Uniform Appraisal Standards for Federal Land Acquisitions and the Uniform Standards for Professional Appraisal Practice. Valid existing rights will be respected in these transactions and there will be no impact on any Indian treaty rights. The full text and a summary of the legislation can be found here and here, respectively. A statement in support of the legislation from Spirit Lake Chairman Douglas Yankton can be found here. -###- |

$100,000 POWERBALL WITH POWER PLAY PRIZE WON IN FARGO

Bismarck – North Dakota Powerball players continue their lucky streak, as another player won big! A $100,000 Powerball with Power Play ticket for Saturday night's draw won by matching four white balls and the Powerball. The winning numbers were 8, 30, 48, 57, 64 and the Powerball was 9. The Power Play multiplier was 2.

The lucky ticket was sold at Cash Wise Fuel, 4907 Timber Parkway South, in Fargo. The prize was $50,000, but as the player had also purchased the Power Play option, the ticket is worth $100,000. The retailer will receive a $2,000 bonus commission for selling the large tier ticket. No one has contacted the Lottery office to claim the prize.

Another North Dakota Lottery player hit it big, matching all four numbers to win the $22,000 2by2 jackpot in Saturday night's draw. The winning numbers for the November 6 draw were Red: 6 and 11; White: 7 and 11. The lucky ticket was sold via the North Dakota Lottery's Pick & Click online play service in Lincoln. The prize has yet to be claimed.

"North Dakota Lottery players have been very lucky as of late," said Randy Miller, director of the North Dakota Lottery. "Players have won over $1.3 million in large tier prizes since October 4, 2021." Winners have 180 days from the date of the drawing to claim their prize. Prizes over $599 must be claimed at the North Dakota Lottery office, which recently moved and is now located at 1720 Burlington Drive in Bismarck.

The Powerball jackpot for the Monday, November 8 draw is $151 million. For winning numbers and other information, visit us on the web at LOTTERY.ND.GOV.

All,

Shalyn in Colorado provided me the draft (attached). As I updated her, the request in the letter was achieved an hour ago when the Senate Judiciary Committee voted the nomination favorably to the floor. All but three members of the committee (Sens. Lee, Hawley, Blackburn) voted in favor of her nomination.

The Fifth Circuit has extended its stay of the OSHA mandate in a 22-page opinion, see attached. This should give a lot of support for our reply brief due Monday.

All-

As you have probably seen, DOJ is asking for our consent to file an overlength & combined response of about 7000 words to our motion to stay and the motion to stay in the consolidated private-party challenge (brought by Boyden Gray on behalf of Job Creators Network et al.). See attached email chain. I am not happy about this request because I think it is an obvious gambit to evade the 5200 word limitation for motion replies in FRAP 27. That said, I think it will be granted given the expedited briefing schedule, and the extra words will probably not make a big difference. I am considering telling DOJ that we will consent to this request if they will consent to a proportionate increase of words for our reply brief due Monday (i.e. from 2600 to 3500 words). Please let me know if anyone has thoughts.

Thanks, John

Thanks to all â€¢ I have entered all changes. I have also added the additional (bolded) language to leave open the prospect of arguing that we are protected by the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. We will file asap. Thanks, John P.S. â€œOSHA Actâ€ is short for â€œOccupational Safety and Health Act,â€ but since several of you flagged that, I have changed it.

On November 6, 2021, the Fifth Circuit, facing a parallel motion to stay the ETS filed by private employers on November 5, entered a temporary administrative stay and ordered expedited briefing on the stay motion, with OSHAâ€™s brief responding to the stay motion due on November 8, and Petitionersâ€™ reply due on November 9. See Order in No. 21-60845 (5th Cir. Nov. 6, 2021) (attached as Ex. A). Though the Fifth Circuitâ€™s order may be construed to have nationwide effect, it does not make an explicit statement on this point. See id. To avoid any confusion and to secure full protection of their rights, Petitioners respectfully request that this Court enter a similar order here. Because Respondents will already be responding to a similar stay motion in the Fifth Circuit today, requesting a response to Petitionersâ€™ stay motion here by tomorrow should impose no prejudice on them.

That makes sense to me as well. If DOJ has to respond in the Fifth Circuit by 5pm CST tomorrow, there is no reason why they could not file a response to our motion raising similar arguments by midnight Monday, or at least 3pm Tuesday.

They have had far longer to prepare for this than us (and access to the ETS rule itself), so I don't think they have much of a leg to stand on (particularly with the 15-day state plan deadline).

All- As you may have seen, the Fifth Circuit granted a temporary stay and ordered expedited briefing on the Texas Policy Foundation's 7th stay motion this afternoon. In light of that, I plan to prepare a motion for similarly expedited consideration of our stay motion, requesting a ruling in a week. I will cite the concerns of the state plan states that must now act within 15 days, among others. Please let me know if anyone has concerns about that approach. Thanks, John

By way of update, attached is the email we sent this morning to OSHA's designated service address for challengers to this ETS. We are asking their consent to an administrative stay pending consideration of the stay motion, a stay pending judicial review, and expedited briefing on the stay motion. Notwithstanding what I said yesterday, we are going to try mightily to get the stay motion on file today, so please look for an updated draft this afternoon. Thanks, John

the filing fee was processed, but it appears that we will not get file-

Probably the best course is to file the PIR tomorrow morning, at the same time as the stay motion (which we will be able to update and finalize today) &c. Does that sound like a good course of action to all?

John,

I thought we needed to wait to file until our petition until the ETS is actually published in the Federal Register. Today's Federal Register is already out and does not include the ETS, so tomorrow is the earliest it could be published. Am I mistaken about that?

All-

We are anticipating that the OSHA mandate will be announced this morning at 7:45 am Central. We would like to file the Petition for Judicial Review as soon as possible after it is announced. Attached is the near-final Petition for Judicial Review, which is virtually the same as the one I circulated last week, with minor formatting changes. There are still highlighted blanks for the Fed. Reg. cites, but otherwise it should be final. I understand that Missouri still has full authority from each of you to file this in the Eighth Circuit on your behalf, and we will pull the trigger as soon as we can. If anyone has last-minute changes or objections, please let me know before 7:30 am Central.

Once we have the mandate, we will also plan to update the stay motion and circulate it for review as soon as possible as well. I would like to have it on file by tomorrow morning if possible.

Thank a lot for your support in this important project!

Thanks a lot, John

The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to OIRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we don&#8220;t have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Please let us know if you would like to join this coalition challenging the ETS, and if so, please send a signature block for your State or private employer. We intend to file the PJR as quickly as possible after the ETS is promulgated, so the sooner you could let us know, the better. Also, attached please find sample declarations for States and private employers that detail the adverse impact of the ETS on petitioners. If you pull together a similar declaration for your State (and feel free to expand on it if you have other injuries), that would be very helpful. All-

As you have probably seen, DOJ is asking for our consent to file an overlength &@combined response of about 7000 words to our motion to stay and the motion to stay in the consolidated private-party challenge (brought by Boyden Gray on behalf of Job Creators Network et al.). See attached email chain. I am not happy about this request because I think it is an obvious gambit to evade the 5200 word limitation for motion replies in FRAP 27. That said, I think it will be granted given the expedited briefing schedule, and the extra words will probably not make a big difference. I am considering telling DOJ that we will consent to this request if they will consent to a proportionate increase of words for our reply brief due Monday (i.e. from 2600 to 3500 words). Please let me know if anyone has thoughts.

Thanks, John

Thanks to all! I have entered all changes. I have also added the additional (bolded) language to leave open the prospect of arguing that we are protected by the Fifth Circuit's stay. We will file asap. Thanks, John
P.S. I checked the Act is short for the Occupational Safety and Health Act, but since several of you flagged that, I have changed it.

On November 6, 2021, the Fifth Circuit, facing a parallel motion to stay the ETS filed by private employers on November 5, entered a temporary administrative stay and ordered expedited briefing on the stay motion, with OSHA's brief responding to the stay motion due on November 8, and Petitioners' reply due on November 9. See Order in No. 21-60845 (5th Cir. Nov. 6, 2021) (attached as Ex. A). Though the Fifth Circuit's order may be construed to have nationwide effect, it does not make an explicit statement on this point. See id. To avoid any confusion and to secure full protection of their rights, Petitioners respectfully request that this Court enter a similar order here. Because Respondents will already be responding to a similar stay motion in the Fifth Circuit today, requesting a response to Petitioners' stay motion here by tomorrow should impose no prejudice on them.

That makes sense to me as well. If DOJ has to respond in the Fifth Circuit by 5pm CST tomorrow, there is no reason why they could not file a response to our motion raising similar arguments by midnight Monday, or at least 3pm Tuesday.

They have had far longer to prepare for this than us (and access to the ETS rule itself), so I don't think they have much of a leg to stand on (particularly with the 15-day state plan deadline).

All- As you may have seen, the Fifth Circuit granted a temporary stay and ordered expedited briefing on the Texas Policy Foundation's stay motion this afternoon. In light of that, I plan to prepare a motion for similarly expedited consideration of our stay motion, requesting a ruling in a week. I will cite the concerns of the state plan states that must now act within 15 days, among others. Please let me know if anyone has concerns about that approach. Thanks, John

of the stay motion, a stay pending judicial review, and expedited briefing on the stay motion. Notwithstanding what I said yesterday, we are going to try mightily to get the stay motion on file today, so please look for an updated draft this afternoon. Thanks, John

Subject: RE: ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT - CONFIDENTIAL - Draft Eighth
Circuit Challenge to OSHA Vaccine Mandate

All- Attached are the final PDFs of the Petition for Review and Exhibit A that we filed this morning. We received electronic confirmation that the filing fee was processed, but it appears that we will not get file-stamped versions until the clerks come into the office this morning. We are working to update the motion to stay and will get you the updated draft asap. Thanks a lot, John

Thanks, John. I agree with David that it looks good. Attached are three or four nits for your consideration.

Thanks Iâ€™ve entered those changes

This looks very good to us. IatTMve suggested just a couple nits in the attached redline.

to address "concrete" points, and "weak" to rather take the entire business day to get it right. If you are still preparing declarations, please get them to us by COB tomorrow. Looks like they put an unpublished version on the federal register with intent to publish tomorrow: <https://www.federalregister.gov/public-inspector/2021-11-04/covid-19-vaccination-and-testing-emergencies-temporary-standards-for-the-federal-register>

Probably the best course is to file the PIR tomorrow morning, at the same time as the stay motion (which we will be able to update and finalize today) &c. Does that sound like a good course of action to all?

John,

I thought we needed to wait to file until our petition until the ETS is actually published in the Federal Register. Today's Federal Register is already out and does not include the ETS, so tomorrow is the earliest it could be published. Am I mistaken about that?

All-

We are anticipating that the OSHA mandate will be announced this morning at 7:45 am Central. We would like to file the Petition for Judicial Review as soon as possible after it is announced. Attached is the near-final Petition for Judicial Review, which is virtually the same as the one I circulated last week, with minor formatting changes. There are still highlighted blanks for the Fed. Reg. cites, but otherwise it should be final. I understand that Missouri still has full authority from each of you to file this in the Eighth Circuit on your behalf, and we will pull the trigger as soon as we can. If anyone has last-minute changes or objections, please let me know before 7:30 am Central.

Once we have the mandate, we will also plan to update the stay motion and circulate it for review as soon as possible as well. I would like to have it on file by tomorrow morning if possible.

Thank a lot for your support in this important project!

Thanks a lot, John

The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to OIRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. All-

As you have probably seen, DOJ is asking for our consent to file an overlength & overcombined response of about 7000 words to our motion to stay and the motion to stay in the consolidated private-party challenge (brought by Royden Gray on behalf of Job Creators Networks et al.). See attached email chain. I am not happy about this request because I think it is an obvious gambit to evade the 5200 word limitation for motion replies in FRAP 27. That said, I think it will be granted given the expedited briefing schedule, and the extra words will probably not make a big difference. I am considering telling DOJ that we will consent to this request if they will consent to a proportionate increase of words for our reply brief due Monday (i.e. from 2600 to 3500 words). Please let me know if anyone has thoughts.

Thanks, John

Thanks to all &C I have entered all changes. I have also added the additional (bolded) language to leave open the prospect of arguing that we are protected by the Fifth Circuit&C's stay. We will file asap. Thanks, John P.S. &COSH Act&C is short for &COccupational Safety and Health Act&C but since several of you flagged that, I have changed it.

On November 6, 2021, the Fifth Circuit, facing a parallel motion to stay the ETS filed by private employers on November 5, entered a temporary administrative stay and ordered expedited briefing on the stay motion, with OSHA&C's brief responding to the stay motion due on November 8, and Petitioners&C's reply due on November 9. See Order in No. 21-60845 (5th Cir. Nov. 6, 2021) (attached as Ex. A). Though the Fifth Circuit&C's order may be construed to have nationwide effect, it does not make an explicit statement on this point. See id. To avoid any confusion and to secure full protection of their rights, Petitioners respectfully request that this Court enter a similar order here. Because Respondents will already be responding to a similar stay motion in the Fifth Circuit today, requesting a response to Petitioners&C's stay motion here by tomorrow should impose no prejudice on them.

That makes sense to me as well. If DOI has to respond in the Fifth Circuit by 5pm CST tomorrow, there is no reason why they could not file a response to our motion raising similar arguments by midnight Monday, or at least 5pm Tuesday.

They have had far longer to prepare for this than us (and access to the ETS rule itself), so I don't think they have much of a leg to stand on (particularly with the 15-day state plan deadline).

All- As you may have seen, the Fifth Circuit granted a temporary stay and ordered expedited briefing on the Texas Policy Foundation's stay motion this afternoon. In light of that, I plan to prepare a motion for similarly expedited consideration of our stay motion, requesting a ruling in a week. I will cite the concerns of the state plan states that must now act within 15 days, among others. Please let me know if anyone has concerns about that approach. Thanks, John

Notwithstanding what I said yesterday, we are going to try mightily to get the stay motion on file today, so please look for an updated draft this afternoon. Thanks, John but target filing the stay motion on Monday. Based on our review so far, we plan to re-work some of the arguments in the draft stay motion to address OSHA's points, and we'd rather take the extra business day to get it right. If you are still preparing declarations, please get them to us by COB tomorrow. (I think I have finalized declarations from Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Wyoming, Missouri, AAI, and Doolittle). Looks like they put an unpublished version on the federal register with intent to publish tomorrow: <https://www.federalregister.gov/public-inspection/2021-21643/covid-19-vaccination-and-testing-emergency-temporary-standard> [federalregister.gov]

Probably the best course is to file the DUB tomorrow morning, at the same time as the stay motion (which we will be able to update and finalize today). &C Does that sound like a good course of action to all?

John,

I thought we needed to wait to file until our petition until the ETS is actually published in the Federal Register. Today's Federal Register is already out and does not include the ETS, so tomorrow is the earliest it could be published. Am I mistaken about that?

All:

We are anticipating that the OSHA mandate will be announced this morning at 7:45 am Central. We would like to file the Petition for Judicial Review as soon as possible after it is announced. Attached is the near-final Petition for Judicial Review, which is virtually the same as the one I circulated last week, with minor formatting changes. There are still highlighted blanks for the Fed. Reg. cites, but otherwise it should be final. I understand that Missouri still has full authority from each of you to file this in the Eighth Circuit on your behalf, and we will pull the trigger as soon as we can. If anyone has last-minute changes or objections, please let me know before 7:30 am Central.

Once we have the mandate, we will also plan to update the stay motion and circulate it for review as soon as possible as well. I would like to have it on file by tomorrow morning if possible.

Thanks a lot for your support in this important project!

The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to GINA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we don't have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. All-

As you have probably seen, DOJ is asking for our consent to file an overlength & overcombined response of about 7000 words to our motion to stay and the motion to stay in the consolidated private-party challenge (brought by Royden Gray on behalf of Job Creators Networks et al.). See attached email chain. I am not happy about this request because I think it is an obvious gambit to evade the 5200 word limitation for motion replies in FRAP 27. That said, I think it will be granted given the expedited briefing schedule, and the extra words will probably not make a big difference. I am considering telling DOJ that we will consent to this request if they will consent to a proportionate increase of words for our reply brief due Monday (i.e. from 2600 to 3500 words). Please let me know if anyone has thoughts.

Thanks, John

Thanks to all! I have entered all changes. I have also added the additional (bolded) language to leave open the prospect of arguing that we are protected by the Fifth Circuit's stay. We will file asap. Thanks, John
P.S. I&O&SH Act&I&C is short for I&O&Occupational Safety and Health Act,&I&C but since several of you flagged that, I have changed it.

On November 6, 2021, the Fifth Circuit, facing a parallel motion to stay the ETS filed by private employers on November 5, entered a temporary administrative stay and ordered expedited briefing on the stay motion, with OSHA's brief responding to the stay motion due on November 8, and Petitioners' reply due on November 9. See Order in No. 21-60845 (5th Cir. Nov. 6, 2021) (attached as Ex. A). Though the Fifth Circuit's order may be construed to have nationwide effect, it does not make an explicit statement on this point. See id. To avoid any confusion and to secure full protection of their rights, Petitioners respectfully request that this Court enter a similar order here. Because Respondents will already be responding to a similar stay motion in the Fifth Circuit today, requesting a response to Petitioners' stay motion here by tomorrow should impose no prejudice on them.

That makes sense to me as well. If DOI has to respond in the Fifth Circuit by 5pm CST tomorrow, there is no reason why they could not file a response to our motion raising similar arguments by midnight Monday, or at least 5pm Tuesday.

They have had far longer to prepare for this than us (and access to the ETS rule itself), so I don't think they have much of a leg to stand on (particularly with the 15-day state plan deadline).

All- As you may have seen, the Fifth Circuit granted a temporary stay and ordered expedited briefing on the Texas Policy Foundation's stay motion this afternoon. In light of that, I plan to prepare a motion for similarly expedited consideration of our stay motion, requesting a ruling in a week. I will cite the concern of the state plan states that must now act within 15 days, among others. Please let me know if anyone has concerns about that approach. Thanks, John

We are asking their consent to an administrative stay pending consideration of the stay motion, a stay pending judicial review, and expedited briefing on the stay motion. Notwithstanding what I said yesterday, we are going to try mightily to get the stay motion on file today, so please look for an updated draft this afternoon. Thanks, John

but target filing the stay motion on Monday. Based on our review so far, we plan to re-work some of the arguments in the draft stay motion to address OSHA's points, and we'd rather take the extra business day to get it right. If you are still preparing declarations, please get them to us by COB tomorrow. (I think I have finalized declarations from Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Wyoming, Missouri, AAI, and Doolittle). Looks like they put an unpublished version on the federal register with intent to publish tomorrow: <https://www.federalregister.gov/public-inspection/2021-21643/covid-19-vaccination-and-testing-emergency-temporary-standard> [federalregister.gov]

Probably the best course is to file the DUB tomorrow morning, at the same time as the stay motion (which we will be able to update and finalize today). &C Does that sound like a good course of action to all?

John,

I thought we needed to wait to file until our petition until the ETS is actually published in the Federal Register. Today's Federal Register is already out and does not include the ETS, so tomorrow is the earliest it could be published. Am I mistaken about that?

All:

We are anticipating that the OSHA mandate will be announced this morning at 7:45 am Central. We would like to file the Petition for Judicial Review as soon as possible after it is announced. Attached is the near-final Petition for Judicial Review, which is virtually the same as the one I circulated last week, with minor formatting changes. There are still highlighted blanks for the Fed. Reg. cites, but otherwise it should be final. I understand that Missouri still has full authority from each of you to file this in the Eighth Circuit on your behalf, and we will pull the trigger as soon as we can. If anyone has last-minute changes or objections, please let me know before 7:30 am Central.

Once we have the mandate, we will also plan to update the stay motion and circulate it for review as soon as possible as well. I would like to have it on file by tomorrow morning if possible.

Thanks a lot for your support in this important project!

The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to CHRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we don't have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Subject: RE: ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT - CONFIDENTIAL - Draft Eighth Circuit Challenge to OSHA Vaccine Mandate

All:

As you have probably seen, DOJ is asking for our consent to file an overlength &eaccombined&e response of about 7000 words to our motion to stay and the motion to stay in the consolidated private-party challenge. (brought by Boyden Gray on behalf of Job Creators Network et al.). See attached email chain. I am not happy about this request because I think it is an obvious gambit to evade the 5200 word limitation for motion replies in FRAP 27. That said, I think it will be granted given the expedited briefing schedule, and the extra words will probably not make a big difference. I am considering telling DOJ that we will consent to this request if they will consent to a proportionate increase of words for our reply brief due Monday (i.e. from 2800 to 3500 words). Please let me know if anyone has thoughts.

Thanks, John

Thanks to all (cc) I have entered all changes. I have also added the additional (bolded) language to leave open the prospect of arguing that we are protected by the Fifth Circuit's stay. We will file asap. Thanks, John
P.S. 36a OSH Act is short for 36a Occupational Safety and Health Act, 36 but since several of you flagged that, I have changed it.

On November 6, 2021, the Fifth Circuit, facing a parallel motion to stay the ETS filed by private employers on November 5, entered a temporary administrative stay and ordered expedited briefing on the stay motion, with OSHA's brief responding to the stay motion due on November 8, and Petitioners' reply due on November 9. See Order in No. 21-60845 (5th Cir. Nov. 6, 2021) (attached as Ex. A). Though the Fifth Circuit's order may be construed to have automatic effect, it does not make an explicit statement on this point. See id. To avoid any confusion and to secure full protection of their rights, Petitioners respectfully request that this Court enter a similar order here. Because Respondents will already be responding to a similar stay motion in the Fifth Circuit today, requesting a response to Petitioners' stay motion here by tomorrow should impose no prejudice on them.

That makes sense to me as well. If DOJ has to respond in the Fifth Circuit by 5pm CST tomorrow, there is no reason why they could not file a response to our motion raising similar arguments by midnight Monday, or at least 5pm Tuesday.

They have had far longer to prepare for this than us (and access to the ETS rule itself), so I don't think they have much of a leg to stand on (particularly with the 15-day state plan deadline).

All- As you may have seen, the Fifth Circuit granted a temporary stay and ordered expedited briefing on the Texas Policy Foundation's¹ stay motion this afternoon. In light of that, I plan to prepare a motion for similarly expedited consideration of our stay motion, requesting a ruling in a week. I will cite the concerns of the state plan states that must now act within 15 days, among others. Please let me know if anyone has concerns about that approach. Thanks, John

All- Given the length of the ETS, which we are still digesting, we propose filing the PJR tomorrow morning at the opening of business, but target filing the stay motion on Monday. Based on our review so far, we plan to re-work some of the arguments in the draft stay motion to address OSHA's points, and we'd rather take the extra business day to get it right. If you are still preparing declarations, please get them to us by COB tomorrow. (I think I have finalized declarations from Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Wyoming, Missouri, AAI, and DocLittle). Thanks, John

Looks like they put an unpublished version on the federal register with intent to publish tomorrow: <https://www.federalregister.gov/public-inspection/2021-21613/covid-19-vaccination-and-testing-emergency-response-standard-federalregister.gov/>

Probably the best course is to file the PJR tomorrow morning, at the same time as the stay motion (which we will be able to update and finalize today). 84" Does that sound like a good course of action to all?

John,

I thought we needed to wait to file until our petition until the ETS is actually published in the Federal Register. Today's Federal Register is already out and does not include the ETS, so tomorrow is the earliest it could be published. Am I mistaken about that?

All-

We are anticipating that the OSHA mandate will be announced this morning at 7:45 am Central. We would like to file the petition for judicial review as soon as possible after it is announced. Attached is the near-final Petition for Judicial Review, which is virtually the same as the one I circulated last week, with minor formatting changes. There are still highlighted blanks for the Fed. Reg. cites, but otherwise it should be final. I understand that Missouri still has full authority from each of you to file this in the Eighth Circuit on your behalf, and we will pull the trigger as soon as we can. If anyone has last-minute changes or objections, please let me know before 7:30 am Central.

Once we have the mandate, we will also plan to update the stay motion and circulate it for review as soon as possible as well. I would like to have it on file by tomorrow morning if possible.

Thanks a lot for your support in this important project!!

Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Subject: RE: ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT - CONFIDENTIAL - Draft Eighth Circuit Challenge to OSHA Vaccine Mandate

All:

As you have probably seen, DOJ is asking for our consent to file an overlength & combined response of about 7000 words to our motion to stay and the motion to stay in the consolidated private-party challenge. (brought by Boyden Gray on behalf of Job Creators Network et al.). See attached email chain. I am not happy about this request because I think it is an obvious gambit to evade the 5200 word limitation for motion replies in FRAP 23. That said, I think it will be granted given the expedited briefing schedule, and the extra words will probably not make a big difference. I am considering telling DOJ that we will consent to this request if they will consent to a proportionate increase of words for our reply brief due Monday (i.e. from 2800 to 3500 words). Please let me know if anyone has thoughts.

Thanks, John

Thanks to all (cc) I have entered all changes. I have also added the additional (bolded) language to leave open the prospect of arguing that we are protected by the Fifth Circuit's stay. We will file asap. Thanks, John
P.S. 36a OSH Act is short for 36a Occupational Safety and Health Act, 36 but since several of you flagged that, I have changed it.

On November 6, 2021, the Fifth Circuit, facing a parallel motion to stay the ETS filed by private employers on November 5, entered a temporary administrative stay and ordered expedited briefing on the stay motion, with OSHA's brief responding to the stay motion due on November 8, and Petitioners' reply due on November 9. See Order in No. 21-60845 (5th Cir. Nov. 6, 2021) (attached as Ex. A). Though the Fifth Circuit's order may be construed to have an immediate effect, it does not make an explicit statement on this point. See id. To avoid any confusion and to secure full protection of their rights, Petitioners respectfully request that this Court enter a similar order here. Because Respondents will already be responding to a similar stay motion in the Fifth Circuit today, requesting a response to Petitioners' stay motion here by tomorrow should impose no prejudice on them.

That makes sense to me as well. If DOJ has to respond in the Fifth Circuit by 5pm CST tomorrow, there is no reason why they could not file a response to our motion raising similar arguments by midnight Monday, or at least 5pm Tuesday.

They have had far longer to prepare for this than us (and access to the ETS rule itself), so I don't think they have much of a leg to stand on (particularly with the 15-day state plan deadline).

All- As you may have seen, the Fifth Circuit granted a temporary stay and ordered expedited briefing on the Texas Policy Foundation's stay motion this afternoon. In light of that, I plan to prepare a motion for similarly expedited consideration of our stay motion, requesting a ruling in a week. I will cite the concerns of the state plan states that must now act within 15 days, among others. Please let me know if anyone has concerns about that approach. Thanks, John

All- Given the length of the ETS, which we are still digesting, we propose filing the PJR tomorrow morning at the opening of business, but target filing the stay motion on Monday. Based on our review so far, we plan to re-work some of the arguments in the draft stay motion to address OSHA's points, and we'd rather take the extra business day to get it right. If you are still preparing declarations, please get them to us by COB tomorrow. (I think I have finalized declarations from Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Wyoming, Missouri, AAI, and DocLittle). Thanks, John

Looks like they put an unpublished version on the federal register with intent to publish tomorrow: <https://www.federalregister.gov/public-inspection/2021-21613/covid-19-vaccination-and-testing-emergency-response-standard-federalregister.gov/>

Probably the best course is to file the PJR tomorrow morning, at the same time as the stay motion (which we will be able to update and finalize today). 84" Does that sound like a good course of action to all?

John,

I thought we needed to wait to file until our petition until the ETS is actually published in the Federal Register. Today's Federal Register is already out and does not include the ETS, so tomorrow is the earliest it could be published. Am I mistaken about that?

All-

We are anticipating that the OSHA mandate will be announced this morning at 7:45 am Central. We would like to file the Petition for Judicial Review as soon as possible after it is announced. Attached is the near-final Petition for Judicial Review, which is virtually the same as the one I circulated last week, with minor formatting changes. There are still highlighted blanks for the Fed. Reg. cites, but otherwise it should be final. I understand that Missouri still has full authority from each of you to file this in the Eighth Circuit on your behalf, and we will pull the trigger as soon as we can. If anyone has last-minute changes or objections, please let me know before 7:30 am Central.

Once we have the mandate, we will also plan to update the stay motion and circulate it for review as soon as possible as well. I would like to have it on file by tomorrow morning if possible.

Thanks a lot for your support in this important project!

All-

As you have probably seen, DOI is asking for our consent to file an overlength (a combined response of about 2000 words to our motion to stay and the motion to stay in the consolidated private-party challenge (brought by Boyden Gray on behalf of Job Creators Network et al.). See attached email chain. I am not happy about this request because I think it is an obvious gambit to evade the 5200 word limitation for motion replies in FRAP 27. That said, I think it will be granted given the expedited briefing schedule, and the extra words will probably not make a big difference. I am considering telling DOI that we will consent to this request if they will consent to a proportionate increase of words for our reply brief due Monday (i.e. from 2600 to 3500 words). Please let me know if anyone has thoughts.

Thanks, John

Thanks to all! I have entered all changes. I have also added the additional (bolded) language to leave open the prospect of arguing that we are protected by the Fifth Circuit's stay. We will file asap. Thanks, John
P.S. I know OSHA is short for Occupational Safety and Health Act, but since several of you flagged that, I have changed it.

On November 6, 2021, the Fifth Circuit, facing a parallel motion to stay the ETS filed by private employers on November 5, entered a temporary administrative stay and ordered expedited briefing on the stay motion, with OSHA's brief responding to the stay motion due on November 8, and Petitioners' reply due on November 9. See Order in No. 21-60845 (5th Cir. Nov. 6, 2021) (attached as Ex. A). Though the Fifth Circuit's order may be construed to have nationwide effect, it does not make an explicit statement on this point. See id. To avoid any confusion and to secure full protection of their rights, Petitioners respectfully request that this Court enter a similar order here. Because Respondents will already be responding to a similar stay motion in the Fifth Circuit today, requesting a response to Petitioners' stay motion here by tomorrow should impose no prejudice on them.

That makes sense to me as well. If DOJ has to respond in the Fifth Circuit by 5pm CST tomorrow, there is no reason why they could not file a response to our motion raising similar arguments by midnight Monday, or at least 5pm Tuesday.

They have had far longer to prepare for this than us (and access to the ETS rule itself), so I don't think they have much of a leg to stand on (particularly with the 15-day state plan deadline).

All- As you may have seen, the Fifth Circuit granted a temporary stay and ordered expedited briefing on the Texas Policy Foundation's stay motion this afternoon. In light of that, I plan to prepare a motion for similarly expedited consideration of our stay motion, requesting a ruling as a week. I will cite the concerns of the state plan states that must now act within 15 days, among others. Please let me know if anyone has concerns about that approach. Thanks, John

Looks like they put an unpublished version on the federal register with intent to publish tomorrow: <https://www.federalregister.gov/public-inspection/2021-21643/covid-19-vaccination-and-testing-emergency-temporary-standard> [federalregister.gov]

Probably the best course is to file the PIR tomorrow morning, at the same time as the stay motion (which we will be able to update and finalize today) &c? Does that sound like a good course of action to all?

John,

I thought we needed to wait to file until our petition until the ETS is actually published in the Federal Register. Today's Federal Register is already out and does not include the ETS, so tomorrow is the earliest it could be published. Am I mistaken about that?

All-

We are anticipating that the OSHA mandate will be announced this morning at 7:45 am Central. We would like to file the Petition for Judicial Review as soon as possible after it is announced. Attached is the near-final Petition for Judicial Review, which is virtually the same as the one I circulated last week, with minor formatting changes. There are still highlighted blanks for the Fed. Reg. cites, but otherwise it should be final. I understand that Missouri still has full authority from each of you to file this in the Eighth Circuit on your behalf, and we will pull the trigger as soon as we can. If anyone has last-minute changes or objections, please let me know before 7:30 am Central.

Once we have the mandate, we will also plan to update the stay motion and circulate it for review as soon as possible as well. I would like to have it on file by tomorrow morning if possible.

Thanks a lot for your support in this important project!!

Thanks a lot, John

All-

As you have probably seen, DOI is asking for our consent to file an overlength (a combined response of about 2000 words to our motion to stay and the motion to stay in the consolidated private-party challenge (brought by Boyden Gray on behalf of Job Creators Network et al.). See attached email chain. I am not happy about this request because I think it is an obvious gambit to evade the 5200 word limitation for motion replies in FRAP 27. That said, I think it will be granted given the expedited briefing schedule, and the extra words will probably not make a big difference. I am considering telling DOI that we will consent to this request if they will consent to a proportionate increase of words for our reply brief due Monday (i.e. from 2600 to 3500 words). Please let me know if anyone has thoughts.

Thanks, John

Thanks to all! I have entered all changes. I have also added the additional (bolded) language to leave open the prospect of arguing that we are protected by the Fifth Circuit's stay. We will file asap. Thanks, John
P.S. I know ASHA is short for Arkansas Occupational Safety and Health Act, but since several of you flagged that, I have changed it.

On November 6, 2021, the Fifth Circuit, facing a parallel motion to stay the ETS filed by private employers on November 5, entered a temporary administrative stay and ordered expedited briefing on the stay motion, with OSHA's brief responding to the stay motion due on November 8, and Petitioners' reply due on November 9. See Order in No. 21-60845 (5th Cir. Nov. 6, 2021) (attached as Ex. A). Though the Fifth Circuit's order may be construed to have nationwide effect, it does not make an explicit statement on this point. See id. To avoid any confusion and to secure full protection of their rights, Petitioners respectfully request that this Court enter a similar order here. Because Respondents will already be responding to a similar stay motion in the Fifth Circuit today, requesting a response to Petitioners' stay motion here by tomorrow should impose no prejudice on them.

That makes sense to me as well. If DOJ has to respond in the Fifth Circuit by 5pm CST tomorrow, there is no reason why they could not file a response to our motion raising similar arguments by midnight Monday, or at least 5pm Tuesday.

They have had far longer to prepare for this than us (and access to the ETS rule itself), so I don't think they have much of a leg to stand on (particularly with the 15-day state plan deadline).

All- As you may have seen, the Fifth Circuit granted a temporary stay and ordered expedited briefing on the Texas Policy Foundation's stay motion this afternoon. In light of that, I plan to prepare a motion for similarly expedited consideration of our stay motion, requesting a ruling as a week. I will cite the concerns of the state plan states that must now act within 15 days, among others. Please let me know if anyone has concerns about that approach. Thanks, John

All- Given the length of the ETS, which we are still digesting, we propose filing the PIR tomorrow morning at the opening of business, but target filing the stay motion on Monday. Based on our review so far, we plan to re-work some of the arguments in the draft stay motion to address OSHAM's points, and we'd rather take the extra

Looks like they put an unpublished version on the federal register with intent to publish tomorrow: <https://www.federalregister.gov/public-inspection/2021-21643/covid-19-vaccination-and-testing-emergency-temporary-standard> [federalregister.gov]

Probably the best course is to file the PIR tomorrow morning, at the same time as the stay motion (which we will be able to update and finalize today) &c? Does that sound like a good course of action to all?

John,

I thought we needed to wait to file until our petition until the ETS is actually published in the Federal Register. Today's Federal Register is already out and does not include the ETS, so tomorrow is the earliest it could be published. Am I mistaken about that?

All-

We are anticipating that the OSHA mandate will be announced this morning at 7:45 am Central. We would like to file the Petition for Judicial Review as soon as possible after it is announced. Attached is the near-final Petition for Judicial Review, which is virtually the same as the one I circulated last week, with minor formatting changes. There are still highlighted blanks for the Fed. Reg. cites, but otherwise it should be final. I understand that Missouri still has full authority from each of you to file this in the Eighth Circuit on your behalf, and we will pull the trigger as soon as we can. If anyone has last-minute changes or objections, please let me know before 7:30 am Central.

Once we have the mandate, we will also plan to update the stay motion and circulate it for review as soon as possible as well. I would like to have it on file by tomorrow morning if possible.

Thanks a lot for your support in this important project!!

Thanks a lot, John

The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to OIRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we don&#8211;t have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Please let us know if you would like to join this coalition challenging the ETS, and if so, please send a signature block for your State or private employer. We intend to file the PJR as quickly as possible after the ETS is promulgated, so the sooner you could let us know, the better. Also, attached please find sample declarations for States and private employers that detail the adverse impact of the ETS on petitioners. If you pull together a similar declaration for your State (and feel free to expand on it if you have other injuries), that would be very helpful. In addition to these, "kowa," could you please provide a declaration that explains your status as a &#8211;state-plan State&#8211;? Thanks a lot, John Sauer This email message, including the attachments, is from the Missouri Attorney General&#8211;s Office. The Act generally prohibits healthcare professionals from using hormones and surgery to treat gender dysphoria in children. Our brief makes two main points. First, gender transition for minors is an area fraught with medical uncertainty that can lead to particularly tragic results. Here, the brief recounts a number of surveys of the medical literature by hospital systems in the UK, Finland, and Sweden that caused those countries to take a far more measured approach to treatment than the "gender-affirming care" model that the district court said the Constitution requires. Second, the brief contends that States have broad authority to regulate the medical profession, particularly in areas fraught with medical and scientific uncertainties such as this one. It also explains that the amici that the district court relied on—such as the American Medical Association and the American Academy of Pediatrics—are not the neutral arbiters of science they purport to be. We filed a similar brief in the district court in July, where we were joined by Alaska, Arizona, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, and Texas. That brief is also attached, as is the district court's preliminary injunction order and Arkansas's opening brief in the Eighth Circuit. The brief is due this Friday, so we are asking for sign-ons by 1 pm CT on Friday, November 19. Apologies for the quick turnaround. Please let Eddie and me know if you have questions or suggestions. Thanks very much, Barrett Barrett Bowdre Deputy Solicitor General Office of the Attorney General State of Alabama 501 Washington Avenue Post Office Box 300152 Montgomery, AL 36130 334.353.8892 Office 334.353.8400 Fax Confidentiality Notice: The information contained in this email and the documents attached hereto contain confidential information intended only for the use of the intended recipients. Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw. If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings. We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. We are definitely not wedded to the concept, but thought it at least merited some discussion within our group. As they say on Twitter, Happy Lottery Day! (I suspect we may have had a happier one than some others though.) Sincerely, Drew CC masagsve@nd.gov, tseibel@nd.gov |

Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw. If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings. We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. We are definitely not wedded to the concept, but thought it at least merited some discussion within our group. As they say on Twitter, Happy Lottery Day! (I suspect we may have had a happier one than some others though.) Sincerely, Drew |

ISO Arkansas's SAFE Act - joins due Fri., Nov. 19 by 1pm CT Hi friends, Alabama plans to file an amicus brief in support of Arkansas as it challenges the district court's preliminary injunction enjoining enforcement of the state's "Save Adolescents from Experimentation (SAFE) Act." The Act generally prohibits healthcare professionals from using hormones and surgery to treat gender dysphoria in children. Our brief makes two main points. First, gender transition for minors is an area fraught with medical uncertainty that can lead to particularly tragic results. Here, the brief recounts a number of surveys of the medical literature by hospital systems in the UK, Finland, and Sweden that caused those countries to take a far more measured approach to treatment than the "gender-affirming care" model that the district court said the Constitution requires. Second, the brief contends that States have broad authority to regulate the medical profession, particularly in areas fraught with medical and scientific uncertainties such as this one. It also explains that the amici that the district court relied on—such as the American Medical Association and the American Academy of Pediatrics—are not the neutral arbiters of science they purport to be. We filed a similar brief in the district court in July, where we were joined by Alaska, Arizona, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, and Texas. That brief is also attached, as is the district court's preliminary injunction order and Arkansas's opening brief in the Eighth Circuit. The brief is due this Friday, so we are asking for sign-ons by 1 pm CT on Friday, November 19. Apologies for the quick turnaround. Please let Eddie and me know if you have questions or suggestions. Thanks very much, Barrett Barrett Bowdre Deputy Solicitor General Office of the Attorney General State of Alabama 501 Washington Avenue Post Office Box 300152 Montgomery, AL 36130 334.353.8892 Office 334.353.8400 Fax Confidentiality Notice: The information contained in this email and the documents attached hereto contain confidential information intended only for the use of the intended recipients. All,

The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that we're reliably informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isn't going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside.

A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeye's petition.

I highly recommend that you do this for the people of ND. I have contacted all the legislators and get no where they see our state as the most secure voting system in the Nation or we don't have enough voter fraud here to matter. Have you spoken to Mike Lindell about his Case? I'm asking you now to protect our republic. Please stand for the people of North Dakota and protect our vote. All computers are hackable. We must have truth to our vote. Thank you for taking the time to read this I hope to hear from you soon. My prayers are with you, God bless and have a great night Michelle L Biegler |

UNDER PRESS EMBARGO

Dear Social Media Platform Multistate Investigation Working Group:

As discussed during our last working group call on November 5th, the AG Steering Committee (ASG of NE, VT, MA, CA, TN, HI, NJ, and KY) authorized the commencement of this investigation, and asked that staff of the lead states kick it off with a CID from each of their offices to Meta (f/k/a Facebook) investigating potential state consumer protection act claims relating to Meta's promotion and operation of Instagram to younger users. A draft of that CID is currently under review for final approval by the Steering Committee. We expect to issue that CID at some point later this week and we will update the group once we have done so.

In addition, the AG Steering Committee determined to make a brief press announcement about the investigation. The press teams of MA and NE have prepared a template press announcement, which is below. As you can see, it was just circulated to the press personnel in each of your offices. My understanding is that it is up to each state whether to issue any press statement on this, but that this template is the preferred messaging should a state decide to do so. This announcement is embargoed until further notice. We anticipate the embargo will be lifted late this week. We will keep you posted.

Please let either Phil Carlson, Chris Curtis, or myself know of any major problems that you are not able to work out through your own press persons.

Thank you everyone,

Dear Friends:

You are receiving this communication because your AG is a part of the upcoming SMP announcement. Below are helpful guidelines for limited messaging following the announcement. The guidelines are followed by a draft Swiss cheese release intended for future announcement following CIDs being issued. You will see we have chosen to NOT name/number AGs/states but to refer to "Attorneys General across the country". At this point, we are anticipating later this week but will keep you posted.

Thank you to Jillian and her team for much of the lift in getting us to this point.

Suzanne Gage
Director of Communications
Nebraska Attorney General
Office: 402.471.2656
Mobile: 402.560.3518
Suzanne.gage@nebraska.gov

Public messaging guidance:

- Do not disclose the issuance of the CIDs or specific details of the CIDs; do not provide the CIDs to members of the media.
- At this stage we are investigating, not enforcing any laws or alleging any violations.
- Please decline to comment substantively beyond this announcement as this is an ongoing and active investigation.
- Only speak to/confirm your own state's involvement.

AG XXXX JOINS NATIONWIDE INVESTIGATION INTO INSTAGRAM'S IMPACT ON YOUNG PEOPLE
Attorneys General Concerned for Safety and Well-Being of Children; Examining Potential Violations of Consumer Protection Laws

XXXX – Attorney General XXXX today joined a nationwide investigation into Meta Platforms, Inc., formerly known as Facebook, for providing and promoting its social media platform – Instagram – to children and young adults despite knowing that such use is associated with physical and mental health harms. Attorneys General across the country are examining whether the company violated state consumer protection laws and put the public at risk.

AG QUOTE

The investigation targets, among other things, the techniques utilized by Meta to increase the frequency and duration of engagement by young users and the resulting harms caused by such extended engagement. Today's announcement follows recent reports revealing that Meta's own internal research shows that using Instagram is associated with increased risks of physical and mental health harms on young people, including depression, eating disorders, and even suicide. AG XXXX has long been concerned about the negative impacts of social media platforms on [YOUR STATE]'s youngest residents. In May, a bipartisan coalition of 44 attorneys general urged Facebook to abandon its plans to launch a version of Instagram for children under the age of 13.

UNDER PRESS EMBARGO

Dear Social Media Platform Multistate Investigation Working Group:

As discussed during our last working group call on November 5th, the AG Steering Committee (ASG of NE, VT, MA, CA, TN, HI, NJ, and KY) authorized the commencement of this investigation, and asked that staff of the lead states kick it off with a CID from each of their offices to Meta (f/f/a Facebook) investigating potential state consumer protection act claims relating to Meta's promotion and operation of Instagram to younger users. A draft of that CID is currently under review for final approval by the Steering Committee. We expect to issue that CID at some point later this week and we will update the group once we have done so.

In addition, the AG Steering Committee determined to make a brief press announcement about the investigation. The press teams of MA and NE have prepared a template press announcement, which is below. As you can see, it was just circulated to the press personnel in each of your offices. My understanding is that it is up to each state whether to issue any press statement on this, but that this template is the preferred messaging should a state decide to do so. This announcement is embargoed until further notice. We anticipate the embargo will be lifted late this week. We will keep you posted.

Please let either Phil Carlson, Chris Curtis, or myself know of any major problems that you are not able to work out through your own press persons.

Thank you everyone,

Dear Friends:

You are receiving this communication because your AG is a part of the upcoming SMP announcement. Below are helpful guidelines for limited messaging following the announcement. The guidelines are followed by a draft Swiss cheese release intended for future announcement following CIDs being issued. You will see we have chosen to NOT name/number AGs/states but to refer to "Attorneys General across the country". At this point, we are anticipating later this week but will keep you posted.

Thank you to Jillian and her team for much of the lift in getting us to this point.

Suzanne Gage
Director of Communications
Nebraska Attorney General
Office: 402.471.2656
Mobile: 402.560.3518
Suzanne.gage@nebraska.gov

Public messaging guidance:

- Do not disclose the issuance of the CIDs or specific details of the CIDs; do not provide the CIDs to members of the media.
- At this stage we are investigating, not enforcing any laws or alleging any violations.
- Please decline to comment substantively beyond this announcement as this is an ongoing and active investigation.
- Only speak to/confirm your own state's involvement.

AG XXXX JOINS NATIONWIDE INVESTIGATION INTO INSTAGRAM'S IMPACT ON YOUNG PEOPLE
Attorneys General Concerned for Safety and Well-being of Children; Examining Potential Violations of Consumer Protection Laws

XXXX – Attorney General XXXX today joined a nationwide investigation into Meta Platforms, Inc., formerly known as Facebook, for providing and promoting its social media platform – Instagram – to children and young adults despite knowing that such use is associated with physical and mental health harms. Attorneys General across the country are examining whether the company violated state consumer protection laws and put the public at risk.

AG QUOTE

The investigation targets, among other things, the techniques utilized by Meta to increase the frequency and duration of engagement by young users and the resulting harms caused by such extended engagement. Today's announcement follows recent reports revealing that Meta's own internal research shows that using Instagram is associated with increased risks of physical and mental health harms on young people, including depression, eating disorders, and even suicide. AG XXXX has long been concerned about the negative impacts of social media platforms on [YOUR STATE]'s youngest residents. In May, a bipartisan coalition of 44 attorneys general urged Facebook to abandon its plans to launch a version of Instagram for children under the age of 13.

Do not click links or open attachments unless you know they are safe.   Hi everyone, The attached amicus brief by Utah and Ohio supports respondent Florida Agency for Healthcare Administration in Gallardo v Marstiller, No. 20-1263. The Medicaid Act requires a state Medicaid program to obtain a beneficiary's right to "payment for medical care from any third party." 42 U.S.C. § 1396a(j)(1)(A). In this case, Medicaid paid $862,688.77 of petitioner's medical costs and she obtained an $800,000 settlement from a tortfeasor for her injuries. Petitioner contends that Medicaid is entitled to reimbursement of only $35,367.52 from that settlement because only that amount represents payment for past medical care. The question presented is whether Medicaid may also seek reimbursement of its medical assistance payments from the portion of petitioner's settlement representing payment for future medical care. The amicus argues that (1) the Medicaid statute requires the State to seek reimbursement from payments for "medical care," and it does so without distinguishing between past and future medical care; and (2) in resolving this case, the Court should not suggest that the petitioners in this case had a valid cause of action. Florida's respondent brief is also attached. We will be filing on Monday Nov. 22. If your state would like to join the amicus, please email me at mellisaholyoak@agutah.gov by 5:00 pm MT on November 19, 2021. Thanks! Melissa A. Do not click links or open attachments unless you know they are safe.   Hi everyone, The attached amicus brief by Utah and Ohio supports respondent Florida Agency for Healthcare Administration in Gallardo v. Marstiller, No. 20-1263. The Medicaid Act requires a state Medicaid program to obtain a beneficiary's right to "payment for medical care from any third party." 42 U.S.C. § 1396(a)(1)(A). In this case, Medicaid paid $862,688.77 of petitioner's medical costs and she obtained an $800,000 settlement from a tortfeasor for her injuries. Petitioner contends that Medicaid is entitled to reimbursement of only $35,367.52 from that settlement because only that amount represents payment for past medical care. The question presented is whether Medicaid may also seek reimbursement of its medical assistance payments from the portion of petitioner's settlement representing payment for future medical care. The amicus argues that (1) the Medicaid statute requires the State to seek reimbursement from payments for "medical care," and it does so without distinguishing between past and future medical care; and (2) in resolving this case, the Court should not suggest that the petitioners in this case had a valid cause of action. Florida's respondent brief is also attached. We will be filing on Monday Nov. 22. If your state would like to join the amicus, please email me at mellisaholyoak@agutah.gov by 5:00 pm MT on November 19, 2021. Thanks! Melissa A. I think we earned a ton of credibility with the panel. Howard and I drafted up a press release for the Attorney General. A copy is attached. As you know, PCMA has 14 days from yesterday to petition for rehearing. We cannot respond unless ordered to do so by the Court. After the period for rehearing expires, or if rehearing is denied, the Court will issue its mandate, returning jurisdiction to the district court. At that point, we'll have to see if the district court wants advice on the language of the final judgment. Separately, PCMA will have 90 days from the opinion or the denial of rehearing, whichever is later, to petition the Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari. That petition would not affect whatever judgment is issued by the district court—unless PCMA moves to stay the mandate. We would be surprised if PCMA sought such a stay though, which are not the norm. As a result, the State should be in a position to start enforcing the law as soon as the mandate issues, because that will formally set aside the district court's prior judgment. Rob Robert T. We ran the table on ERISA preemption, and we won on everything but fees and performance standards under Medicare Part D. Just as importantly, the Eighth Circuit adopted a framework for Part D preemption that preserves a role for the States in regulating PBMs—even as applied to Part D plans. There's a lot more in the opinion, but we didn't want to hold up sending it off to you. Howard and I will give Mark a call shortly to run through the opinion with him. Rob Robert T. Do not click links or open attachments unless you know they are safe.  Friends, Alabama plans to submit comments on two related proposed rules concerning the Endangered Species Act. The first, issued by the Fish and Wildlife Service and the National Marine Fisheries Service, proposes rescinding the Services' final rule defining the term "habitat" for purposes of designating "critical habitat." The second, published only by the FWS, proposes rescinding the Service's implementing regulation detailing how and when it will conduct an analysis to exclude areas from critical habitat designation. Our main concern with both proposed rules is that they seek to increase agency discretion by limiting transparency and predictability. Additionally, the final rules they seek to rescind were promulgated to comply with the Supreme Court's teaching in Weyerhaeuser Co. v. U.S. Fish & Wildlife Serv., 139 S. Ct. 361 (2018), that (1) "critical habitat" must actually be "habitat" for a species, and (2) the Secretary's discretionary decision not to exclude critical habitat is subject to review under the APA. The new proposed rules seek to revert to pre-Weyerhaeuser regulations. I have attached our draft comment letter (which combines the comments for both proposed rules), as well as the proposed rules and the final rules they seek to rescind. Comments are due next Friday, November 26, 2021—the day after Thanksgiving. We can accept joins until 12 pm CT that day. If joining, please send a digital signature of the AG. Thanks for your consideration. Please let Barrett and me know if you have any comments or questions. Best, Eddie Confidentiality Notice: The information contained in this email and the documents attached hereto contain confidential information intended only for the use of the intended recipients. Do not click links or open attachments unless you know they are safe.  Friends, Alabama plans to submit comments on two related proposed rules concerning the Endangered Species Act. The first, issued by the Fish and Wildlife Service and the National Marine Fisheries Service, proposes rescinding the Services' final rule defining the term "habitat" for purposes of designating "critical habitat." The second, published only by the FWS, proposes rescinding the Service's implementing regulation detailing how and when it will conduct an analysis to exclude areas from critical habitat designation. Our main concern with both proposed rules is that they seek to increase agency discretion by limiting transparency and predictability. Additionally, the final rules they seek to rescind were promulgated to comply with the Supreme Court's teaching in Weyerhaeuser Co. v. U.S. Fish & Wildlife Serv., 139 S. Ct. 361 (2018), that (1) "critical habitat" must actually be "habitat" for a species, and (2) the Secretary's discretionary decision not to exclude critical habitat is subject to review under the APA. The new proposed rules seek to revert to pre-Weyerhaeuser regulations. I have attached our draft comment letter (which combines the comments for both proposed rules), as well as the proposed rules and the final rules they seek to rescind. Comments are due next Friday, November 26, 2021—the day after Thanksgiving. We can accept joins until 12 pm CT that day. If joining, please send a digital signature of the AG. Thanks for your consideration. Please let Barrett and me know if you have any comments or questions. Best, Eddie Confidentiality Notice: The information contained in this email and the documents attached hereto contain confidential information intended only for the use of the intended recipients. To whom it may concern I would like for you to help us. My husband was arrested in Jamestown unfortunately. It was documented that he refused piss test for DUI which when you can't piss its not fair or right for officer to put refusal especially when there is other means of doing a DUI test . Courts found him not quilty yet the state will not remove the suspension of his licenses. So it is double jeropdy. It puts us in a bind all our vehicles are marked as suspension driver from Minnesota and North Dakota and we need these vehicles for medical reasons. My husband needs double lung transplant which means driving to Mayo clinic many trips which is 5 hours away from where we live. And we cannot afford another vehicle to be put under my name. With my husband on oxygen 24/7 we have to have our van for sake of hauling oxygen tanks with us to his appointments. I need to go to Mayo myself i been doctoring there for last 2 years now everything is screwed up...we do not have anyone to haul us around or can not afford a taxi especially since my husband can not work. Also while in custody at Stutsman county jail. They flushed my husband's dentures and wedding ring down sewer. When they could of put gloves on and picked the stuff up and put in baggie and put in with his property. I don't care about his behavior cause he has mental health issues and that causes his behavior so they should of taken it consideration when I told them he has mental health issues. So that place needs to learn more about Mental health behavior.. so we would like his black hills gold wedding ring replaced and his dentures.. My husband's name is James Allen Jones We live in Dilworth, Minnesota.

THIS IS DOUBLE JEROPDY IF COURTS FIND A PERSON NOT QUILTY THATS WHAT IT SHOULD BE.

THEY SEND OUT THESE LETTERS WHILE IN JAIL HOW CAN A PERSON APPEAL ANYTHING.

All,

Two updates:

1. So far, Florida, Alabama, and South Carolina have all signed on.
2. Based on (convincing) feedback we've received, we will cut this line: "So, if hearing this case en banc is the only way to decide it correctly, then the Court has no choice but to hear it en banc."

All,

The attached version of the petition for rehearing en banc corrects a nit and replaces an inadvertent omission. (Specifically, it now includes this sentence: "First, the Vaccine Mandate is a regulation of public health, plain and simple; its purpose and its effect is to regulate private healthcare decisions by making life harder for citizens who refuse to care for themselves in the federally approved manner.")

All,

Here is a proposed petition for initial en banc review. We have done our best to write it in a way that will appeal to those judges we most need to convince. We plan to file Monday at noon, so please send any joinder by Monday, November 22, at 10 AM Eastern.

Important: To be sure we do not miss you, please copy Josh Richardson in our office, who will keep a copy of all sign-ons. With all the emails I'm getting, I'm afraid I may miss one if you send it just to me. Josh's email address is Joshua.Richardson@OhioAGO.gov<mailto:Joshua.Richardson@OhioAGO.gov>

Subject: RE: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc

All,

The court already ordered DOJ to respond to Buckeye's petition. The response is due on Tuesday.

We now recommend seeking initial en banc review—it will function as an amicus brief supporting Buckeye's request. It would be easiest if we could simply respond to the en banc request. But I called the Sixth Circuit and I'm told it cannot do that.

Body

The Sixth Circuit plans to draft a short petition for initial en banc review. Its main function will be to signal that we aren't opposed to this plan. We will do our best to draft it today, circulate it tomorrow, and be ready to file Monday.

One wrinkle: I don't think States on cases outside the Sixth Circuit can join our brief until the formal MDL docket is made. So if there's no docket on Monday, my inclination would be to say in the brief that we have secured the "support of The States of ____ all of whom are parties to other cases consolidated for decision before the panel."

Subject: RE: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc?

All,

Body

The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that we're reliability informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isn't going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside.

A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeye's petition.

I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts.

First: as I understand it (and I may be wrong), CA5's stay remains in place and it's up CA6 as to whether to lift it. I'd want to see whether CA6 lifted the stay before deciding whether to go en banc. If they leave it in place, there's 1) far less of a justification for going initially en banc in terms of reliance interests, and 2) basically no need. The feds play the strategic acceleration/slowdown game all the time; I don't think we need to accommodate their desire for haste if we keep the stay.

If the stay went away—I'd agree entirely that we shouldn't leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when we're assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route.

All,

Two updates:

1. So far, Florida, Alabama, and South Carolina have all signed on.
2. Based on (convincing) feedback we've received, we will cut this line: "So, if hearing this case en banc is the only way to decide it correctly, then the Court has no choice but to hear it en banc."

All,

The attached version of the petition for rehearing en banc corrects a nit and replaces an inadvertent omission. (Specifically, it now includes this sentence: "First, the Vaccine Mandate is a regulation of public health, plain and simple; its purpose and its effect is to regulate private healthcare decisions by making life harder for citizens who refuse to care for themselves in the federally approved manner.")

Subject: RE: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc

All,

The court already ordered DOJ to respond to Buckeye's petition. The response is due on Tuesday.

We now recommend seeking initial en banc review—it will function as an amicus brief supporting Buckeye's request. It would be easiest if we could simply respond to the en banc request. But I called the Sixth Circuit and I'm told it cannot do that.

Body

The Sixth Circuit plans to draft a short petition for initial en banc review. Its main function will be to signal that we aren't opposed to this plan. We will do our best to draft it today, circulate it tomorrow, and be ready to file Monday.

One wrinkle: I don't think States on cases outside the Sixth Circuit can join our brief until the formal MDL docket is made. So if there's no docket on Monday, my inclination would be to say in the brief that we have secured the "support of The States of ____ all of whom are parties to other cases consolidated for decision before the panel."

Subject: RE: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc?

All,

Body

The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that we're reliability informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isn't going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside.

A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeye's petition.

I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts.

First: as I understand it (and I may be wrong), CA5's stay remains in place and it's up CA6 as to whether to lift it. I'd want to see whether CA6 lifted the stay before deciding whether to go en banc. If they leave it in place, there's 1) far less of a justification for going initially en banc in terms of reliance interests, and 2) basically no need. The feds play the strategic acceleration/slowdown game all the time; I don't think we need to accommodate their desire for haste if we keep the stay.

If the stay went away—I'd agree entirely that we shouldn't leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when we're assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route.

One more update. According to the attached scheduling order, all petitions for initial en banc review are due Wednesday. (No problem there, as we'll file tomorrow.) It also tells us to make all filings in the filer's case plus in the consolidated case. I don't take that to bar us from filing a consolidated petition—we'll just file in the Sixth Circuit case plus in the consolidated lead case, listing all other cases at the top. And the Sixth Circuit is usually pretty reasonable about these things. To the extent there is an issue, I would think we could resolve it by having each coalition filing a me-too letter.

Subject: OSHA - Petn for Initial En Banc Review

All,

Here is a proposed petition for initial en banc review. We have done our best to write it in a way that will appeal to those judges we most need to convince. We plan to file Monday at noon, so please send any joinder by Monday, November 22, at 10 AM Eastern.

Important: To be sure we do not miss you, please copy Josh Richardson in our office, who will keep a copy of all sign-ons. With all the emails I'm getting, I'm afraid I may miss one if you send it just to me.

Subject: RE: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc

All,

The court already ordered DOJ to respond to Buckeye's petition. The response is due on Tuesday.

Body

We now recommend seeking initial en banc review—it will function as an amicus brief supporting Buckeye's request. It would be easiest if we could simply respond to the en banc request. But I called the Sixth Circuit and I'm told it cannot do that.

The Sixth Circuit plans to draft a short petition for initial en banc review. Its main function will be to signal that we aren't opposed to this plan. We will do our best to draft it today, circulate it tomorrow, and be ready to file Monday.

One wrinkle: I don't think States on cases outside the Sixth Circuit can join our brief until the formal MDL docket is made. So if there's no docket on Monday, my inclination would be to say in the brief that we have secured the "support of The States of _____, all of whom are parties to other cases consolidated for decision before the panel."

Subject: RE: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc?

Body

All,

The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that we're reliably informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isn't going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside.

A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeye's petition.

Subject: Re: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc?

I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts.

First: as I understand it (and I may be wrong), CA5's stay remains in place and it's up CA6 as to whether to lift it. I'd want to see whether CA6 lifted the stay before deciding whether to go en banc. If they leave it in place, there's 1) far less of a justification for going initially en banc in terms of reliance interests, and 2) basically no need. The feds play the strategic acceleration/slowdown game all the time; I don't think we need to accommodate their desire for haste if we keep the stay.

If the stay went away—I'd agree entirely that we shouldn't leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when we're assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route.

One more update. According to the attached scheduling order, all petitions for initial en banc review are due Wednesday. (No problem there, as we'll file tomorrow.) It also tells us to make all filings in the filer's case plus in the consolidated case. I don't take that to bar us from filing a consolidated petition—we'll just file in the Sixth Circuit case plus in the consolidated lead case, listing all other cases at the top. And the Sixth Circuit is usually pretty reasonable about these things. To the extent there is an issue, I would think we could resolve it by having each coalition filing a me-too letter.

All,

Two updates:

1. So far, Florida, Alabama, and South Carolina have all signed on.
2. Based on (convincing) feedback we've received, we will cut this line: "So, if hearing this case en banc is the only way to decide it correctly, then the Court has no choice but to hear it en banc."

All,

The attached version of the petition for rehearing en banc corrects a nit and replaces an inadvertent omission. (Specifically, it now includes this sentence: "First, the Vaccine Mandate is a regulation of public health, plain and simple; its purpose and its effect is to regulate private healthcare decisions by making life harder for citizens who refuse to care for themselves in the federally approved manner.")

Here is a proposed petition for initial en banc review. We have done our best to write it in a way that will appeal to those judges we most need to convince. We plan to file Monday at noon, so please send any joinder by Monday, November 22, at 10 AM Eastern.

Important: To be sure we do not miss you, please copy Josh Richardson in our office, who will keep a copy of all sign-ons. With all the emails I'm getting, I'm afraid I may miss one if you send it just to me.

Subject: RE: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc

All,

The court already ordered DOJ to respond to Buckeye's petition. The response is due on Tuesday.

Body

We now recommend seeking initial en banc review—it will function as an amicus brief supporting Buckeye's request. It would be easiest if we could simply respond to the en banc request. But I called the Sixth Circuit and I'm told it cannot do that.

The Sixth Circuit plans to draft a short petition for initial en banc review. Its main function will be to signal that we aren't opposed to this plan. We will do our best to draft it today, circulate it tomorrow, and be ready to file Monday.

One wrinkle: I don't think States on cases outside the Sixth Circuit can join our brief until the formal MDL docket is made. So if there's no docket on Monday, my inclination would be to say in the brief that we have secured the "support of The States of _____, all of whom are parties to other cases consolidated for decision before the panel."

Subject: RE: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc?

Body

All,

The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that we're reliably informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isn't going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside.

A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeye's petition.

I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts.

If the stay went away—I'd agree entirely that we shouldn't leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when we're assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route.

Subject: OSHA - One More Update

One more update. According to the attached scheduling order, all petitions for initial en banc review are due Wednesday. (No problem there, as we'll file tomorrow.) It also tells us to make all filings in the filer's case plus in the consolidated case. I don't take that to bar us from filing a consolidated petition. We'll just file in the Sixth Circuit case plus in the consolidated lead case, listing all other cases at the top. And the Sixth Circuit is usually pretty reasonable about these things. To the extent there is an issue, I would think we could resolve it by having each coalition filing a me-too letter.

All,

The attached version of the petition for rehearing en banc corrects a nit and replaces an inadvertent omission. (Specifically, it now includes this sentence: ~~del~~First, the Vaccine Mandate is a regulation of public health, plain and simple; its purpose and its effect is to regulate private healthcare decisions by making life harder for citizens who refuse to care for themselves in the federally approved manner~~del~~.)

Subject: OSHA - Petn for Initial En Banc Review

All,

Here is a proposed petition for initial en banc review. We have done our best to write it in a way that will appeal to those judges we most need to convince. We plan to file Monday at noon, so please send any joinder by Monday, November 22, at 10 AM Eastern.

Important: To be sure we do not miss you, please copy Josh Richardson in our office, who will keep a copy of all sign-ons. With all the emails I'm getting, I'm afraid I may miss one if you send it just to me. Josh's email address is Joshua.Richardson@OhioAGO.gov.

Subject: RE: OSHA Challenges - C&B Request for Initial Hearing En Banc?

All,

The court already ordered DOI to respond to Buckeye's petition. The response is due on Tuesday.

We now recommend seeking initial en banc review. It will function as an amicus brief supporting Buckeye's request. It would be easiest if we could simply respond to the en banc request. But I called the Sixth Circuit and I think I told it cannot do that.

The Sixth Circuit plans to draft a short petition for initial en banc review. Its main function will be to signal that we aren't opposed to this plan. We will do our best to draft it today, circulate it tomorrow, and be ready to file Monday.

One wrinkle: I don't think States on cases outside the Sixth Circuit can join our brief until the formal MDL docket is made. So if there's no docket on Monday, my inclination would be to say in the brief that we have secured the support of the States of _____, all of whom are parties to other cases consolidated for decision before the panel.

All,

The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that we're reliably informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isn't going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside.

A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeye's petition.

Subject: Re: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc?

I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts.

First: as I understand it (and I may be wrong), CA5C's stay remains in place and it5C's up CA6 as to whether to lift it. it5C'd want to see whether CA6 lifted the stay before deciding whether to go en banc. If they leave it in place, there5C's 1) far less of a justification for going initially en banc in terms of reliance interests, and 2) basically no need. The feds play the strategic acceleration/slowdown game all the time; I don5C't think we need to accommodate their desire for haste if we keep the stay.

If the stay went away5C't5C'd agree entirely that we should5C't leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when we5C't5C're assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route.

Hi all,

As you have all undoubtedly seen, the Sixth Circuit was chosen by lottery for all of our challenges to the OSHA mandate. Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw.

If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings.

We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. We are definitely not wedded to the concept, but thought it at least merited some discussion within our group.

As they say on Twitter, Happy Lottery Day! (I suspect we may have had a happier one than some others though.)

Sincerely,

Drew

Subject: OSHA - One More Update

One more update. According to the attached scheduling order, all petitions for initial en banc review are due Wednesday. (No problem there, as we'll file tomorrow.) It also tells us to make all filings in the filer's case plus in the consolidated case. I don't take that to bar us from filing a consolidated petition. We'll just file in the Sixth Circuit case plus in the consolidated lead case, listing all other cases at the top. And the Sixth Circuit is usually pretty reasonable about these things. To the extent there is an issue, I would think we could resolve it by having each coalition filing a me-too letter.

All,

The attached version of the petition for rehearing en banc corrects a nit and replaces an inadvertent omission. (Specifically, it now includes this sentence: ~~del~~First, the Vaccine Mandate is a regulation of public health, plain and simple; its purpose and its effect is to regulate private healthcare decisions by making life harder for citizens who refuse to care for themselves in the federally approved manner~~del~~)

Subject: OSHA - Petn for Initial En Banc Review

All,

Here is a proposed petition for initial en banc review. We have done our best to write it in a way that will appeal to those judges we most need to convince. We plan to file Monday at noon, so please send any joinder by Monday, November 22, at 10 AM Eastern.

Important: To be sure we do not miss you, please copy Josh Richardson in our office, who will keep a copy of all sign-ons. With all the emails I'm getting, I'm afraid I may miss one if you send it just to me. Josh's email address is joshua.richardson@OhioAGO.gov.

Subject: RE: OSHA Challenges - C&B Request for Initial Hearing En Banc?

All,

The court already ordered DOI to respond to Buckeye's petition. The response is due on Tuesday.

We now recommend seeking initial en banc review. It will function as an amicus brief supporting Buckeye's request. It would be easiest if we could simply respond to the en banc request. But I called the Sixth Circuit and I told it cannot do that.

The Sixth Circuit plans to draft a short petition for initial en banc review. Its main function will be to signal that we aren't opposed to this plan. We will do our best to draft it today, circulate it tomorrow, and be ready to file Monday.

One wrinkle: I don't think States on cases outside the Sixth Circuit can join our brief until the formal MDL docket is made. So if there's no docket on Monday, my inclination would be to say in the brief that we have secured the support of the States of _____, all of whom are parties to other cases consolidated for decision before the panel.

All,

The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that we aren't reliably informed the Buckeye institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isn't going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside.

A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeye's petition.

Subject: Re: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc?

I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts.

First: as I understand it (and I may be wrong), CA5C's stay remains in place and it5C's up CA6 as to whether to lift it. it5C'd want to see whether CA6 lifted the stay before deciding whether to go en banc. If they leave it in place, there5C's 1) far less of a justification for going initially en banc in terms of reliance interests, and 2) basically no need. The feds play the strategic acceleration/slowdown game all the time; I don5C't think we need to accommodate their desire for haste if we keep the stay.

If the stay went away it5C'd agree entirely that we should5C't leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when we5C're assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route.

Hi all,

As you have all undoubtedly seen, the Sixth Circuit was chosen by lottery for all of our challenges to the OSHA mandate. Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw.

If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings.

We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. We are definitely not wedded to the concept, but thought it at least merited some discussion within our group.

As they say on Twitter, Happy Lottery Day! (I suspect we may have had a happier one than some others though.)

Sincerely,

Drew

(The only changes from last version are non-substantive.) Our plan is to file tomorrow (Monday) at about noon, so please let us know by 10 AM Eastern if you would like to join or if you have any concerns. Two important notes: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. I tried to use the signature blocks that you all included on your petitions initiating challenges in the other States. Let me know if you have any concerns or are for some reason not listed. 2. Some news from the Sixth Circuit. On Friday evening, the Court told us not to file a reply in support of our stay motion. Here is the docket text: This is to advise that in light of the stay issued by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals relevant to this case, the reply to the response as ordered by letter of this Court dated November 7, 2021, need not be filed. I take this to mean that, as far as the CA6 is concerned, the CA3's stay isn't going away unless the federal government asks. And it hasn't yet, to my knowledge. Ben Flowers Ohio Solicitor General Office of Ohio Attorney General Dave Yost Office number: (614) 728-7511 Cell phone: (614) 736-4938 Benjamin.Flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov Confidentiality Notice: This message is intended for use only by the individual or entity to whom or which it is addressed and may contain sensitive data and information that is privileged, confidential and/or otherwise exempt from disclosure under applicable law. Subject: Hope For the Holidays Event

Hello everyone,

I am excited to announce that we will once again be participating in the Hope For the Holidays event this year for the Abused Adult Resource Center. We adopted 2 small families and the individuals within the family are located below. These lists are to give ideas of what you may purchase for them, if you wish, and you may purchase whatever you would like for them as well.

PLEASE NOTE: When purchasing toys for children please be aware that due to the fact that a weapon may have been used during a violent incident, we request that no toy guns or weapons be purchased.

Please make sure the items are new and are wrapped or in gift bags and PLEASE make sure the client ID number is clearly marked on each package. Each individual has a number and letter(s) to identify them.

We plan on dropping off the gifts around the 7th of December, so please have make your purchases accordingly.

In case you have not received it, here is Chioak™'s petition for an habeas consideration in the OSHA case. I think they are offering States only (not private petitioners) the chance to join or express support for this, by Monday.

Also, the Eighth Circuit entered its transfer order in our case a short time ago. Our panel was Judges Gruender, Kelly, and Kobes. Hopefully this means we will be docketed soon in the Sixth Circuit.

All-

Attached please find a working draft of the Reply brief in support of our stay motion, which is due today at 3:00 pm Central. Because the Circuit lottery may be as soon as tomorrow, I would like to file this earlier than 3:00 pm if possible, to give the Eighth Circuit maximum opportunity to consider our arguments if it plans to issue a decision in the next 24 hours. So please provide any thoughts or comments as promptly as possible. (I am sorry for the quick turnaround.) Also, the current draft is at about 3600 words, without introduction. The word limit is 2800 and DOJ has consented in advance to 3500. I would like to get this as close as possible to the actual word limit, because the Court does not like word-limit extensions, so if you think there are good areas to cut, please let us know.

Thanks a lot, John

All:

As you have probably seen, DOJ is asking for our consent to file an overlength 36xcombined486 response of about 7000 words to our motion to stay and the motion to stay in the consolidated private-party challenge (brought by Boyden Gray on behalf of Job Creators Network et al.). See attached email chain. I am not happy about this request because I think it is an obvious gambit to evade the 3200 word limitation for motion replies in FRAP 27. That said, I think it will be granted given the expedited briefing schedule, and the extra words will probably not make a big difference. I am considering telling DOJ that we will consent to this request if they will consent to a proportionate increase of words for our reply brief due Monday (i.e. from 2800 to 3500 words). Please let me know if anyone has thoughts.

Thanks, John

Thanks to all 46 I have entered all changes. I have also added the additional (bolded) language to leave open the prospect of arguing that we are protected by the Fifth Circuit's stay. We will file asap. Thanks, John

P.S. 46xOSHA Act46 is short for 46xOccupational Safety and Health Act,46 but since several of you tagged that, I have changed it.

On November 6, 2021, the Fifth Circuit, facing a parallel motion to stay the ETS filed by private employers on November 5, entered a temporary administrative stay and ordered expedited briefing on the stay motion, with OSHA's brief responding to the stay motion due on November 8, and Petitioners' reply due on November 9. See Order in No. 21-60845 (5th Cir. Nov. 6, 2021) (attached as Ex. A). Though the Fifth Circuit's order may be construed to have nationwide effect, it does not make an explicit statement on this point. See id. To avoid any confusion and to secure full protection of their rights, Petitioners respectfully request that this Court enter a similar order here. Because Respondents will already be responding to a similar stay motion in the Fifth Circuit today, requesting a response to Petitioners' stay motion here by tomorrow should impose no prejudice on them.

That makes sense to me as well. If DOJ has to respond in the Fifth Circuit by 5pm CST tomorrow, there is no reason why they could not file a response to our motion raising similar arguments by midnight Monday, or at least 5pm Tuesday.

They have had far longer to prepare for this than us (and access to the ETS rule itself), so I don't think they have much of a leg to stand on (particularly with the 15-day state plan deadline).

All- As you may have seen, the fifth Circuit granted a temporary stay and ordered expedited briefing on the Texas Policy Foundation's stay motion this afternoon. In light of that, I plan to prepare a motion for similarly expedited consideration of our stay motion, requesting a ruling in a week. I will cite the concerns of the state plan states that must now act within 15 days, among others. Please let me know if anyone has concerns about that approach. Thanks, John

All: Given the length of the ETS, which we are still digesting, we propose filing the PJR tomorrow morning at the opening of business, but target filing the stay motion on Monday. Based on our review so far, we plan to rework some of the arguments in the draft stay motion to address OSHA's points, and we'd rather take the extra business day to get it right. If you are still preparing declarations, please get them to us by COB tomorrow. (I think I have finalized declarations from Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Wyoming, Missouri, AAI, and Doolittle). Thanks, John

Looks like they put an unpublished version on the federal register with intent to publish tomorrow: <https://www.federalregister.gov/public-inspection/2021-23643/covid-19-vaccination-and-testing-emergency-temporary-standard> (federalregister.gov)

Probably the best course is to file the FR tomorrow morning, at the same time as the stay motion (which we will be able to update and finalize today) &? Does that sound like a good course of action to all?

John,

I thought we needed to wait to file until our petition until the ETS is actually published in the Federal Register. Today's Federal Register is already out and does not include the ETS, so tomorrow is the earliest it could be published. Am I mistaken about that?

The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to DORA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we don't have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Please let us know if you would like to join this coalition challenging the ETS, and if so, please send a signature block for your State or private employer. We intend to file the PJR as quickly as possible after the ETS is promulgated, so the sooner you could let us know, the better. Also, attached please find sample declarations for States and private employers that detail the adverse impact of the ETS on petitioners. If you pull together a similar declaration for your State (and feel free to expand on it if you have other injuries), that would be very helpful. In addition to these, "Iowa," could you please provide a declaration that explains your status as a 16-state-plan State? Thanks a lot, John Sauer This email message, including the attachments, is from the Missouri Attorney General's Office. I'm happy to help coordinate this process and help answer questions as best I can. The general instructions are here <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. First, Complete this form and oath. It requires someone already admitted to sign. 2. If you need someone admitted in the 6th to sign your form, fill out the rest of the form and email it to me. I will print, sign, and email it back to you. 3. Obtain a method of payment for the $238 fee (paid electronically or via check) 4. The best way to submit both the form and the fee is electronically via the CMECF system – which will allow you to simply attach the admission form as a pdf. 5. However, you must register for a Sixth Circuit CMECF account to pay fees and submit the form. (let me know if you're unsure how to do this) 6. The bar admission link is found under the "Utilities" tab within the Sixth Circuit's CMECF. 7. Alternatively, you can mail in your form and payment via mail mail. Please let me know if you have questions. Best, Brandon Brandon James Smith Assistant Solicitor General & Director of Policy and Federalism Office of the Tennessee Attorney General & Reporter P.O. The Sixth Circuit has asked me to file a statement saying I had permission from all the other States to file. I will plan to do that, even though I strongly believe it is unnecessary.

Two important notes: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. I tried to use the signature blocks that you all included on your petitions initiating challenges in the other States. Let me know if you have any concerns or are for some reason not listed. 2. Some news from the Sixth Circuit. On Friday evening, the Court told us not to file a reply in support of our stay motion. Here is the docket text: This is to advise that in light of the stay issued by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals relevant to this case, the reply to the response as ordered by letter of this Court dated November 7, 2021, need not be filed. I take this to mean that, as far as the CA6 is concerned, the CA5's stay isn't going away unless the federal government asks. And it hasn't yet, to my knowledge. Ben Flowers Ohio Solicitor General Office of Ohio Attorney General Dave Yost Office number: (614) 728-7511 Cell phone: (614) 736-4938 benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov Confidentiality Notice: This message is intended for use only by the individual or entity to whom or which it is addressed and may contain sensitive data and information that is privileged, confidential and/or otherwise exempt from disclosure under applicable law. I plan to reach out to the employer, but want to make sure I have my facts straight. From my perspective, there is currently no federal mandate, as the OSHA rule was stayed by the circuit court. In that event, the employer should follow state law, specifically HB 1511 as recently passed. So they should allow proof of antibodies, regular testing and philosophical/moral exemptions as an option instead of taking the vaccine. The Sixth Circuit has asked me to file a statement saying I had permission from all the other States to file. I will plan to do that, even though I strongly believe it is unnecessary.

(The only changes from last version are non-substantive.) Our plan is to file tomorrow (Monday) at about noon, so please let us know by 10 AM Eastern if you would like to join or if you have any concerns. Two important notes: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. I tried to use the signature blocks that you all included on your petitions initiating challenges in the other States. Let me know if you have any concerns or are for some reason not listed. 2. Some news from the Sixth Circuit. On Friday evening, the Court told us not to file a reply in support of our stay motion. Here is the docket text: This is to advise that in light of the stay issued by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals relevant to this case, the reply to the response as ordered by letter of this Court dated November 7, 2021, need not be filed. I take this to mean that, as far as the CA6 is concerned, the CA5's stay isn't going away unless the federal government asks. And it hasn't yet, to my knowledge. Ben Flowers Ohio Solicitor General Office of Ohio Attorney General Dave Yost Office number: (614) 728-7511 Cell phone: (614) 736-4938 benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov Confidentiality Notice: This message is intended for use only by the individual or entity to whom or which it is addressed and may contain sensitive data and information that is privileged, confidential and/or otherwise exempt from disclosure under applicable law. Two important notes: <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. I tried to use the signature blocks that you all included on your petitions initiating challenges in the other States. Let me know if you have any concerns or are for some reason not listed.2. Some news from the Sixth Circuit. On Friday evening, the Court told us not to file a reply in support of our stay motion. Here is the docket text: This is to advise that in light of the stay issued by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals relevant to this case, the reply to the response as ordered by letter of this Court dated November 7, 2021, need not be filed. I take this to mean that, as far as the CA6 is concerned, the CA5's stay isn't going away unless the federal government asks. And it hasn't yet, to my knowledge. Ben Flowers Ohio Solicitor General Office of Ohio Attorney General Dave Yost Office number: (614) 728-7511 Cell phone: (614) 736-4938 benjamin.flowers@ohiosolicitorgeneral.gov Confidentiality Notice: This message is intended for use only by the individual or entity to whom or which it is addressed and may contain sensitive data and information that is privileged, confidential and/or otherwise exempt from disclosure under applicable law. The Sixth Circuit has asked me to file a statement saying I had permission from all the other States to file. I will plan to do that, even though I strongly believe it is unnecessary.

Two important notes: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. I tried to use the signature blocks that you all included on your petitions initiating challenges in the other States. Let me know if you have any concerns or are for some reason not listed. 2. Some news from the Sixth Circuit. On Friday evening, the Court told us not to file a reply in support of our stay motion. Here is the docket text: This is to advise that in light of the stay issued by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals relevant to this case, the reply to the response as ordered by letter of this Court dated November 7, 2021, need not be filed. I take this to mean that, as far as the CA6 is concerned, the CA5's stay isn't going away unless the federal government asks. And it hasn't yet, to my knowledge. Ben Flowers Ohio Solicitor General Office of Ohio Attorney General Dave Yost Office number: (614) 728-7511 Cell phone: (614) 736-4938 benjamin.flowers@ohiosolicitorgeneral.gov Confidentiality Notice: This message is intended for use only by the individual or entity to whom or which it is addressed and may contain sensitive data and information that is privileged, confidential and/or otherwise exempt from disclosure under applicable law. Mary Kae will also need some of our time for discussing the Legacy bond opinion we are asking you to sign. I think we can get through everything in 30 minutes? Is that okay? Karlene |

Hello everyone,

I am excited to announce that we will once again be participating in the Hope For the Holidays event this year for the Abused Adult Resource Center. We adopted 2 small families and the individuals within the family are located below. These lists are to give ideas of what you may purchase for them, if you wish, and you may purchase whatever you would like for them as well.

PLEASE NOTE: When purchasing toys for children please be aware that due to the fact that a weapon may have been used during a violent incident, we request that no toy guns or weapons be purchased.

Please make sure the items are new and are wrapped or in gift bags and PLEASE make sure the client ID number is clearly marked on each package. Each individual has a number and letter(s) to identify them.

We plan on dropping off the gifts around the 7th of December, so please make your purchases accordingly. You can bring the gifts and place them under the reception area Christmas tree or you can keep them with you until we get closer to the drop off time. There is an envelope on the tree to place gift cards in should you choose to purchase those for any of the family members. This list will be printed out and in the 1st floor copy room so please remember to cross off anything you will be purchasing or have purchased off the list so we do not double up on presents.

Subject: OSHA - Stay-Stage Briefing - UPDATED

All,

Here is a revised version, which incorporates some changes from other States. Thanks to Georgia, South Carolina, and Texas for joining already.

At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, and without any consultation with Petitioners, OSHA filed its Motion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing. That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHA's request to dissolve the Fifth Circuit's stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29.

The Court should reject OSHA's motion in full, for at least five reasons.

First, this lightning-speed approach to these issues is unnecessary. The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid-December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate will go into full effect. COVID-19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard, 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61551 (Nov. 5, 2021). If OSHA is not content to wait a few weeks for a ruling on its motion to dissolve the stay, it can go to the Supreme Court now.
